

Marx's Mathematical Miracle and Answer

MR. MARX:

cause the sheriff turned over the key to the county judge, which the county judge denies.

It is the acceptance of the building that will cost us that $92,000, if you please, and that is what we are fighting. We will accept it when they say we will have to pay it but it is never going to say that, and that is why we include the $92,000.

I want to say to you in brief this: That when Murray attacks the county court as he did the other night in his editorial, on the ground that this county court was remiss in its duty in not asking for an injunction restraining Dougan from completing the court house, and that it was the county court's fault that it is built, he has misquoted the actual facts. In his own paper, if you will remember, he told you a couple of years ago about the injunctions that were issued against the county court. Let me refresh your memory. That was the injunction that was issued by Judge Calkins against the county court. The first thing it did after you put it in office on the platform that you wanted the Hot Springs court house building, the very first thing it did, was serve notice on Dougan to quit his operations on Block 35, wasn't it? Then the next move that our friends on the other side did was as follows:

"Now, therefore, in consideration thereof, and of the particular matter, etc. (Reads injunction) . . ."

Then he has the effrontery to come out before the public and blame Bunnell and Short for letting the Dougan building be erected. What buffoonery! What does he say that we are to swallow this? He knew this as well as you and I and yet he undertakes in his attacks to shift the blame for the attacks on Burrell Short and Bob Bunnell? Where does he get that from? What was Short and Bob Bunnell to do in the face of the injunction? Were they to violate it and go to jail for contempt of court?

All I am here for, my friends, is to ask this question. Having shown that this county court has efficiently conducted your business affairs for you as county officials; that they have established a tremendous surplus in the county treasury, since they went in office facing a deficit, and that they have reduced the tax levy, and that they have done everything to get your good roads that it was possible to do; that they have kept their promises in so far as they were permitted to keep them—that of constructing and finishing the Hot Springs court house, and if their hands hadn't been tied they would have had it up by this time. You elect them on that platform. Are you going to put them out for having tried to do it when you put them in to do it?

Mr. Chairman, I thank you.

ANSWER:

into roads, we will be that much ahead. The $92,000 can't be used until you know whether it is to be charged or credited and when Mr. Marx, or anyone else uses, that $92,000 as a charge against the county, he does so for the deliberate purpose of fooling the people, hoping by this misrepresentation to gain their support.

Judge Bunnell has accepted the keys to the Main street courthouse. He not only accepted them, but he has insured the building for $112,000. If that is not an acceptance of the building what is? Today the Main street courthouse has been accepted by county by reason of these two acts of the county court. That insurance was taken out last July and the insurance agents were asked not to file their policies and bills, until later. Why? Was it because the county court was afraid the people would know it? Is that taking the people into the confidence of the county court? Bring this right home to yourself, Mr. Voter: Suppose you had a partner in business who tried to double cross you this way, what would you think and what would you do?

Here is another piece of sharp practice upon the part of Mr. Marx. When he read that injunction to his hearers he knew he was misrepresenting the facts and that The Herald had told the truth. That injunction was secured when the Main street building was well on towards completion, not at the beginning. If the county court had gone into the circuit court and asked either for an injunction or a writ of ejectment, the Main street courthouse would never have been built. Mr. Marx knows this. The county court knows. Judge Hamilton says it when he states—in effect—Dougan did not have a legal contract. If he had no contract he had no business on county property. If he had no business there, it was the duty of the county to eject him and when the county court failed to do its plain duty, we are in; it is responsible for the construction of the Main street courthouse and all the twisted arguments of paid attorneys cannot get around this fact nor relieve Judge Bunnell and Commissioner Short of the responsibility.

All our legal friends from Merrill was there for was to fool the people. He would have succeeded had we not sent a stenographer to take down what he said. We are submitting it to a bigger audience than Mr. Marx will ever address. We want to be absolutely fair. We have no personal bias or spleen in this fight this time. We are only seeking to help stop a fight that has split this city and county for a decade and brought disgrace upon one of the best communities on earth. We want to see the fight stopped in a manner that will bring a constructive policy out of the ruins that have resulted from what has occurred during the past ten years. That is why we suggest the election of Chastain and Peterson, that through their election the Main street courthouse will be occupied, the Hot Springs building converted into a school and the money on hand and to be realized through the sale turned into good roads and aid in the development of the county. It is the same question, Mr. Voter: Do you want a million dollars for roads or do you want to put up more money for another courthouse?

REED, RICHIE, BOTH CONFIDENT

Both sides are confident of victory in the Reed-Ritchie ten round bout at Medford Thursday night, according to communications received from both camps by The Herald.

Wild Bill Reed wires today that he pulled into Medford yesterday and is in good trim for the fight. He predicts that he will swing a victorious mitt on the local champion before the tenth round.

"I am in wonderful shape," says Reed, "and after my victory here will meet Lee Anderson, who recently got a decision over Sam Langford."

Fragk Smith, manager of Earl Ritchie, writes that Ritchie will win. He has everything that makes a world's champion, declared Smith, youth, weight, quickness and boxing ability. After he wins from Reed, Smith asserts that he will challenge all comers and is willing to meet Jack Dempsey at ten days' notice.

Medford papers indicate big interest in the bout in that city and a big house is expected. Many Klamath Falls fans are expected to be at the ring-side, both fighters having a big following here.

SONORA TONE PERFECTION

Since being awarded the highest score for Tone in 1915 at the Panama-Pacific Exposition Sonora has again jumped in the lead by the invention of "The All-Wood Tone Arm," which is the final element of absolute Tone Perfection.

Among the other features of Sonora supremacy are motors that run forty-five minutes, twice as long as any other, a tone volume control absolutely unique for real results, and a patent bulge curve cabinet construction similar to Baby and Concert Grand Pianos.

Sonora does not make a Disc Record in addition to their Phonograph, contending that companies manufacturing both do fall short of the ideal—a phonograph that plays all records better than the machine for which they were made.

At all times the Earl Shepherd Co. will be pleased to give you an informal comparison recital with any other phonograph made. You may bring your own records.

Sonora Supremacy is best indicated by the fact that five times as many leading musicians and citizens of Klamath own Sonoras to one of any other make.

The Sonora is not the only good phonograph, but it is claimed by the manufacturers as "The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World."

The Telephone Situation

In the engineering of a telephone plant—switchboards, conduits, cables, pole lines and general mechanical equipment—we have always tried to anticipate the growth of a community and provide therefor by advance construction. This course has enabled us to more promptly comply with requirements for service with better construction and at an ultimate expense less than that involved in waiting to meet demands as they arise.

In the war period we were unable to maintain this reserve plant, as the very things we needed for telephone purposes were required and necessarily taken for government purposes. The demand for telephone service did not decrease and our reserve facilities were practically absorbed in meeting it.

As every business man knows, the problems of reconstruction following the war have been acute and prolonged to an entirely unexpected degree. Unusual conditions are prevalent throughout the entire manufacturing, mercantile and social world. The telephone industry has had to meet all the difficulties and handicaps of retarded production, distribution and transportation.

This advertisement is not meant to be one of apology, but one of explanation and even accomplishment. In the face of an unprecedented demand for telephone service in the last few months, hampered by the exhaustion of our reserve plant and difficulty in securing materials, we have added more telephones thus far this year in the State of Oregon than in any similar period of telephone history.

In the State of Oregon, in the eight months ending August 31, we have added 6863 telephones. In the eight months ending July 31, 1917—before the war we gained 2655 telephones.

In the State of Oregon we have approximately 2600 unfulfilled applications for telephone service. A similar situation exists all over the United States. We will continue to secure all the equipment possible, and the desires of the public will be met as soon as it is humanely possible to do so.

The Telephone Company regrets the inconvenience to prospective subscribers. It is as anxious to give service as the patron is to receive it. The Company is doing all in its power to remedy conditions and furnish service in accordance with normal standards.
