Letters From The People

R. A. EMMETT DEFENDS THE COUNTY COURT

To the Editor:

In your editorial reply to Judge Worden's letter to the people of Klamath county and attack on Judge Bunnell, I wish to come to their rescue as they are both out of the city. You state it was he (Worden) who as representative of the Klamath Development company made the offer of the site that has caused all the trouble. My Editor, I take issue with you on this point and maintain that it is not the case. At the time the Hot Spring site was offered Mr. Worden was in the employ of the railroad company and more than probable had no more to do with it than your self.

Judge Bunnell exhausted every legal privilege that the statutes accorded him in trying to prevent the construction of the Main street courthouse. Even issued an order directing the sheriff Geo. Humphrey to eject the contractor from the premises and the sheriff refused to perform the duty. Had the sheriff performed his duty in executing the order there is no doubt that the work could and would have been discontinued until such time as the matter could have been settled. There was no manner of compelling the sheriff to perform the duty except by mandamus proceedings and that would be so slow that a courthouse might have been built and rotted down before reaching a decision. You will remember Mr. Editor, that a citizen of Klamath county filed an application for a temporary restraining order against constructing a courthouse on Main street at the time the contract was let until the matter could be settled and the court is sitting on it yet. No doubt that the contractor would have abandoned the work upon the order of the county court had not the 36 members of the "Hog Combine" come forward with the $65,000.

Now Mr. Editor, we do hope that after your initiation into the mysteries of the "Hog Combine" you would not be so punctual in adopting their ways and that you would still retain your former reputation, which you built up at great expense and still handle the truth as carefully as you had formerly done.

It is the truth we want and nothing else will do.

The writer has always admired the pluck and courage of The Herald Editor, but when he, or anyone else chases phantoms or false gods, then the parting of the ways must come.

As you say, Klamath county needs and requires a business administration. But right here is where we part. The showing of the county finances develops the fact that no county in this state can equal Klamath county under its present administration, which is composed of competent men who should be elected on their record together with acquired experience. Now who are you making an effort to elect for these high offices? They are both grown men of mature age and I ask, in all candor, has either of them acquired any reputation whatever as business men?

The last prominence Mr. Chastain gained in the public eye was when he, in company C. E. DeLap and Marion Hanks, canvassed the county trying to persuade the voters to elect Mr. Hanks in office, whom the people were trying to recall for violating his solemn pledge and both of these office-seekers had personal knowledge of Hanks duplicity. They are both very neutral now about courthouse matters when they want votes. Don't you remember that Mr. Editor?—if you do, why don't you tell the truth which your subscribers expect and tell about it in your columns?

If we are not forgetful, only a few years ago this man Peterson made some very disparaging remarks to the students in the high school about the U. S. government and the paper, maybe you were editor and maybe not, chastised him very severely for it. Did you know that he once said that if he were a good party man he could steal the county blind? He seems to be a good party man now. He registered independent once. He registers a good party man now.

Did you know that his conversation sometimes smacks of socialism? Did he not say that he favored single-tax and did not his remarks at Mills addition the other night, when he said he would put dynamite under both courthouses, swing right close up to the real anarchist's idea of reforming society and your distorted apology of him in your paper would have made a cat laugh. Don't you think it would have been better to have broken the bottle than to have strained the cork screw the way you did?

It scarcely appears to be discourteous for people to point the finger of scorn at such office-seekers; neither to point the same finger at the daily paper who advocates their election. Now, Mr. Editor, only a few short years ago the "Hog Combine" was your deadly enemy and hated you as bad then as they do the Hot Springs courthouse now. Will you kindly tell the public just how you come to kiss and make up and just who or what brought about the reconciliation? Respectfully yours, R. A. EMMETT.

(What has been and will be printed in this paper should be sufficient to convince most anyone that we are governed solely by a desire to see the courthouse question settled in the manner that will be productive of the greatest good for the greatest number. This paper has sought to be absolutely fair; it has never denied either side space free of charge; it was placed at the disposal of Mr. Bunnell; it has sought out every vital point and placed it before its readers honestly and truthfully. We are sorry to say that this same statement cannot be made in behalf of some of the campaign speakers. Every statement The Herald has made and will make, it will stand by, for everyone will be true.—Ed note.)

LADIES DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR USE GRANDMA'S SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR REC'DE AND NOBODY WILL KNOW

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Several of the states penalize pauperism by taking away the voting privilege.
