SMALL FORTUNE FOR UNLOADING SOME BAGGAGE

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(By Mail)—The bearded baggageman on the platform of the Kazan railway station in Moscow demanded 100,000 rubles for unloading from a train the baggage of 15 British officers and The Associated Press correspondent when they arrived in Moscow in July after a journey from Siberia across Russia. It had taken 10 minutes for him and a dozen other men to do the work.

The British officers were prisoners. They had been members of the allied railway organization in Siberia under John F. Stevens, the American engineer, and had been captured by the Reds at the same time as Colonel Blunt and his party of American engineers at Nova-Nikolaevsk, Siberia, in November 1919. The Americans had been released and left Russia through Vladivostok, but the British officers were sent to Moscow.

"One hundred thousand rubles for unloading luggage!" exclaimed Major R. E. Vimey, R. E., ranking officer. "We can't pay it; we're prisoners; we haven't the money." And he appealed to his bolshevik guard.

"Who asks 100,000 rubles for unloading baggage?" shouted the bolshevik commissar in charge when informed of the situation. "Show me the man," he demanded. He was directed to the group of baggagemen.

"I'll pay you 100,000 rubles," he said sarcastically. "Yes, I'll pay you, seechass," using the Russian word indicating time, present or future, usually some indefinite hour in the distant future. "What are your names?" The names were given.

"And now you, Ivan Ivanvitch, and you, Peter and Nicholas and your companions," said the commissar when the names had been written, "you all are under arrest. You are servants of the state and you have no right to ask money for your work."

There were violent exclamations; frenzied waving of hands; tearful exclamations that the daily ration of black bread wouldn't keep a mouse alive. "Bread is 1000 rubles a pound," said one. "One hundred thousand rubles is 10 pounds of bread for each of us. Long ago, before the great war, 10 pounds of bread cost only half a ruble and what is that for handling a foreigner's baggage."

But the baggagemen went to jail for speculation; the British officers went to prison for counter-revolutionary activity in Siberia, and the American reporters went into house arrest for being in Russia without permission. Only the bolshevik commissar remained free.

JAPAN GRANTS SUBSIDY S. S. LINES

TOKIO Oct. 29.—The government bill for the granting of a state subsidy on steamer lines, introduced in the recent session of the Diet, has been approved. The lines to receive a subsidy include the new line to the eastern coast of South America, the new line to Java and Bangkok, with Singapore as the center of the route, the new lines between Shanghai and South China, and the extension line of the South American western coast service.

The steamer service to the eastern coast of South America which is at present maintained by both the Nippon Yusen Kaisha and Osaka Shosen Kaisha, is to be extended after next October under the subsidiary aid of the state, the service to be increased to ten voyages a year. This will be maintained with six steamers, each of about 6000 tons capacity.

The steamship service on the western coast of South America, run by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, is at present bi-monthly with three steamers each of 9000 tons capacity. The service is to be enlarged and made a monthly service with six steamers of the same capacity.

TEMPORARY BACHELORHOOD
 Lew Cody, the "he vamp and home wrecker" (in films) is considerably worried these days, boys. His address book has been lost, and Lew is offering a substantial reward for its return. Lew should not worry that the finder will appropriate it for his own use, cause past performances have the "fair sex" throwing rocks at the rest of us, after they meet up with Lew.
