

AT THE THEATERS

Desire Barriscale is given excellent support in "A Woman Who Understood," her Robertson-Cole Superior picture, which shows today at the Liberty theatre. Added to the vivid characterization of Miss Barriscale, who plays the part of a Greenwich Village sculptress, who marries a young musician, there is finished work on the part of Forrest

Stanley, as the husband. Dorothy Cummings, in the part of the "other woman" makes this disagreeable role appeal as far as artistic standards are concerned, while Thomas Holding, as her firm, sensible husband is strong and forceful.

If you were in love with a regular girl who could cook, sew, everything, and your stepfather was trying to force you to marry a social butterfly who sat on a stiff cushion and caressed a poodle, would you be meek and obey orders? You marry a girl you did not love to further social and political ambitions? Or would you stand your ground and fight for your happiness?

Jack Manners fought. He fought because he had fighting blood in him! His real father was a "regular fellow," as he often proudly boasted. He had lost his life helping a sick man through the Chilkoot Pass, in Alaska, Ah, but his father wasn't dead—and that's the story of "Smoldering Embers," the Pathé feature which presents Frank Keenan at the Liberty theatre tomorrow.

There is a double measure of entertainment in Harold Lloyd's newest comedy, "His Royal Highness," featured on the program at the Liberty tomorrow.

Society

Mrs. Robert Sloan was hostess at a dinner party last Sunday night, honoring her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Otterbein, who returned on the train that evening from an extended trip in the east. The dinner was given at her home on the corner of Delta and Pleasant avenues, which was prettily decorated in seasonable flowers. Covers were laid for 15. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hoagland, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Levi McDonald and daughter Joan, Miss Grace Hoagland, Misses Leda and Opal Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Sloan and son Junior.

Mrs. Sidney Abbott a recent bride, entertained at a delightful party Oct. 26 at her home on Fourth street. Mrs. Abbott's guests were the Misses Elizabeth Sullivan, Faye West, Helen Caldwell, Ivolene McLoughlin, Cecil McMahon, Faye Hogue, Mesdames James Watkins Jr., and Evelyn Scott.

Mrs. H. N. Moe was hostess at a small informal bridge party Thursday night for a number of friends. Present were: Mesdames E. B. Hall, Earl Whitlock, Estell Carrier, G. K. Krause, Fred Mills, Leslie Rogers, Fred Schallock and Miss Marie McMillan.

Two tables of bridge were enjoyed by a number of ladies, who were guests of Mrs. Henrietta Melhase, Wednesday afternoon. In the late afternoon tea was served by the hostess. Those present were: Mesdames A. M. Worden, Frank Ward, Kipp Van Riper, E. B. Hall, J. S. Elliott, Guy Manning and Mrs. Thomas Hampton.

Mrs. Clayton Cornish entertained the St. Anne's Sewing society at the home of Mrs. John Dreher last week. A very happy afternoon was passed by the 17 ladies present.

AN APPEAL to the Voters of Oregon

The Port of Portland Dock Commission Consolidation Bill on the state ballot should be defeated. While it no doubt affects the whole state in some degree, the enormous expense which it will create must be borne by the taxpayers of the Port of Portland, which contains 209 square miles, or less than one-quarter of one per cent of the area of the state. The Chamber of Commerce, the Taxpayers' League and other Portland organizations and many representative business men have joined hands to acquaint the voters of Oregon with the facts and to enlist their opposition to the measure.

The scheme of improvement proposed by the bill will cost $40,000,000. As a starter, $16,500,000 of bonds are authorized. In violation of the home rule provision of the Constitution of Oregon, the voters of the Port of Portland are denied the right to say how large a debt they are willing to assume. Nor are they given a voice in the selection of the commissioners who are to vote bonded debt upon them, levy taxes for them to pay and manage their business.

The electors of the territory within the Port of Portland are better qualified than anyone else to judge of the amount of bonded debt they should authorize or the taxes they should pay. Their liberality in assuming burdens of public improvement, not only for themselves, but for the state at large, will not be questioned by any one who will scan the record of the huge total of bonds they are now carrying, amounting, in round figures, to $34,000,000. It cannot be thought that the state will be the gainer by imposing upon its chief city the insupportable load of additional debt contemplated by the pending bill.

The sponsors of the Port of Portland bill have openly appealed to the electors of the state at large to vote for it on the ground that it will cost them nothing. This is log-rolling of the most dangerous type. If such methods are to prevail in behalf of direct legislation, no county, city, port or other municipal corporation in the state will be safe from having intolerable debts and taxes foisted upon it by indifferent voters from other parts of the state. Bills like this must be rejected by the voters if home rule is to retain its vital force. Home rule and such bills cannot survive together. One or the other must fall.

The voters of the Port of Portland are not asking to be relieved of their responsibility to create and maintain the necessary facilities for ocean commerce. They desire only that they be given a voice in the management of their affairs, and that, through the established processes of law, they be permitted to adopt a plan of port development which will not load millions of dollars of debt upon them.

Voters are Requested to VOTE 311 NO preparing articles for the big bazaar to be held the first of December. At the close of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Jean Perry was hostess last Monday night at a duck dinner for a number of friends. Present were Miss Grace Hoagland, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Perry, Stanley Hajicek, and Ray Trimble.

The Happy Hour Needle club was entertained by Mrs. Richardson at her home on South Riverside St., last Tuesday. The afternoon was spent with needle work and music and the close of the day refreshments were served.

A big party in celebration of Halloween was given at the home of the Misses Anna May and Jennie Johnston, in Hot Springs addition. About 25 invitations were sent out and all guests were requested to appear in costume. The evening was made jolly with games and enlivened by the cleverness of a real fortune teller, who read the palms of the guests as fluently as she would have scanned a book.

Plans are underway for a big Thanksgiving dinner to be given November 29, by the ladies of the Catholic church.

The democratic administration did nothing to buy the Cuban sugar crop. This neglect cost the American people a billion dollars. Aren't democratic administrations pretty expensive?
