

West Virginia Sure To Go Republican

MR. GEORGE POFFENBARGER

Republican women of West Virginia plan to do for their state what the women did for Maine—insure a sweeping Republican victory through the women's vote. Complete preparations are under way for a whirlwind finish to the campaign. A big share of the responsibility for the coming G. O. P. triumph rests upon Mrs. George Poffenbarger, of Charleston, West Va., member of the Republican national advisory committee.

the commission said the expenditure to carry out a program for the conservation of water for irrigation and domestic purposes undoubtedly would be as great.

California's paramount need is cheap power, says the commission, because the state has no coal supply and its oil is needed for other purposes.

Utilities today, the report continues, as a result of regulation are selling their product at a price nearer to the prices of prewar days than any other commodity, gas and electricity rates having advanced on an average not more than 40 per cent, against 100 to 500 per cent advances on other commodities.

NOTES FROM HIGH SCHOOL HOME ECONOMIC DEPARTMENT

On Thursday the girls of the home economic department had open house to all the girls in the high school. The mothers of the girls in the home economic department were invited for tea at 4 o'clock. The occasion was an exhibit of the work done by the department for the first six weeks of school. Tea was served by the domestic science classes to one hundred and twenty-five persons. The girls feel very much encouraged over the decided success of their venture.—Contributed.

WATER CHIEF CALIF. ASSET

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Water is California's most valuable crop, according to the annual report of the railroad commission of California to Governor W. D. Stephens, which says that the twofold development of water storage for irrigation and power purposes will bring about a period of enormous development in the state.

"California's streams and rivers, its rainfall and its snowfall must be made to serve and serve well," the governor was advised by the commission.

Reports have estimated that it will require between three quarters of a billion dollars to construct the necessary hydro-electric power plants to

TO OPEN PIANO STUDIO

Mrs. E. L. Norton arrived this week from San Diego, Calif., and will open a piano studio at 416 Pine street in Mrs. Estella's Mang's store. Mrs. Norton comes highly recommended in the musical line.

Kentucky's boxing board of control is not inclined to favor the pulling off of so-called championship fights in the Blue Grass state, but on the contrary has adopted a policy of encouraging frequent bouts at popular prices.

Tells of Trees That Will Thrive Here

Mountain ash, rock maple, weeping birch, American elm, cork bark elm and locusts will thrive well in Klamath climate, says Arthur Ruppel, salesman for the Salem Nursery company of Salem, Ore., who has been investigating local conditions for ten days.

Among the evergreens ash juniper, blue spruce, and Norway spruce will do well. As a windbreak along the county road in the irrigated section Lombardy poplars are advised.

La France Pink, Harrison Yellow, and Persian Yellow, Frau Karl Druschki, Dorothy Perkins, Empress of China are among the roses recommended by Mr. Ruppel.

Tulips, shasta daisies and gladiolas are other hardy flowers. Wistaria, virginia creeper and honeysuckle are suitable vines. Many varieties of roses will arrive in this country.

Owing to the shortness of his stay, Mr. Ruppel regrets that he did not see evergreen, but persons intending to plant trees or vines next spring may secure advice by addressing the Salem nursery company, referring to Mr. Ruppel in the letter.

NO DROP IN FURNITURE

To our Many Friends and Patrons: Who have been figuring that furniture prices will tumble with other commodities: Here is an extract from the "Pacific Furniture Trade."

A recent announcement to the trade by J. L. Young, president of the Retail Furniture Association of the United States, states: "Furniture will not join other commodities in the tumbling of prices for some time to come, and the descent to a lower level of prices will be gradual."

This followed the conference between the representatives of the National Associations of Manufacturers and Retailers, held at Grand Rapids on September 29th and 30th.

The fact that every piece of furniture turned out by the 800 factories having membership in the national organization of furniture manufacturers represents 80 per cent of labor determined the conference at Grand Rapids to make no effort at lowering of prices.

To do so would be to disrupt the wages of more than 1,000,000 men employed in the furniture-making craft and thus lead to a serious industrial disturbance.

Resolution Adopted

It was after considering the wage element and following an exhaustive investigation that a joint conference of the national manufacturers and the national retailers passed the following resolution:

Whereas, there has recently been established new and lower levels of prices on a number of commodities; and whereas, it has generally been reported that the costs of manufacturing furniture have been materially reduced; and whereas, the retail merchants, desirous of ascertaining facts, have requested the executive committee of the Retail Furniture Association of the United States to make a careful and thorough analysis of the conditions governing the cost of manufacturing furniture today and to insist upon a lower level of prices if conditions were found to warrant them; and whereas, this investigation has been made in a most extensive and thorough manner; and whereas, it has been determined that there can be no changes affecting the cost of furniture generally that would indicate that any material reduction could take place in the immediate future without affecting seriously the wage and steady employment of the men employed in the furniture factories; therefore be it

Resolved by the furniture manufacturers in national council assembled, that the details of the findings of this investigation be conveyed to all branches of the industry and to the public generally; and be it further

Resolved, that the secretary be instructed to keep the members of this council informed of any changes in market conditions that affect the cost of manufacture, and furthermore, that we deem it desirable and to the best interest of the furniture industry, as well as the American home, that concerted effort be exercised by the manufacturer to reduce manufacturing costs other than that of labor, and to reflect these reductions in the finished product as soon as possible; and be it further

Resolved, that to our best knowledge and belief no general reductions in the price of furniture can possibly take place at this time, and that the decline would be extremely gradual and can only come with parallel reduction in the manufacturing cost."

I have had a streak of yellow up my back as wide as the Panama canal. Consequently I have not left one avenue open that would give me information and have more than one letter from some of the biggest men in the game, telling me why there could not be a reduction at this time.
