

FORMER KING IS AGAINST RESTORATION

LISBON, Oct. 17.—(By Mail)—Portuguese monarchists have been notified that the former King Manuel of Portugal, who is now in England is opposed, at present to any steps toward restoration of the monarchy in this country. This is made public in a letter to the Young Conservative Monarchists issued by Councillor Ayres d'Ornelas, who is official representative here of the exiled king. The letter was written in a hospital where the royalists statesman is recovering from an operation under surveillance until he can be returned to prison where he has been for nearly two years since the last monarchist uprising.

The councillor says that he believes former King Manuel regards the economic distress now prevalent in Portugal "to forbid all genuine Portuguese from taking part in any kind of revolutionary movement." The councillor advises the young monarchists, instead, to support social order which he says is now attacked in so many ways. He adds: "We must maintain our national integrity and afterward see to the political form of government under which it is to live." In the meantime he suggests that the monarchists take legal steps to organize their forces.

This letter was evidently written in answer to questions addressed to Councillor d'Ornelas as the royalist leader in Portugal because a group of monarchists who have abandoned their allegiance to the former King Manuel are undertaking to select as pretender to the throne a young scion of another branch of the house of Braganza. This group sent a delegation to Duke Michel de Braganza, head of the Austrian branch of the family, asking permission to name his youngest son, Prince Nuno Duarte, as heir to the throne of Portugal if a monarchy should be restored.

Prince Nuno Duarte is only 13 years old. The choice fell upon him because Prince Miguel, the eldest son of Duke Michel is held to be debarred from royal rights because he married Anita Stewart, an American woman, and because the duke's second son was killed in the war while fighting with the Austrian army.

Owing to the youth of Prince Nuno this monarchist group proposes to name his aunt, the Princess Aldegundes de Braganza Bourbon, Countess de Bardi, widow of Prince Henry de Bourbon de Parma, as regent until he shall become of age.

The group of monarchists undertaking these steps call themselves the Integralista party. The newspaper Seculo says in an interview with a member of that party that it is probable the old royalist party called the Miguelistas will join forces with this new party against the followers of the former King Manuel.

American Swimmers Eat Frenchman Out of House and Home

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(By Mail)—"Duke" Kahanamoku, Keoloha and Norman Ross, Hawaiian and American swimmers not only smashed French swimming records during their recent visit to Paris, but established marks in another branch of sport that will stand for all times, according to the manager of the hotel at which they stopped. He is willing to hand them the eating championship of the world.

"Mon Dieu, they command ze bifteck with pommes frites, three 'of them," said the hotel man. The waiter produced what is generally thought at the hotel as sufficient for three persons but Norman Ross is alleged to have confiscated the whole platter while both Kahanamoku and Keoloha were inquiring where their own steak was. All the gesticulation eloquence of the headwaiter failed to convince the trio that the steak was meant for three. Vegetables, ham and eggs, cheese, fruit desserts followed in turn while the manager moaned.

"Why they drink beer with all their meals," said the headwaiter, horrified at the heresy of not drinking wine for dinner. "And right in the midst of their meal they absorb a huge bowl of sweet chocolate."

When informed that the men were champion swimmers of the world, regular sea-lions, the headwaiter said:

"Sea-lions, not much, they are meat-eating tigers."

JEW'S FLEEING FROM POLAND

GRAUDENZ, Poland, Oct. 18.—(By Mail.)—An exodus of Jews from Poland, which has been steadily increasing for many weeks, has reached such proportion that Polish army officers say it is certain that more than 250,000 soon will have left. Most of them are bound for America.

The Poles, who are frankly and bitterly hostile toward the Jew, make no objection to their departure, but they criticize what they assert is the attitude of the joint distribution committee of America, which has many motor trucks and large supplies throughout Poland. When a number of trucks and automobiles of this committee arrived here the military authorities refused to permit them to proceed or move about in this area, saying accusations had been made that these trucks were carrying contraband over the German border under the protection of the American flag and that there was evidence the committee had recruited Jews who were liable for military service to leave Poland. Proof of these accusations was requested by the correspondent but it was not furnished.

The employe of the joint distribution committee in charge of the detachment of trucks here appealed to American army officers in Graudenz to use their influence to have the trucks released but the officers declined to interfere.

A French officer attached to the French military commission here said his government had adopted a policy of expediting the departure from France of the large number of Jews going to America and that while many of them would be con-

POLISH WOMAN SOLDIER KNOWS OF HARDSHIPS

WARSAW, Oct. 12.—(By Mail)—A Polish woman soldier who took part in driving back the bolsheviks from Warsaw writing to a Polish newspaper, says she went 10 days without taking off her clothes and that frequently the members of her detachment went five and six days without having opportunity to take down their hair. During one march, in keeping pace with the retreating red forces, the women were on the go 14 hours, 13 of which were without food or water.

The letter says: "At 11 o'clock at night we were ordered to be in readiness. Our detachment, all women, at this time, had been ordered out for patrol duty. Our pack consisted of a coat, rifle, ammunition and other articles, in all weighing 60 pounds. After four hours of marching and when I felt that I couldn't go a step further we received orders to return to our former post, several miles away. I scarcely remember how I reached our destination, I was so tired. I dropped onto a pile of straw and slept for an hour."

"When I was awakened I was informed that my detachment had gone away without me, to take part in a movement to surround a force of bolsheviks hidden in a clump of woods. After six miles of good roadway, I encountered sand which made walking so difficult that my feet pained me at every step. I was covered with dust, and hadn't had a drink of water for hours. After walking 15 miles I reached my comrades who were resting under trees, in the shade from a hot sun. A peasant boy brought a bucket of plums, but we privates only got a look at them, the plums all went to the officers, who were women too. And then the march started again, through a forest."

"Now and then, as we advanced, I saw some of the women faint, and I heard others crying 'mercy' and I thought I heard curses which must have come from the men on our right. This march has continued 14 hours. For 13 hours we had neither food nor water. When we reached a series of trenches, we were promised something hot to eat. But the food never came, and then the fighting began. Oh, how I longed for a drink—longed for sleep, away from the roar of battle. But about everything there was a feeling of satisfaction—a feeling of undreamed of happiness—despite the suffering from hunger, from lack of water and the misery due to cold at night and heat during the day, when I thought and was thrilled as we fought that I, a woman, was a soldier of Poland."

If the Wood Dealer Sold Service

We do not sell current; we sell service. That sounds odd doesn't it?

Well, suppose the wood dealer sold service instead of wood, he would tend to your furnace and your range, take away the ashes and clean the flues. You would buy so much heat.

Now you buy so much light, although you pay according to the current you consume. But the service is performed for you by this company at the substations and power plants.

That is what we want to give you—efficient service. It is the aim of this company to have none but satisfied customers. No matter what it is, if you have a grievance, or are dissatisfied about your bill or do not understand our rates, please come in and see us or write us about it.

If you have any suggestions to make, we will gladly avail ourselves of them as our aim is constantly to improve our service to you as fast as the development of science and human ability permit.
