Society

Mrs. John Martin was hostess at a party, Thursday night for the ladies whose husbands were attending roll call at the Elks lodge. It is reported to have been one of the jolliest and most original of this week's social events. The table was a fairy bower with its baskets of Cecil Brunner roses relieved with great bows of pink mulline. The table was loaded with many and various tasty things to eat. Mrs. Watkins won the prize of honor and Mrs. Jester the consolation gift.

Those present were: Mesdames Glenn Jester, Byron Hardenbrook, John Enders, James Watkins, Jr., Tom Watters, R. E. Deweese, Hardin Carter, Roy Durbin, Jack Slater, Hausen and Miss Verda Cazad.

Miss Florence Bradley's birthday was the inspiration of a surprise party given in her honor by Mrs. Merle Houston. The evening was spent in dancing, singing and playing games. Those present were: Mrs. Everett Hardenbrook, Misses Ruby Smith, Helen Turner, Ruth Linsey, Stella Turner and Esther Calkins.

Sunday Mrs. Fred Houston entertained at a dinner in honor of her mother, Mrs. Mary Nelson, who was 65 years old that day. Covers were laid for 14, including children and friends of Mrs. Nelson, and the table was beautiful with white and lavender chrysanthemums. Mrs. Nelson received many gifts.

The week before Mrs. J. E. Bratton took her departure for California, was a busy one socially for her and her numerous friends in Klamath Falls. She was a guest at teas, luncheons and dinners. Among those who entertained for her were Mr. and Mrs. L. Jacobs, who had Mr. and Mrs. Bratton and Mrs. Bratton's sons, Don and Dale Soule at dinner Friday. Saturday evening the Art Needle Work club to which Mrs. Bratton belongs, entertained their husbands and Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Soule at the home of Mrs. S. E. Martin. Bishop Paddock was also a guest at this time. Mrs. Bradford was a delightful hostess the first of the week at a luncheon honoring the departing one.

BAD HOME LIFE RESPONSIBLE FOR UNREST

TOKIO, Oct. 25.—(By Mail)—Failure of home life and not the failure of the church was held to be responsible for the "social unrest, the sin and crime and shame that abounds on every hand," by the Rev. W. E. Biederwolf, D. D., of Chicago in an address before the World's Sunday school congress here tonight. The speaker charged that "25 per cent of the ministers of America do not themselves maintain family worship in their own homes."

"A wise teacher of ancient times said: 'Give me a single domestic grace and I will turn it into a hundred public virtues,'" declared Dr. Biederwolf, "and I wonder, if we were to attempt to write the story of the deplorable legacy to which we have fallen heir if it would not be to tell the history of fallen altars and desecrated shrines and, to no little extent, of an apostate clergy. A missionary who had been absent from America for 25 years, said when he came back on a furlough: 'When I went away almost every Christian home had its family altar; now I find it is the exception and not the rule.'

The causes for the decadence of family worship were set forth by the speaker as follows:

"1.—The quickening of a man's natural tendency to skepticism, so largely induced in this day by subtle and sometimes open attack on the fundamentals of his faith in press, in university and unfrequently in pulpit. The first point at which spiritual decay manifests is invariably in the neglect of family worship. If indeed it even so much as held a place in the life of the home.

"2.—The nervous, feverish rush of modern life as evidenced by the inordinate absorption in material interests. Modern life is a dash through a crowd. A man hardly has time to stop and tie his shoe string. It is a race to keep pace with steam and electricity.

"3.—The disruption of the family union." The latter was caused said Dr. Biederwolf, "first, by the prevailing method of education which practically removes boys and girls from immediate and continuous parental influence in spiritual things for a period running between the ages of seven and 21 and second, by the excessive pursuit of pleasure.

"Legitimate as this desire is, when all one's pleasures are found outside the home circle the family life from the standpoint just now under consideration must consequently suffer," he concluded.

Other speakers at the congress were the Rev. John T. Faria, D. D., and religious educational agencies and the Rev. Rufus W. Miller, D. D., of Philadelphia who spoke on the community as a social center and responsibility in guiding the religious education of youth.

About Other People-- and About You!

There are two kinds of news in the paper. Part of the news is about the affairs of other people; their sayings, doings and goings to do; things that have happened—may happen—didn't happen.

But there's also a lot of news in this paper—if you know where to look for it—about your affairs.

That's the part of the news you'll find in the advertisements. There's valuable news or will want; perhaps about things you have that others want.

Every advertisement carries a message to someone.

Many advertisements carry messages of interest or value to you.

You can't afford to miss the advertisements because so many of them are news relating directly to you or to your affairs.
