POOR MONEY IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Nov. 1. (By Mail)—Americans in Cuba have joined Cuban bankers and business men in making fresh complaint of the worn-out money in circulation here. Except silver, the only currency in use is American. It has been changing hands so often that it is tattered almost beyond the point of recognition, and health experts have declared that much of it is a public menace.

Bills that once were green now are brown and yellow. The edges are frayed and the best small bills obtainable even from banks is so frightfully filthy that if found in the states would be quickly called in and destroyed.

While the money in Havana is disreputable, it is fine compared with much in general circulation in the provinces. Physicians have protested on the ground that it spreads skin diseases, and they have advised patients to demand silver, even if a truck is needed to cart it around.

The story is told here of a traveling man from Georgia, who on a recent trip to the island brought 1000 one dollar bills, which he sold to the natives at $2 each. Many natives, however, refused to accept them on the ground that they were counterfeit. In some shops in Havana new American money is looked on with suspicion and not infrequently large, new bills are taken first to a bank to find if they are genuine.

Klamath Physicians Get Recognition

The physicians of Klamath county as well as all the other physicians of Oregon are receiving recognition for the work they have been doing for the Oregon state survey of mental defects, delinquency and dependency which the University of Oregon is conducting under the direction of the United States of the American medical association under date of November 13th which gives an outline of the work that the physicians of Oregon have as a professional group been doing in assisting the university to collect facts and figures relating to mental defects, delinquency and dependency. This survey was the first state-wide citizen cooperative movement along these lines in the history of the world and is receiving national recognition through notices in various publications.

The recent article in the Journal of the American medical association carries an illustration of the record cards used by the survey, which are unique inasmuch as on them may be recorded any possible combination of physical symptoms with or without mental defect, delinquency or dependency. The physicians of Oregon and all other citizens who cooperated with them may feel a real sense of satisfaction in having assisted the University of Oregon in carrying forward a very important piece of research, all of which being done by citizen cooperation did not require the expenditure of any special appropriations.

New Buildings Near Finish at Malin

MALIN, Nov. 19.—A new building being erected here by V. A. Rajnus will be rented to Plasil Ketner, owner of the Merrill meat market, who will open a general store and meat market as soon as Mr. Rajnus completes his work. Other new buildings are under construction or in prospect.

J. S. Steysel of Poe valley has bought two lots near the public school where he will erect a residence and make Malin his home. The residence of C. C. Jalo is almost completed and the family contemplate "moving in" Saturday.

(By Associated Press) PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 19.—A colorful pageant attends the presentation of a foreign diplomat to the king of Siam, according to a letter received here from G. W. P. Hunt, United States minister to Siam, who described his own presentation September 6, last. The American minister said he was one of 47 Americans in Bangkok, a city of 800,000. Of his presentation at the royal palace he wrote:

"We started across an immense paved court to the royal entrance. There was a fanfare of trumpets and two bodies of household troops stood at attention. The royal colors were displayed and with uncovered heads we passed on the stone staircase which for the occasion was laid with a heavy red plush carpeting. Along each side were stationed guards with ancient looking halberds.

"We were ushered into a large rotunda. Our hats were left on a table. Then we turned to the right, mounted a few more stairs and came into another long room with lofty windows along one side. Between the windows were niches in which stood knights in armor (without knights themselves, of course.) Along the other side of this long room or passage there was a row of beautiful marble pillars and beyond them a large room. At the end of the corridor stood nine chamberlains, rather great nobles, resplendent in rich dress and ablaze with orders on their breasts.

"Suddenly, folding doors opened as if by unseen hands and I walked into the presence of the only despotic monarch left in this world. And as if befitting the reception of an envoy from the greatest republic on earth, he was dressed very simply in a long frock coat.

"The Prince D. who is at the head of the foreign office, presented me and retired to the rear of the room while I read to the king, as etiquette requires, my brief speech and he replied in Siamese in like manner.

"When this ceremony was done, he smiled and we sat down and had our little talk, for the king, you should know, speaks perfect English. He is short of stature, like all Siamese, is quite plump, and impresses one as being a real chap."

New Kind of Life Boat in Holland

HOOK OF HOLLAND, Oct. 28. (By Mail)—An unusual type of lifeboat which operates by sucking water up from the ocean and blowing it back again, and so obtaining a speed of nine miles an hour, has been adopted by the life-saving crew which works in stormy waters along the Dutch coast here.

The boat has a hole in the bottom, through which the water is drawn by an intake pipe which leads to a powerful centrifugal pump operated backward into the sea through two outlet pipes opening at the bottom of the craft.

The boat is controlled by shutting off, either wholly or in part, one or the other of these outlet pipes. If one is shut off it goes to starboard, if the other, it goes to port. If both are shut off, and the water diverted harmlessly over the sides while the suction goes on at the intake, it is claimed the boat rests almost still in the stormiest of seas, the suction holding it firmly on the water.

The Dutch life savers have found that this craft keeps steadier than any boat propelled with oars or by screws. It is 58 feet long and has a capacity for from 40 to 100 passengers, depending upon the state of the sea. It has been in use for some time and has saved many lives.

Malin Flouring Co. Hard Put to Keep Pace With Orders

MALIN, Nov. 19.—A greatly increased demand has come for the products of the Malin flour mill which may make it necessary to install machinery of greater capacity if the company is to fill all its orders. Orders awaiting delivery now include a load of flour to be delivered at Bonanza and one at Beatty, each amounting to two and one half tons. The Hirvi Bakery company has an order in for 2500 pounds of flour. All of these are orders to be filled within a few days.

The Malin Milling company has bought 1000 sacks of barley from H. L. Martin of this section. Mr. Martin is delivering it at the mill.

Japanese Debate Expediency of War

(By Associated Press) TOKIO, Nov. 19.—Two thousand university students last night debated the question: "Shall Japan Fight America?" There was much vehement oratory, but the audience was in good humor. No vote was allowed, the audience apparently being equally divided on the expediency of war.

SUFFICIENT SIGNERS FOR IRRIGATION PETITION

As a result of the research work by members of the Montague chamber of commerce during the past few days it has been ascertained that 570 names have been secured to the petition for the formation of the Shasta Valley-Klamath Irrigation district. The signers are all duly qualified and form the necessary quota of vested property holders in the district. The petition will go before the supervisors at their next meeting, December 6.—Siskiyou News.

If the Wood Dealer Sold Service

We do not sell current; we sell service. That sounds odd doesn't it?

Well, suppose the wood dealer sold service instead of wood, he would tend to your furnace and your range, take away the ash and clean the flues. You would buy so much heat.

Now you buy so much light, although you pay according to the current you consume. But the service is performed for you by this company at the substations and power plants.

That is what we want to give you—efficient service. It is the aim of this company to have none but satisfied customers. No matter what it is, if you have a grievance, or are dissatisfied about your bill or do not understand our rates, please come in and see us or write us about it.

If you have any suggestions to make, we will gladly avail ourselves of them as our aim is constantly to improve our service to you as fast as the development of science and human ability permit.
