HARDING WAITING FOR A BITE!

Here is the first photograph from Point Isabel, Tex., showing President-elect Harding fishing. Although he hasn't caught a tarpon, Harding says he hooked one much larger than any that had been caught by Mrs. Harding and Senator Elkins. But the president-elect's catch got away from him.

GOLD OUTPUT CUT IN HALF LAST 5 YEARS

PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—Gold production in the state of Oregon has fallen from about $2,000,000 in 1915 to less than $1,000,000 in 1920. Moreover, the decrease in gold production in this state reflects the condition of the industry throughout the country, for the total gold output of the United States this year will be less than $50,000,000, as against $101,000,000 in 1915.

This alarming decrease in gold production is not due to any real depletion of the mineral wealth of the state or nation; but to the fact that every item going into the cost of gold mining—from the prospector's meager grubstake to the operation of the most modern reduction plants—has increased from 50 to 100 per cent in price, while the market value of gold has remained constant and its purchasing power has gradually decreased.

While the amount of gold produced in the country has been growing less, the amount of this precious metal consumed in the arts, crafts and industries, in the manufacture of jewelry and for all purposes other than coinage, now exceeds the total annual gold production of the United States. That is to say, while $58,000,000 worth of gold was produced in 1919, $80,000,000 worth was used in the arts and industries, so that $22,000,000 less of gold available for coinage remained at the end of the year than at its beginning.

As a remedy for the present precarious condition of the gold mining industry, the Oregon bureau of mines and geology is urging support of the McFadden bill introduced in the United States house of representatives last March and now pending. This bill provides for the levying of an excise tax of $10 an ounce on manufactured gold to provide a fund from which gold producers are to be paid a premium of $10 an ounce. After carefully considering the bill and the conditions that make its passage necessary, the commission of this bureau has declared the act sound, carefully drawn, and possible of successful administration without difficulty. It is held by the commission that enactment of this bill as a law will greatly stimulate gold production, and by adding to the supply of gold currency will permit a reduction in the amount of paper currency issued, tending away from unsound money in the direction of sound money.

The commissioners of the Oregon bureau of mines and geology are: W. B. Dennis, Carlton, chairman; Walter C. Fellows, Whitney; Robt. M. Betts, Cornucopia; F. A. Olmsted, Hood River; O. S. Blanchard, Grants Pass; W. J. Kerr, president of the Oregon agricultural college, and P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon.

OREGON BREVITIES

LA GRANDE, Or., Nov. 23.—One of the very oldest of Oregon's citizens, Mrs. Lucretia Janne McKennon, died Friday morning at 2 o'clock at the age of 98 years. Mrs. McKennon had often said that she really believed that she was 100 years of age, but no record could be found to verify her claim and as near as known, she was born in Tennessee on June 26, 1822.

SALEM, Nov. 24.—Seven hundred and eighty-nine persons are suffering from typhoid fever in this little city of less than 10,000 people. Four emergency hospitals established within the last few weeks were filled with patients and the situation, according to R. A. Lamont, chairman of the citizens' relief committee, was desperate.

PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—Frank admission that Jim Marshall, a known bootlegger and stool pigeon, had been permitted to carry 12 quarts of liquor from the police stations as his reward for giving information leading to the arrest of two bootleggers and the possible breaking up of a gang of bootleggers disposing of liquor smuggled into Portland from Canada was made on the witness stand by George W. Russell and Frank W. Huntington, patrolmen.

PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—More than 120 purebred beef and dairy cattle changed hands at the Holstein and Hereford sales, which featured the Pacific International livestock exposition Friday, but, as on two previous days, bidders were conservative. Twice during the day the $2000 sales record established in the Shorthorn sale Thursday was tied by Holstein cows, but every effort to raise the mark another dollar failed.

ASTORIA, Or., Nov. 23.—Dr. Owens-Adair of Clatsop county, author of Oregon's sterilization law relating to defectives enacted in 1917 after having once been vetoed and referred to the people, said that at the forthcoming session of the legislature he would introduce a bill to amend the marriage laws in Oregon so as to make it obligatory on women as well as men to pass satisfactory medical examination before obtaining licenses to wed. The existing law applies to men only.

SALEM, Nov. 23.—Crossing accident on the lines of the Southern Pacific company during the period January 1, 1918, to September 1, 1920, resulted in a toll of 126 lives, 538 injured and 1616 automobiles damaged or completely destroyed, according to a report filed with the Oregon public service commission today by A. T. Mercer, superintendent of the railway corporation, with headquarters in Portland.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 23.—Twenty-five school children of Bend, Ore., and Redmond, Ore., who are not doing well in their school work, will be given physical and psychological tests by Miss Ruth Montgomery, assistant in the department of educational psychology. Miss Montgomery, who is an assistant of Dr. B. W. De Busk, professor of educational psychology, will spend Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Bend and Redmond conducting the psychological clinic.

BURNS, Ore., Nov. 23.—At a meeting of the Burns cattle and horse association held in Burns last week officers were elected for the year. The association was organized about a month ago with temporary officers to improve stock and obtain co-operation.

Going home to turkey and trimmin's

THANKSGIVING DAY last year.

I ATE my chow.

ALONE in the big town.

AND THE TURKEY was all.

NEATLY VARNISHED and had.

NICE LITTLE paper pants,

ON BOTH its legs.

AND TASTED strongly.

LIKE NOTHING at all,

BUT THIS year.

MAN ALIVE, I'm going home,

AND THERE will be.

A COUNTRY turkey.

DONE TO a turn.

BROWN AND savory.

CRISP AND flaky.

SENDING UP little clouds,

OF TANTALIZING steam.

MAKING NOSTRILS wrinkle.

AND PALATES quiver,

OH BOY, real turkey.

AND THEN afterwards,

ABLE TO breathe,

BUT NOT to bend.

I'LL REACH for a smoke,

THAT'S THE real turkey, too.

COSTLY AROMATIC Turkish.

BLENDED WITH the best.

OF MELLOW Domestic leaf.

AND ONCE again—oh boy,

CAN'T YOU just hear me,

INFORMING THE world,

"THEY SATISFY."

IT'S real Turkish tobacco that goes into Chesterfields—really grown in Turkey and bought on the ground by our own buyers. To blend it with best Domestic, in the exclusive Chesterfield way—leave that to us! "They Satisfy!" We'll leave that to you.
