

OREGON BREVITIES

ROSEBURG, Dec. 2.—Calmly folding his arms across his breast, kneeling down and stretching his neck across the railroad track, was the method chosen by Knute J. Jensen, presumably a resident of Seattle, for ending his life Friday morning at a point about a mile north of Glendale. His head was severed as completely as if the job had been done by an axe and there was not a bruise on the head or the body.

BEND, Dec. 2.—Wearing on "Oregon boot," A. J. Weston, convicted murderer of Robert H. Krug of Sisters, boarded the Oregon trunk train here Friday commencing his trip to Salem, where he is sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary.

BEND, Dec. 2.—All ex-service men, who enlisted from Oregon, or who were residents of Oregon, but reported elsewhere for the convenience of the government, are informed of the state aid for educational purposes, given by Oregon to her ex-service men, in a statement issued by the home service section of the Red Cross.

PORTLAND, Dec. 2.—Inclusion of courses designed to teach children the "rules of the road" will be urged upon school officials throughout the United States shortly by the textbook committee of the highway transport education committee of the bureau of education. While it is yet too early to say definitely what the recommendations for these courses will contain, some indication can be obtained from studies which are already underway in the Detroit public schools, as well as in some others.

BEND, Dec. 2.—Hard on the heels of the heaviest rain precipitation which has visited Bend this fall, snow started Friday afternoon, and continued at intervals through the night. A depth of two inches was reached, with a water equivalent of .14 of an inch.

THE DALLES, Or., Dec. 2.—The Dalles is the "cleanest" city, from the automobile and traffic viewpoint, of any city over 500 in population in the state, according to Jay Saltzman, state inspector in the motor vehicle department, who has just completed an inspection of the police work in this city. Saltzman stated that he was especially pleased with the manner in which both state and local traffic laws are being enforced.

WEATHER RECORD

Hereafter The Herald will publish the mean and maximum temperatures and precipitation record as taken by the U. S. Reclamation service station. Publication will cover the day previous to the paper's issue, up to 5 o'clock of the day.

Stage Service To Pelican Bay Mill

The Reckard Rent Service, to meet the demands of holiday shoppers living at Pelican Bay mill, announces the inauguration of a daily stage service between the office of the mill company and the Rex Cafe, at the corner of Seventh and Main streets. Whether this service shall continue beyond the holidays depends upon two things—patronage and the roads. The latter should not stand in the way of affording the people who reside in the vicinity of the mill an inexpensive means of coming to the city to shop.

Already there is a good highway between the city and the mill, with the exception of a short stretch being the greatest boy picture ever ed roads. This lies between the city limits and the Shippington highway. The city has no money to do the work, but it is believed that the business men would subscribe enough to make this place passable all winter. Ten dollars would repair the two bad holes that are now causing so much annoyance and $50 should fix it up for the winter.

This is a work that the chamber of commerce could profitably undertake, as it is directly connected with the development of the commercial supremacy of the city.

The stage schedule is published elsewhere.
