

15 MILLIONS SEEK ENTRY TO AMERICA

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—America should have some say as to who should be allowed to emigrate to this country and where the home-seekers should go when they get here, in the opinion of Commissioner of Immigration Frederick A. Wallis. He said in a survey of the immigration situation made public here today that an army of 15,000,000 foreigners are clamoring to migrate to this country and the United States has no means available to stop those not wanted.

Distribution of immigrants to farms and mines where laborers are greatly needed, instead of permitting them to clog up already congested cities where no more inhabitants are wanted, would help to avert the menace created by the unparalleled influx of foreigners through America's front door, according to the commissioner.

More than 1,000,000 of these aliens—"many of them refugees in the strictest sense of the term"—will enter the United States during the current fiscal year, the commissioner said. Some of them, he added, will find their way to farms where they are greatly needed, but the great majority will flock to cities, which is particularly undesirable in this period of readjustment because of food and housing conditions.

Municipal officials in several cities have importuned the immigration officials to stop sending immigrants to their cities, and to induce them to settle on farms, the commissioner declared.

"There are thousands of people out of work in those cities today," he said. "These added thousands of newcomers only make conditions worse. They cannot find work. They are not producers, and they remain in the cities eating up food that is scarce enough at present."

"I have been told by the vice-president of one of our greatest western railroads that in the Dakotas next year the harvest will be less than 60 per cent of what it was this year because they cannot get sufficient labor on the farms. Proper distribution of the immigrants, if it could be brought about by legislation, would circumvent this threatening situation."

"It would send thousands to the farms, thus dealing one of the most effective blows at the high cost of living. It seems to me that much could be done in encouraging these people to take up small bits of ground and work them. I think the government ought to help out."

Commissioner Wallis suggested the establishment of a preferential selective method of admitting immigrants from the 15,000,000 who, he believes, are trying to come to America.

"But," he added, "preferential admission cannot be instituted without first amending the constitution. Numerous suggestions have been made for the handling of the coming millions and there are many bills before congress on the subject."

Of the present literacy test, he declared, "there never was a greater farce," and that it affords "no safety

MRS. STEVENS SAYS SHE HAD HER DOUBTS

AFTER TEN YEARS OF SUFFERING, LOS ANGELES WOMAN WAS BEGINNING TO THINK SHE WOULD NEVER RECOVER.

"The way Tanlac has restored my health is simply wonderful and I am glad of the opportunity to tell everybody about this grand medicine," said Mrs. C. F. Stevens, of 3920 South Harvard Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal.

"For at least ten years my stomach had troubled me and for several years my health had been poor. I suffered terribly from indigestion and even 'lightest' of foods would cause gas to form on my stomach, which at times would press up around my heart and cause such a shortness of breath I could hardly stand it. I became so weak and nervous that the least little noise would upset me so I couldn't get a good night's rest. I just had that tired, worn out feeling all the time, I lost interest in everything and for days at a time was unable to do my housework."

"I had tried so many different treatments and medicines, and had spent so much money without getting relief, that I had my doubts about ever finding anything to help me. I read about Tanlac in the papers and decided to try it myself. I am now feeling just a new woman. I started improving with the first few doses and now I can eat anything I want without even a sign of indigestion or trouble with my stomach. I sleep like a child every night and feel fine all the time. That worn out feeling has left me and I have been built up until my housework is now a pleasure. Tanlac has certainly been a blessing to me and I will always praise and recommend it to everyone."

to the country." Some of the 72 radicals confined on Ellis Island recently could read and write in several languages, he said, and could have passed any literacy test devised, but "they were destructive citizens and bad people for this country."

"We need tests that will determine whether a man or woman intends to be a real worker and a real law-abiding citizen. Many people who cannot possibly pass the literacy test will make the most substantial citizens."

"I believe we should have some say as to who is to be allowed to come here and where they should go. Perhaps we could have a reciprocal agreement with other nations to have our representatives on the other side of the ocean to determine who should emigrate. We do not want undesirable and I would rather send back a thousand good men than let one bad man come into the country."

"Our slogan is: 'when in doubt, deport.'"
