THE LIBERTY THEATRE

An item of significance regarding the Metro production of "The Belle of the Season," in which the charming Emmy Wehlen will be seen as the star at the Liberty theatre tonight, is the regrettable fact that Miss Wehlen's director, young S. Rankin Drew, son of the late Sydney Drew and nephew of John Drew, left this country upon the completion of the picture to join the aerial fighting forces in France.

Mr. Drew never will return, but

This picture is a new version and a new issue put out by The Famous Players Lasky Corporation, as they decided it was one of the best pictures they had ever released.

"The Belle of the Season," will serve as a fitting tribute to the finished art and skill of this noble young hero, who, in the spring of a successful career heeded the call of his country and gave his all.

"The Money-Changers," the all-star Benjamin B. Hampton-Pathe feature at the Liberty theatre Sunday is not a crook play or a drama of high finance, nor a Chinese play, but it is a study deftly combining all three in a powerful story of New York that takes in alike the glittering splendor of the richest city's highest society and the colorful, mysterious, drug-laden atmosphere of the Oriental underworld.

THE MONDALE THEATRE

Vaudeville, direct from the Pantages time, will be a feature at the Mondale theatre every Tuesday and Wednesday evening, according to Manager Ted White, who, also announces that the first of these 'snug' acts will be presented next Tuesday, December 21. Lewis & Lewis will furnish the entertainment, and they have the reputation of being jazz artists and singing and dancing spectalists far above the ordinary. The acts will serve to bring the big jump between San Francisco and Portland, with Crawford, operator par excellence, handling the pictures, these evenings at the Mondale should prove to be just the things that the wholesome-amusement loving public of city wants.

THE STAR THEATRE

The Famous Players Lasky corporation have made a new re-issue with an entirely new version of Jack London's famous story "The Sea Wolf" which will be shown at the Star theatre tonight only. This picture was to have been shown last night but did not arrive on account of train delays, so it will be shown tonight only, but two complete performances starting at 7:15 and 9 o'clock. Hobart Bosworth cannot be excelled as "The Sea Wolf" if you crave excitement, don't miss the "Sea Wolf."

Constance Talmadge
"Good References"

Constance Talmadge says that she would rather take part of a poor working girl than portray any other character, because at one time she expected to become a stenographer herself.

"I would have studied stenography had it not been for Norma's entrance into motion pictures," she said. "Then the picture bug hit me. I got into the habit of accompanying my sister to the studio and one day had a chance to earn $5 as an extra girl. I was very glad, as I believe in girls earning their own living. That is why I am so sympathetic towards the working girl, for I feel that I am one of them at heart."

Constance Talmadge is poorer from a standpoint of dollars and cents than ever before as the heroine in "Good References," her latest First National starring vehicle, which will be shown at the Star theatre Sunday.

As Mary Wayne, Connie finds herself in Journey's End, a boarding house where the dear old landlady, with a $4 bust, makes a wild clutch for board in advance and succeeds in reducing her fair young boarder's net capital of $5 to a lonesome pair of "iron-men."

Worse than that, she tries to get a job but all the boys behind the mahogany desks are stony-hearted about young ladies who want to be stenographers and who have no references.

How Mary Wayne breaks into a run of good luck that begins with her pal being taken sick, leaving a job open for someone to fill and giving Mary an opportunity to borrow a set of references, is cleverly portrayed by Miss Talmadge in her own whimsical and imitable way.

Theatre Barrels Overflow With Spuds, Apples

The free matinee for the kiddies given by the management of the Liberty theatre this morning was a huge success. Gaily decorated Christmas barrels labeled potatoes and apples were placed in front of the theatre and children were asked to bring either apples or potatoes or other supplies for the Red Cross and drop them in the barrels before going into the building, but this was not necessary because any child could see the show free of charge if he so desired.

At the close of the matinee there were two barrels of potatoes and a barrel and a half of apples as well as other miscellaneous things that can be used by the Red Cross to feed needy tots and their families on Christmas day.
