

ELKS' BOWLING SERIES STARTS

The delayed opening game of the Elks bowling series, scheduled to have been played last night, will be rolled tonight on the Elks alleys. The series is planned to last from six to eight weeks, the exact length to be determined by captains of the teams entered and announced later.

Eight teams of five men each are entered. Contests will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights of each week. M. P. Lavenik has charge of the arrangements.

Following are the team line-ups: Eight teams of five men each are Barbers—Swansen, captain, Ackley, Perillard, Lorenz Anderson. Druggists—Underwood, captain, Hayden, Miller, Hansen, Willard Smith.

Rex—Ambrose, captain, Noel, Wiley, Wilson, Sheets. Boxmakers—Mason, captain, Rogers, Daggett, Alnutt, Magee. Buicks—Hoagland, captain, Jester, Parker, Berry, Wright. Tailors—Bodge, captain, W. O. Smith, Weist, Olds, McMillen. Jewelers—Upp, captain, Bullock, Carter, Jefferson, Collins. Real estate—Waters, captain, Lavenik, Stone, Kuykendall, Royce.

FORUM MEETING

The weekly forum of the chamber of commerce will be held tomorrow at the usual luncheon hour at the Rex cafe, announces T. L. Stanley, secretary.

SKUNK FUR SUIT

Skunk fur embellishes this dust-colored wool velvet suit. The coat has a panel back that crosses the horizontal tucks, alternating rows of machine stitching and two fur bands that make up the lower part. The fronts fasten blindly, straight up to the throat, where the two ends of the collar, very high in back, meet underneath a banding of the fur.

Clever Cartoonist At the Liberty for Three Nights

E. S. Payne, cartoonist and illustrator will appear in person at the Liberty theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Mr. Payne is the creator of "Bill Spivens and His Mushhound, Steve" which has appeared in most of the large daily papers throughout the United States and Canada.

His work is unusual for speed and the wide variety of subjects, including local characters, nationally known men, humorous stunts, drawing blind folded and sketching two faces at the same time, using both hands.

Mr. Poole feels he has put one over in securing this added attraction as Mr. Payne has all he can do in his regular line, and prefers to work privately rather than publicly.

After several years as cartoonist on the Oregon Journal, Seattle Times, Butte Standard, and other papers Mr. Payne forsook newspaper work for the advertising field, and his work will appear shortly in The Herald in the form of original and unique advertising for local business men.

Manager Poole discovered that Mr. Payne has unusual ability along the line of lightning sketches and cartoons and prevailed upon him to appear and entertain Liberty patrons.

CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

The musical section of the Liberty club will give an entertainment Friday afternoon in the parlors of the Presbyterian church. A cordial invitation is issued to all ladies to attend.

'Additional Locals

J. I. Beard is slightly ill and is absent from his post at the Klamath State bank.

TO HELP FEED EUROPE'S STARVING

Every guest at this dinner held in New York by the European Relief Council for the benefit of starving women and children of Europe, paid $1000 for his plate. Shown here are Herbert Hoover, head of the council, and General Pershing. Between them is "the silent guest"—a high-chair and candle symbolizing the hungry European children.
