THE STAR

After being the village loafer for 20 years Old Hutch finds a buried money box containing $50,000 in $1000 bills. He knows he can't use the money without arousing suspicion unless he can attain a position in the community where the sight of a $1000 bill in his hands won't seem preposterous.

In February, 1918 there was presented on the New York stage a play called "The Copperhead." The day before its opening no one knew anything about it.

"The Copperhead," by Augustus Thomas, with Lionel Barrymore in the leading role, scored the most pronounced success of any play on the stage that season.

"The Copperhead" has been made into a Paramount Arctcraft picture, with Lionel Barrymore as star.

We are certain that this picture will be as great a triumph on the screen as it was on the stage.

Thoughtlessness May Kill Off Oregon Flowers

"In spite of the plenitude of Oregon wild flowers, so ruthless has been the gathering along our highways and in our parks that there is danger that many species will be driven back away from the easy access of man."

He attributes the indiscriminate destruction of flowers to thoughtlessness and lack of understanding rather than to maliciousness. "The beauty of the wild flower appeals to us," he says.

"In a region so abounding in flowers it would seem too severe to urge that we pick none of them. Rather we would counsel moderation and a careful plucking so as to remove only part of the plant, and that in the parks and along the highways they should be left untouched.

SAYS METHODIST LIVE LONGER, PREACH LESS

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Methodist ministers live longer nowadays because they preach less. Bishop Edwin Hughes so said at a meeting of the Interdenominational Institute of Evangelism.

The increase in their years became marked about the time that intensive church evangelistic campaigns began to decrease.

The bishop argued the need for the old evangelistic campaigns with a sermon every night as the only solution for present day problems.
