THE MONDALE

Pell Van Dyun, heir to the Van Dyun millions, and last of an illustrious race of New York blue bloods, who traced their lineage back to the Mayflower, had been found in the beautiful Van Dyun gardens the victim of a mysterious and brutal murder. The entire police and detective forces of the big city were turned loose on the case, but were unable to fathom the mystery.

A proud old man's hopes were buried with young Pell. The hope of seeing the family name carried on without a break in the strain. The last desire of Pell's grandfather, Mynderse Van Dyun, was to see Pell united in marriage with his granddaughter and Pell's own cousin Catherine Ten Eyck. He had been opposed by his grandchildren in this, the most cherished hope of his proud old life, but their opposition had meant nothing to his iron will. All his life he had been accustomed to having his way. Now he was thwarted in his maddest desire by the hand of the grim reaper.

To add to his misery, Catherine, as wilful as she was beautiful, married Paul La Forge, an author whose grandfather was a nobody in France. The load was too heavy for the proud old shoulders, and in one night they lost their regal pose.

How the tender hands of a child through whose veins coursed the Van Dyuns' blue blood and the peasant red loosened the heart-strings of his crusty old heart is a touching episode in the gripping Triangle play, "Regenerates," with Alma Reubens and Walt Whitman. This picture will be shown at the Mondale theatre on Friday and Saturday.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY ST. PAUL'S GUILD

St. Paul's Episcopal Guild met in the parlors of the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, and officers were elected. Mrs. S. E. Martin was elected president, Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough vice president, Mrs. P. A. Albertson secretary, and Mrs. O. D. Burk treasurer. Archdeacon Van Waters addressed the ladies, and the meeting was very satisfactory from both a business and social viewpoint. Tea and cake were served after the business meeting.

THOSE ORANGES HERE

The box of oranges picked by Joel T. Ward in southern California for members of the local Chamber of Commerce have been received by the chamber, a day or two delayed for distribution at the opening, but in time to pass around tonight, when there will be a gathering of men at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to discuss the problem of what to do for the boys.

THE STAR

The task confronting the producers of the screen version of Augustus Thomas' great play, "The Copperhead," which will be on view at the Star theatre tonight, was a considerable one. It involved constructing and twice reconstructing an entire village, the employing, marshalling, costuming, and directing of literally thousands of "extras," and endless research and study of archives pertaining to the periods of the Mexican and Civil wars. Lionel Barrymore, who was star in the stage play, also is featured in the picture. Charles Maigne was director.

The village which was used was constructed on the plains of Long Island and is faithful in every detail in its reproduction of a middle western town in the '50s. It was modelled after original sketches and drawings showing the style of buildings of the period. Every structure was enclosed on all four sides, in itself an innovation in movie making. Over 200 Mexican war soldiers, 2300 Civil war soldiers, and 1200 Civil war veterans were impersonated by "extras." Different styles of guns had to be obtained for the soldiers in the two wars. An accurate copy of President Lincoln's proclamation of war reproduced by one of the few living men who have seen one.

All in all, "The Copperhead" is declared to be one of the big motion picture events of the year and well worth the attention of everyone. It is a Paramount Arterraft.

MELODY MAIDS AT MONDALE TOMORROW

Eight artists, eight dispensers of joy-giving jazz, and singers and dancers of scintillating calibre, will arrive here Saturday night to open a week's engagement in the Mondale theatre. These artists, known as the "Eight Melody Maids," are coming directly from the big time in Seattle, and the foreword is that the people of Klamath Falls are due to see a galaxy of talent that will open their eyes for more than one reason. They will begin their engagement at the afternoon show Sunday, and all week, that is, every night, they will appear with something new and rib-tickling every time they face the footlights. There will be the regular change of pictures every two days, and just to make the shows more entertaining, the management of the theatre has secured some of the best pictures that have hit this town in a coon's age.

Singing, dancing and music. The theater will be full of it all next week. "Eight Melody Maids." That's enough. Nothing more need be said. They will be here a full week, including Saturday night, February 5th.

STEINMETZ-GRENNON CASE IN HANDS OF THE JURY

The case of William Steinmetz against Fred U. Grennon, a suit for partnership accounting and collection, involving about $1,500, on trial for the past two days in the circuit court, went to the jury this afternoon. At 3 o'clock they were still deliberating.

SAYS PROHIBITION IN U. S. "THERE TO STAY"

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 7.—(By mail)—Lord Leverhulme, one of Great Britain's largest manufacturers, told the Daily Post representative on his return from a recent visit to the United States that "prohibition in America has come to stay—of that you may be certain."

"The people are settling down under it," he continued, "and I believe that if put to the popular vote, 75 per cent of the electorate would support its continuance. There is not the slightest chance that the law against alcoholic drinks will ever be repealed."
