If Disease or Accident Stops Your Income

Disease or accident may at any time totally and permanently disable you and put an end to your earning power. What would you and your family do for an income? How would your home be maintained? Would your wife work? Would your children leave school and work? Your wife might be unable to earn an income—your children might be too young. There is a better way and a sure way.

AN IMMEDIATE MONTHLY INCOME

One of the world's greatest financial institutions will contract to pay you a monthly income, beginning immediately on receipt of due proof that you have become totally and permanently disabled, and will pay that income as long as you live.

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK has recently devised a perfect income plan for policyholders who become disabled. And it is incorporating it, on request, in its Life and Endowment policies.

How It Works

You take, for example, a $10,000 Life form of policy, with the disability provision. Then, if you become totally and permanently disabled:

1. No further premium payments would be required. The outgo stops!
2. You would receive a monthly income of $100 as long as you lived. Immediate first payment, and a check mailed to you the first day of each month thereafter. When you died, the full $10,000 would be paid to your beneficiary, without deduction for the disability payments you had received or for the premiums that had been waived.
- If the policy were an Endowment, you would receive the disability payments until the policy's maturity date, and would then receive the full amount of the policy, without deductions for disability payments and waived premiums.

3. The cash surrender value and the loan value of the policy would increase from year to year, just as they would if the premiums had continued to be paid and disability payments had not been made.
4. You would continue to receive an annual dividend, of the same amount as would have been payable if premium payments had not been waived—not a reduced dividend.

No Delay!

There must be no delay in your time of need and of trouble. Disability payments, to be of the utmost benefit, should begin IMMEDIATELY and should be made MONTHLY. "Immediately" doesn't mean in two months, or three or six months, or a year—it means at once!—as soon as the disability is proved. There is then no sudden stoppage of the entire income of the family. THE MUTUAL LIFE'S new disability provision provides just such an income—immediate, monthly, lifelong!

Double the Sum Insured

In the same policy, you may have a provision under which the Company will pay your beneficiary double the sum insured in case of your accidental death. If the policy is payable in a single sum, double that sum will be paid; if the policy is a Life Income contract, payable in monthly installments, the monthly payment will be doubled.

The Company

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK is the oldest legal reserve life insurance institution in the United States, and is one of the greatest and strongest in the world. You cannot find better policies, better service, or a better disability provision. Ask our nearest representative for details. Tomorrow isn't yours—see him, phone him, or write him Today.
