Romance

He met her in the meadow
As the sun was sinking low,
They walked along together
In the twilight's after-glow.
She waited until patiently
He'd lowered all the bars,
Her soft eye bent upon him
As radiant as the stars.
She didn't smile or thank him—
In fact she knew not how,
For he was but a farther lad
And she a Jersey cow.

Though prices on baby cabs have been reduced the manufacturers say there is no demand for them. Probably baby wants a motor car.

The unhappy coincident that the payroll and prices are going down together make us wonder where we get off at.

But, we reflect the happy days have gone by when the payroll made us oblivious to prices.

Force of habit is illustrated in Harding's choice of the capitol porch as the place where he will take the oath as president.

Jim Driscoll says "Hell" in such a way as to make that word almost glorious.

1921
(Cataline)

A good man once observed a kid puffing a cigarette,
And thus addressed the child, (he did)

In tones filled with regret,
Said he, "Why lad—Your ma I'll tell

If this again occurs."
The kid replied—"She'll whip like hell

For this is one of her's.

People who live in stone houses, as Lloyd Low sees it, shouldn't kick on the bill of fare.

A real friend is a gink who loves you in spite of your failures and the greater a fizzle you are, the greater he seems to love you.

On the Tied

The knack of floating debts enabled some folks to be in the "swim."

Frank Sexton says that the reason he don't wash his car is that it rains every time he does and his garden don't need the moisture.

He Smoked Anyway
Officer (While examining applicant for army) "Got any scars on you?"
Applicant—"No, but I got some cigarettes over there in my coat."

Twinkle, Little Star!
"My daddy is a Mason," stated little Mable, "and my mamma is a Eastern Star."
'And what are you?' her chum asked.
'I'm the little twinkle.'

"If dirt were trumps what hands some men would have."

When you think little of a person say as little as you think.

SHASTA VIEW NOTES

Lester Wilson who has been sick for nearly a week is able to be in school again.

The teacher and schoolmates of Mary Toffel gave her a surprise Friday evening, this being her birthday. Games were played and dainty refreshments served. All report a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. Ben Daniel and daughters Gladys and Margy returned Saturday from a visit with Henry Voss and family. Mr. Daniel's brother, Louie, wife and little son returned with Mrs. Daniel for a few days visit. Louie Daniel and family have just returned from California where they have lived for about a year.

LANGELL VALLEY NEWS

The water on the swamp lands has been and is yet, higher than it has been for the five or six years. The ice jams over the valley remind one of a white capped breaker on the ocean. Many stacks of hay are entirely surrounded and feeders have turned their cattle loose on the hills. It is reported that the water gauge in the Duncan-Tuttle reservoir washed out.

The sad news was received in the valley of the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Duncan, Thursday, Feb. 17th. They have the sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow.

Mrs. Doris Smyth visited her husband at Malin, over Saturday and Sunday.

Fred Hilton has abandoned his back, and has been making the daily mall trips in a buggy, due to the bad roads, or lack of roads.

A. C. Kinney and brother made a trip up the valley and gathered in their stock, returning Monday.

John Butler and wife left for Rogue River last week, where they expect to make their future home.

F. P. Grohs had the misfortune to break his hay rack last week, and the epidemic became catching. Virgil Deal was the next victim.

Jack Corkery was a Klamath Falls visitor Sunday and Monday.

Word that Miss Nola Deal is improving, has been received from the Klamath Falls hospital where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Merle Kilgore recently moved his cattle to Tule Lake for the winter.

John Turnage and Mr. Kestler took in the dance at Lorella, last Friday evening.

Clifford Vermillion was a Wednesday visitor in Bonanza.

The community is well pleased over having in our midst again, Sol Dewey, Sr., who has been very ill at Merrill this winter. At this writing he is much improved, and able to walk without assistance.

Ivan Kilgore has been cutting and hauling logs, preparatory to building a log corral at his place.

Everett Malone has been working at Ivan Kilgore's the last month.
