She Had Shaped herself for a Business Career; You Know He spooned her and he wooed her. He sought her out in vain; She was the apple of his heart This classy little dame.

Had to Be

"My wife says that I am not industrious and that I drink," complained Bob Robertson recently. "Well, what of that?" asked his friend. "Only this, a man has to be industrious to find anything to drink these days."

Bert Hall says that here in Klamath Falls when the girls want to get ready for winter they dab an extra coat of powder on their chests.

It's the Gossip Truth

Bill is a most observant cuss. And here's one of his best: "When fortune smiles on one of us She snickers at the rest."

Two gentlemen riding on a train were both very much intoxicated. First Gent—What time is it?

Second Gent (after extracting a matchbox from his pocket with much exertion and gazing at it intently)—Thursday.

First Gent—My God! I've got to get off here.

No doubt you've heard of the man who sent his brother-in-law a box of catnip as a gentle token of his esteem. But did you know that an Indianapolis man calls his wife Angora when he gets peeved at her?

What Indeed?

When Eve needed clothes she never bought 'em, But went to the forest and sought 'em;

This system would seem A very good scheme, But what did she do in the autumn?

Rogers Campaigns for the Salvation Army

An appeal by Will Rogers, motion picture star, for the Salvation Army, will be used extensively throughout the west. The purpose of the campaign is to get $1 from each working man for the Salvation Army program. Here is what Rogers wrote:

"Things have got so high, and money has got so ornery that the only satisfaction you can get out of a dollar is to give it away."

"This appeal is made to working men. Being a movie actor, I don't have to pay."

"A man may be down, but he's never out. That ain't so of women though. A woman is either out looking for a husband or getting evidence to divorce one."

"Ask any doughboy. "If I ever join any army it will be the Salvation Army. I like doughnuts better than any other weapon."

"If this ain't funny, it's because the Salvation Army ain't to be laughed at. "Not by a tambourine full."
