"HORSEPLAY"

Those attending the council meeting last evening were edified by the undignified and unparliamentary attack made upon Mayor Wiley by Councilman Bogardus of the first ward, when he advised the mayor that if he thought he was "going to get away with that kind of horseplay" he was mistaken.

If Mr. Bogardus, or the other members of the council who are hindering Mayor Wiley from carrying out the progressive program he has mapped out, doubts the will of their constituents, let him resign and stand for re-election.

The time has come when the council should join with the mayor in a constructive, progressive, harmonious program that has for its purpose the welfare of the city and not the schemes of the undesirable element.

Modern Efficiency

An ancient Greek philosopher, Themistocle by name, Once drank a hemlock highball, And then, they say, died game.

Of course, this lad was brainy But his style was rather crude; For now they drink wood alcohol, And kick off while they're stewed!

It is part of the irony of life that the onion should be first to decline in price.

People are just as anxious to get out as they are to get in.

A woman may ride around in a 6-cylinder roadster but is still old fashioned enough to prefer a stock-in to a cash register.

Most of us think sometimes that if we had enough money to be rolling stone we wouldn't care whether we gathered any moss or not.

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feeling?

(From a Press Agent's Masterpiece) It is demonstrated in the enraptured feeling one receives when seeing the show, a feeling not unlike the pleasing dreams of paradise that one entertains when lolling about the downy lawn on a blissful summery afternoon, with the quiet of day broken only by the singing of robins, the purring of a stream, and mystic song of the trees as their verdant leaves wash themselves in the soft breezes.

"Own your own home" urges R. E. Smith. However, Richard, those who seem to be getting along best own somebody else's.

A Near Catastrophe

Several Hammond republicans, confused by the fact that the meeting place had been changed, got into the wrong hall Saturday at Crownpoint and came pretty near helping democrats organize for their campaign before they realized their mistake.

Strange isn't it, that the ultimate consumer hasn't thought of a hunger strike?

Somebody sent the editor of the Pickettown Gazette a few bottles of home brew. The same day he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale. Here are the results: "Wm. Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milk cows, six mules and one bobbed. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridal couple left on one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with one good baby buggy and a few kitchen utensils after ten months from date of sale to responsible parties, and some fifty chickens."—Exchange.
