PRICE FIVE CENTS

COMMUNITY TO CELEBRATE THE BANK OPENING

"I am here for the purpose of welcoming back into the ranks of the bankers of the state Captain Siemens and to show by being here that we are personally interested in the reopening of the First State and Savings bank. It indicates further that the First National bank of San Francisco, The Northwestern bank and the Ladd and Tilton bank of Portland stand back of the First State and Savings bank morally and financially." Statement made to The Herald today by R. S. Howard, first vice president of the Ladd and Tilton bank of Portland.

All will be in readiness for the opening of the First State and Savings bank Monday morning. Marshall Hooper, who resigns as assistant superintendent of banks for Oregon to accept a place on the board of directors and the office of first vice president, will be here either tonight or Sunday night.

R. S. Howard, representing the financial institutions of Portland that are standing back of the reopening, arrived last evening, and he will remain until Tuesday morning.

Frank Seeds, representing the First National bank of San Francisco, could not remain over for the opening, having to leave this morning for home. Before going he stated he was sorry press of business prevented his being present to witness an event that his institution was supporting financially.

Captain Siemens and his son, John W., Junior, will be at their accustomed places to welcome those whose great moral and financial support has been the real power that made possible the opening of the bank—the depositors.

One of the most interested spectators of the event will be R. S. Howard, first vice president of the Ladd and Tilton bank, who comes here to show by his presence that his institution stands back of the reopening. Mr. Howard has been here before, but like all who return, he is surprised at the development that has been made. In touching upon this fact today he said:

"I can see great changes and still greater ones to come. One thing to hasten them is cooperation. This community standing solidly together means rapid strides, divided—well it is the old story of the bundle of sticks. Trouble often unites families in indissoluble ties and the difficulties through which this community has passed and from which it is emerging so grandly will undoubtedly have a similar effect. I look to see a cooperative spirit come out of it all that will have but one result—unity and progress."

Celebration Monday Morning

In anticipation of the opening of bank, a committee of citizens convened this morning and made arrangements for one of the most significant demonstrations since the armistice was signed in 1918. The whole city is expected to celebrate. A monster parade will be the dominant feature, and the committee wishes it understood that it will be anything but a funeral affair. Everybody is expected to participate in the parade and make noise, and make the welkin ring. Will T. Lee, who has been selected as marshal of the day—wishes to impress the people with the idea that it will be impossible to show too much exuberance. "Tear loose," is the order of the day.

The parade will begin at the corner of East Main and Spring streets, near the Big Basin Lumber company's plant. Everybody is expected to be there at 10:30, and not a minute later. Furthermore, while cars will not be excluded from the parade, the paraders as asked to walk, and thus make the occasion more impressive. Every organization, whether a social or business association, is expected to join in the parade. While Marshal Lee has not decided upon the order of the procession, he states that the fire

Business Better; Old Wage Scale Restored By Erie

NEW YORK, March 12.—Reductions in the wage of common labor made by the Erie railroad January 31 have been wiped out and the former wage scale restored, the company announced today. The statement said that slightly improved business conditions permitted the payment of the old scale.

The railway labor board recently condemned the action of the road for not first submitting the proposed reduction for the board's approval and ordered the restoration of the former scale. The company said that the whole wage question would now be formally submitted to the board.

CONFERRING ON LABOR POLICY

Members of the county court, reclamation service, representatives of irrigation districts, California-Oregon Power company, Oskar Huber and other contractors are meeting this afternoon in the local irrigation district office to determine on a labor policy and wage scale for public work this season.

The indication is that wages will be revised downward, although no formal action had been taken at the time of going to press.

Five Dollars At the Stroke of a Knife

Miss Margaret Schubert, 907 High street, was an angry young lady when she sliced into a roll of Klamath Falls creamery butter and the knife encountered a thin piece of paper. She was going to take the roll right back to Anderson's grocery where she bought it. But when she looked at the slip and found it was an order on the creamy company for $5 her indignation changed to joy.

While Miss Schubert considers she made a lucky knife stroke, the creamery company finds it was a good stroke of business to announce through Herald advertising that some fortunate person was due to find an unexpected $5 coming their way some day soon, as it introduced to many new homes a made in Klamath Falls product that will stand comparison with any brand of butter on the market.

truck and all city firemen will head the parade, followed by the city officials, county officials, the band, chamber of commerce, American Legion, and school children from every school in the city. When the paraders reach the First State and Savings bank a halt will be called, and Attorney H. M. Manning will deliver an address, in which he will tell in his emphatic way of the joy of the community in the reopening of the bank. The band will give selections, and other features may be in evidence.

It was decided this afternoon by the business men's association that business places will not close, but all of the schools will be closed, both public and parochial, and banners will proclaim the school to which each contingent belongs. Children will appear in gala attire and will help help make the desired noise. Getting right down to brass tacks, this will be an honest-to-goodness demonstration, and one that will be remembered for a lifetime.

Mayor W. S. Wiley will act as chairman. Marshal Lee can be depended upon to keep things in motion, but he requests Fred Garlich, Lou Arens, Luke Walker, Oscar Shive, Andy Collier, and James Beard to get in touch with him at once and make arrangements to act as aides during the parade and demonstration.

Band Men to Meet at Elks' Temple
All the band men of the city are asked to meet in the Elks' temple tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and arrange to participate in the parade and furnish music. This is imperative, for there must be plenty of live music.

J. P. Wells, city school superintendent, asks all pupils to assemble at the schools at 9 o'clock. Parents are assured that the children will be safeguarded from traffic.

HOME BUILDERS READY TO START CONSTRUCTION

The Homebuilders corporation directors elected officers last night as follows: H. D. Mortensen, president; W. H. Klingenberg, vice president; O. D. Burke, treasurer, and A. J. Vove, secretary. The executive committee consists of H. N. Moe, J. W. Siemens, and O. D. Burke.

James Holland, manager of the corporation, is now ready to start construction of homes. There are a number of applications on file.

The corporation is amply financed by local subscriptions. The total capitalization is $100,000, more than half subscribed. Under its plan the applicant for a home must furnish the site and pay down 20 per cent of the cost of the building chosen. The balance is payable in small monthly installments.

Figures have been asked by five prospective builders. There are other informal applications but the five mean business.

Mr. Holland has an office above the Star Drug store. Applications may be made there or at the chamber of commerce.

FT. KLAMATH ENGINEER BOOSTS PROJECT ABROAD

"There are 30,000 acres in the reclamation and irrigation project of the Fort Klamath Mercantile company," explained C. W. Levisse, who is at the Imperial. Mr. Levisse is chief engineer for the enterprise. There are about 10,000 of the 30,000 acres now under water from the Wood river and from Seven Mile creek. Mr. Levisse has more free-lance than any other man who has registered in a Portland hotel in the past six months. Oregonian.

PREPARING FOR COMING OF EVANGELISTIC SPEAKER

The first group meeting of the general campaign committee being organized in the interest of the Bullgin evangelistic campaign was held Wednesday evening in the parlor of the Presbyterian church. Twenty-five prominent business men and women were present and talked over plans. A very encouraging spirit prevailed.

QUARREL OVER SHOE REPAIR BILL; ASSAULT CHARGE FILED.

R. A. Yawman of the Quick Repair Shop, is at liberty on $300 bond pending hearing on a charge of assault and battery upon Frank Frates, local carpenter. The men quarreled this morning over a shoe repair bill. Frates alleges the shoemaker struck him upon the head with a club. Yawman will have a hearing Wednesday.

Bonanza Basket Ballers Triumph

Bonanza basketballers won a double victory last night at Bonanza when the boys team defeated the Merrill boys 53 to 7, and the girls team defeated the Merrill girls 13 to 6. Much interest was taken in the contests and a large crowd witnessed them. Return matches are scheduled at Merrill Friday night.

Fined for Driving While Intoxicated

J. W. Fader, employe of the Modoc Lumber company, pleaded guilty to driving an automobile while intoxicated and paid a fine of $25 in Police Judge Leavitt's court this morning. Fader was arrested by Patrolmen Wynn and Durham last night after he had collided with parked cars of Louis Hoagland and Mr. Brookings, insurance agent, in front of the Mecca pool room. Fader settled with the owners of the cars for damages.

BOLSHEVIKI ARE OVERTHROWN IN RUSS CAPITOL

WARSAW, March 12.—Petrograd is in the hands of the revolutionists and the bolsheviki are completely overpowered, says a wireless dispatch received here.

A Vilna dispatch says that anti-bolsheviki forces have driven their way into Minsk and held the city for five hours, but were later dislodged by the bolsheviki.

While occupying Minsk the revolutionists are said to have killed many communists. When the bolsheviki re-entered the town they executed more than 200 persons, including many Poles who were accused of sympathizing with the insurgents.

FORMER RESIDENTS HAVE BABY SON

News has been received by friends that Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Webber of Boise, Idaho, are the parents of a son. The boy has been named John Frederick, Jr. Mr. Webber was linotype operator on The Herald for several months last year.

Soldiers Are Being Admitted Today to U. S. Citizenship

Gustava Carlson, native of Sweden, was the first soldier accepted for citizenship by V. W. Tomlinson, naturalization commissioner. Other ex-service men will be heard this afternoon. The naturalization will not be completed until Circuit Judge Kuykendall returns from Eugene and signs the papers.

Soldiers or sailors who were discharged through disability are not eligible under the soldiers' citizenship act, which waives first application and length of residence. Disabled veterans' must take the ordinary course.

On Monday applications of those whose petitions have been posted 90 days and all enemy aliens will be heard.

KLAMATH WINS BOTH DEBATES

Klamath county's high school debating team won the debate with Lakeview here last night, and the local team also won at Lakeview according to a message received here. The question was: "Resolved, that the interests of labor would be conserved and developed through the organization and support of a labor party."

Victor Kor and Francis Honzek upheld the local school in the affirmative here, and Paul Keller and Norma Adams took the negative end of the Lakeview debate for Klamath.

Klamath's double victory enters this school in the district debate at Eugene in which 86 high schools of the state compete.

Plan to Enlarge Business Building

George R. Wright, architect, is preparing plans for enlarging the Emma block on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth, now occupied by Roberts & Hanks on the ground floor. The building will be extended back to the alley and two stories added. A full basement will be built. The upper floors will be used for offices. Roberts & Hanks will occupy the entire first floor and the basement.

COOS COUNTY WANTS HALL TO KEEP PLACE

Although he is moving from Coos Bay to Klamath Falls with his family, Charles Hall has received a petition asking him not to resign as the state senator for the district of Coos and Curry. The homefolk gave Senator Hall and Representative Bennett a banquet the other night, at which time the matter of retaining Senator Hall's services in the legislature was discussed. There has been talk that Mr. Hall intends resigning his seat in the legislature because of his transferring his interests to Klamath, which accounted for the resolution. Mr. Hall is at the Benson while here with a delegation from the coast to discuss the Roseburg-Coos Bay highway with the highway commissioners.—Oregonian.

Stock Came Through In Fine Condition

The car of purebred stock for the second annual farm bureau sale arrived last night and were unloaded this morning. The cattle are in fine condition, said County Agent Thomas today. They will be on exhibition at the O. K. barn until March 17, the date of the sale.
