Hank Wilson—"You can't hitch here!
Driver of wagon—"Why not? The sign says "Fine for Hitching."

Ain't They Shockin'
(Savings Bank Corner Yesterday)
"Gee, ain't these tight skirts the bugs, Mary. Some bird darn near chucked me in the ribs with a flivver when I breezed across the lane a moment ago. You know, Mary, I gotta hunch that they's kinda shockin'—pipe those ginks over there by the La Vogue lookin' us over. Hope they lose their sight. Then, too, these high curbs give me a chill.
Well Mary, here comes my bus. "So long, Mary. Say, tell me if that good looking fellow there by the lamp post watches me got in, will you? See you tomorrow.

Limerick

(Limmerick Lou)
There was a young man from Fort Wayne,
Who had a gay girl, Mary Jane;
He did not long tarry,
But asked her to marry,
And now she gives him a pain.

Yes, But How The Heck Were They
At 12:30

Abe Corey will tell of his trip to France and of the conditions as he found them at 7:30.

Ed Vannice says that what he can't understand is how the $15 clerk manages to dress better than the $60 a week boss.

The Merry Autoist
"I love to ride around each day,
And take my friends," said Breen,
"And then stop at some dump and pay
Six bucks for gasoline."

What Yu' Kicking About? Your Lucky
(L. E. Claypool in Ind. Daily Times)
Somewhere in this no mean city of Indianapolis some other gentleman is wearing a pair of the editor's B. V. D.s. He sent 'em to the laundry and the laundry lost 'em. Free write up in the col. for their return and no questions asked.

You don't know how lucky you are. Here's what we've lost through the laundry during the month of February.
1 handkerchief
3 socks
1/2 suit pajamas
1 suit bevedees (Adv.)
5 collars
Tail off one shirt.

This Bathing in Public Is So Humiliating
(From a Classified ad in the Indiana Daily Times)

Life's Little Tragedies
Trying to borrow lunch money around a newspaper sanctum the day before the ghost walks.

The first flight made over the equatorial Andes was made recently by an Italian aviator flying from Guayaquil to Cuenca, a distance of 120 miles.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. West left Sunday for a business and pleasure visit in Portland.

Miss Lydia Fricke, county health nurse, left this morning for Spring lake to examine the school children of that district during the next few days.

Petition for citizenship has been filed in the circuit court by Fred Rose, native of Portugal, a resident of this county for the past 15 years.

R. S. Howard, vice president of the Ladd and Tilton bank of Portland, who has been here for several days in connection with the opening of the First State and Savings bank, left for Portland today.

City Beautification Expert at Forum

Dean Peck of the Oregon Agricultural college, well-known as a landscape architect and city planner, will address the Chamber of Commerce forum at tomorrow's luncheon on the possibilities of city beautification in Klamath Falls.

The speaker arrived last night and will spend the day looking over the city gathering ideas. He will have some very practical suggestions to make at tomorrow's luncheon and it is expected that a large audience will be present to hear them.

Violinist Added to St. Patrick's Program

The addition of Paul Robertson's name to the list of those on the St. Patrick's Day program to be given in the White Pelican hotel Thursday evening, will impart more merit to an already excellent program. Mr. Robertson will play a violin obligato to Mrs. James Bamberg's vocal solo. He has delighted numerous audiences with his skill as a violinist, and his contribution to this program will add to his musical reputation. Tickets of admission to the program are going fast, and much interest is being manifested in the two lectures, one by H. M. Manning, and the other by The Reverend J. V. Molloy.

A Kansas City policeman resigned because he was assigned to a muddy beat.

SOME COW!

Jesse Dean, a nine year old short-horn cow, now in the O. K. barn waiting to be sold to some discriminating purchaser at the second annual Klamath county shorthorn sale on Thursday, according to one report, is "some" cow. In telling about the animals offered for sale the wrong figures slipped into the story, and yesterday's Herald stated with no attempt at camouflage that Jesse Dean's owners had refused $5000 for her. Wrong, of course! Jesse is a valuable cow, but she is not worth $5000. The figures referred to Radiator, Hutchinson & Sherman's herd bull. Radiator is not entered at this sale, this reference to him having been made as a testimonial to his value as a sire.

NOTICE OF HEARING OF FINAL ACCOUNT, AND FOR DISCHARGE OF ADMINISTRATOR.

In the Matter of the Estate of Edna E. Kerns, Deceased.
In the county court of Klamath county, Oregon.

Notice is hereby given that H. J. Mattoon, the administrator of the estate of Edna E. Kerns, deceased, has rendered his final account and filed herein his petition for final settlement and discharge; and that Wednesday, the 13th day of April, 1921, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., at the county court chambers in the Court House in Klamath Falls, Oregon, has been duly appointed by said court for hearing of said final account and objections, if any, thereto and for hearing of said petition for settlement of said estate and discharge of said administrator, at which time and place any person interested in said estate may appear and file his exception in writing and show cause, if any, why said final account should not be approved and allowed and the estate settled and the administrator discharged.

H. J. MATTOON
Administrator.

MISTAKES. Carpenters make mistakes; contractors make mistakes; architects make mistakes; owners make mistakes; millmen make mistakes; you make mistakes; we make mistakes; everybody makes mistakes. That's why rubbers are put on lead pencils and why the divorce courts are so busy. Mistakes in the sizes or kind of windows, doors, mill work and lumber which you order are sure to occur. It may be your mistake, or the carpenter's or the architect's or the mill man's. If your mill work has been made out of town, these mistakes are hard to rectify and are the cause of many delays and much annoyance and expense. If you use "Made-in-Klamath Falls Products" and buy your windows, doors, mill work and lumber from us, these mistakes are easily rectified without delay, expense or annoyance. IT IS A MISTAKE to think you can get better lumber, mill work and materials elsewhere; you can't. IT IS A MISTAKE to think you can get better prices elsewhere; you can't. IT IS A MISTAKE to think you can get better service elsewhere; you can't. Lakeside Lumber Co. Owned and Operated by Klamath Falls Business Men.
