PARIS, March 16.—The allied reparations commission today notified the German government that it must pay a billion gold marks before March 23.

SAVING SCENERY

OROVILLE, Cal., March 16.—Scenic beauty for the highways between Oroville and Quincy has been assured, it is believed, by a recent announcement of E. M. Rogers, forest supervisor, that lumber companies will be denied the right to cut timber standing along the road. Giant sugar pines which line the road in the Feather River canyon will be saved by the order.

Weather Probabilities

The Cycle-Stormograph at Underwood's Pharmacy continued to register a rising barometer until about noon today, since when it has been falling slightly. The rain of last night was a sort of "freak" not being indicated by barometric conditions. The U. S. weather bureau predicts a storm for Oregon, but indications are that it will not reach us before tomorrow, if at all.

Forecast for next 24 hours: Storm brewing in southwest.

FARM PAY WAS HIGHEST, 1920

Wage rates for farm labor reached their highest point in the history of this country in 1920, as national averages, as ascertained by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, the average wage rate for labor hired by the month was $46.89 with board, and $64.95 without board; for day labor at harvest, $3.50 with board, and $4.36 without board.

War conditions greatly accelerated an upward movement of farm wage rates that began after 1895. The rate of that year for hirings by the month without board was $17.69 as an average for the United States, and no other year in the record of the bureau extending back to 1866 had a lower rate, except 1879 with $16.42.

By 1902, this wage rate had increased to $22.14, by 1914 to $29.88, followed by $30.15 in 1915, with no evidence of war effect. This effect appeared, perhaps, as a small beginning in the next year, 1916, when the wage rate was $32.83. Then followed rapid rise to $40.43 in 1917, to $47.07 in 1918, to $56.19 in 1919, and to $64.95 in 1920.

The rate of gain over 1895 was 70 per cent in 1915 and 267 per cent in 1920, so that the gain of 70 per cent in 20 years, from 1895 to 1915, was followed by a gain of 197 per cent in 5 years, from 1916 to 1920, or nearly three times as much in a quarter as many years.
