

RUSS PEASANTS BARTER HORSE FOR MATCHES

STOCKHOLM, March 14.—(By Mail)—Russian peasants south of Moscow gladly sell a horse for three boxes of matches or a kilo of salt, it is declared by persons said to be in touch with conditions in the interior of the country.

Observers cite this state of affairs as the cause of the counter-revolution in March which, they say, began to take definite form in January. Unwieldiness of the Soviet administrative machine, the differences among the Bolshevik leaders and the fuel crisis with consequent stoppage of transportation and lack of food are given as the reasons for the subversive movement.

Discontent which was prevalent throughout Russia during the war period, but concealed in the presence of the invading enemy, could no longer be repressed when the fighting men returned home to find want and distress.

The first signs of revolt against the existing order are said to have been apparent at the Russian trades union congress in Moscow last November. There were further evidences of dissatisfaction in the eighth All-Russian Soviet Congress which convened in splendor at Moscow last December. These symptoms of reaction, it is stated, were unapparent on the surface, but made themselves felt among those behind the scenes. Harmonious resolutions were adopted, but the attack came from a quarter whose importance could not be doubted.

In this Eighth Congress, the metal workers' and miners' unions, led by Schliankoff, urged the democratization of the government which, it was charged, was military and bureaucratic. Schliankoff also demanded that the food administration be placed entirely in the hands of the trade unions. This was plainly an attack against the Communist executive committee and the highest soviet authorities.

More recently the press of the country has shown signs of greater freedom and has not hesitated to attack policies of the government which, it is said, has entrenched itself by appointing thousands of petty officials.

Press controversies have revealed animosities between leaders. For instance, Trotzky and his followers are declared to be set upon a policy of nationalization of trade unions, whereas Lenin believes it wiser to maintain the independence of the unions apart from the government and to use them as training schools for Communism. And there are numerous other groups which, it is stated, are bent upon other projects, revealing a tendency to destroy the farmer unity of front in Russian policy.

Within recent weeks the transportation of coal from the Donetz valley has grown steadily less. The production was between 90,000 and 400,000 tons monthly, but only about 150,000 tons were loaded for rail haulage, due to the practice of expropriation by subordinate soviet corporations or councils.

Simultaneously with the reduction in the coal supply, there was an almost complete cessation of delivery of wood. In addition to this, the snowless winter and the slaughter of horses in 1920 added to the difficulties of local transport.

Lack of fuel resulted in the shutting down of rail traffic. According to soviet newspapers no trains are running on 30 lines and on the others only rudimentary schedules are being maintained.

Little hope for improvement is held out unless supplies of naphtha stored at Baku can be brought into the center of the country.

Charles Wants to Stay In Hungary

VIENNA, April 4.—The Austrian cabinet has notified the Hungarian government that unless an early hour for the certain departure of Ex-Empress Charles is set, the government would cancel his safe conduct. This evoked the promise from Hungary that Charles would leave the country within 48 hours from Sunday night.

Charles told his followers today that he is unwilling to leave Hungary, and that if he cannot remain as king he would settle in the country as a private citizen.
