DORRIS C. OF C. ESTABLISHED

DORRIS, Cal., April 8.—With the election Wednesday evening of an executive committee of seven members, which body in turn will elect officers for the organization and formulate plans of procedure, the Dorris Chamber of Commerce came into actual existence characterized by a type of enthusiasm and purpose that leads always to success.

In choosing members to the executive committee a thoroughly representative group of men from every industry in the community was secured. The crowd of citizens who packed the Knights of Pythias hall Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing the Dorris Chamber of Commerce was animated with the spirit of modern progress and efficiency, which spirit was reflected through the cooperative disposition manifested and the sound judgment displayed in laying plans for the future course of action.

Together with delegates from the Macdonal chamber and citizens from Mt. Hebron and other points down the line, two delegates from the Dorris chamber went to Weed last evening where they met with citizens of that place for discussion of the most feasible method of going about the obtaining of the highway from that place through this valley to Klamath Falls.

It is understood that another meeting similar in purpose will be held in Klamath Falls in the near future at which time delegates will be present from towns along the line to Weed.

Membership dues are still rolling in to the treasurer of the local C. of C. yesterday evening the total membership reached 105. Suggestions have been solicited from Secretary Stanley of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce and it is anticipated that he will offer some helpful information for the local secretary in getting things under way.

The seven executive committee members elected are H. W. Mitchell, A. B. McDonald, William G. Hagelstein, J. D. Waltz, J. F. Shelley, Frank Barr and S. S. McCollum. These men will meet soon and elect officers for the chamber. They will also have within their power the right to design the course of action for the organization.
