

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS Sillly Abner

A silly gink is Abner Carroll. He's less brain than a chigger; He stuck his thumb in a shotgun barrel An then he pulled the trigger.

Scientific boxing is a great thing, but the fellow with the inch-and-a-half forehead and the "kick" in his right hand often takes the winner's end of the purse.

And another kind of post is the fellow who prefaces a story thusly: "This wouldn't be a funny story if it wasn't true." Usually he's right.

Charlie DeLap says about the only advantage a horse has is that he doesn't have to take off his shoes when he goes to bed.

One of life's inconsistencies—a mouse is afraid of a man, a man is afraid of a woman, and a woman is afraid of a mouse.—Wiggins (Color) Courier.

A Boston woman calls her own "the silly sex." That's a case where an angel may rush in where a male foot would fear to tread.—Philadelphia Record.

An Illinois man recently lost a fine Holstein heifer and offered as a reward for its return one good drink of whiskey. The next day twelve heifers were brought in.—Colorado paper.

A lot of merchants are stopping their advertising because business is bad. They should also stop their life insurance because their health is bad.—Haudette (Minn.) Region.

The steady drop of water wears away the hardest stone, and the steady drop in prices makes it hard to float a loan.

In 1776 we fought for our freedom; now we have to go to Cuba to enjoy it.

Some people are so fond of an argument they won't eat anything that agrees with them.

A darn funny thing to us is how the man who chews tobacco expects to be kissed just as often as if he were fit to be kissed.

Two-Count 'em—Two

When the average man goes to a banquet he experiences two separate and distinct emotions. First, he has a great dread that he will be called upon to speak, and when he isn't he feels that he has been mistreated.

Some women will never be happy, even in heaven, if the woman next door happens to have a nicer pair of wings.

One of the main drawbacks to having a new fangled disease, is that it is so hard to pronounce the name when boasting of it.

NEVADA CITY, Cal., April 13.—School officials of this mountain section say the opening day of the fishing season should fall on Saturday or it should be made a holiday, as the truancy on that day disrupts the school routine. Several school districts have granted holidays on the first day of the fishing season.

A plan suggested from this county to make the opening day the first Saturday after April first of each year was laid before the fish and game committee of the California Legislature it is said, but was not taken seriously.
