

The New Books

The new books—fiction—poetry—religious—historical—are sent to us as fast as issued. For instance there are several new ones that go on sale today—both in Klamath Falls and New York. Among these are:

- The Enchanted Canyon $2.00
- Wine of Life $2.00
- Mayflower $2.00
- The Coming of the King $2.00

Other late ones are: Star Dust, by Fannie Hurst; The Shield of Silence, by Harriet Comstock; Sister Sue, by Eleanor Porter; The Princess Salome, by Burris Jenkins; Find The Woman, by Arthur Somers Roche.

Space forbids mention of a dozen or more new ones. We always have hundreds of titles and a good assortment of the books of Zane Grey, Oliver Curwood, B. M. Bower and other popular writers.

Drop in and look them over at any time. No obligation to buy.

Three Stories

A TRAVELING MAN who has made Pacific Coast territory for many years was in Klamath Falls last week on one of his regular trips. He said: "Whenever I go into a town that is drilling for oil all the merchants, the hotel men, all my friends and many strangers too, usually advise me and sometimes beg me to buy some of their local oil stocks. But here in Klamath I've known for more than a year that your local bankers, and business men were spending their own money in Oil Development without asking the outside world to put up a dime, and have never been advised or begged to buy a share of Klamath Oil Stock. Just for that reason I am going to put $300 of my own savings into Oil Stock in Klamath Falls. I don't know a thing about oil; but I've watched these Klamath Bankers and business men for a good many years, and anything they bet their money on looks good to me."

A BUSINESS MAN'S WIFE said to us yesterday: "My husband got $15 last week from an unexpected source and very generously gave it to me. And I've studied ever since on just what to spend it for. I have thought of a lot of things I need and would like to have, but decided that I could easily do without them all. My husband has bought some oil stock, and if it is a good bet for him it's a good one for me too, so if you will sell so small an amount, I would like 15 shares of Crater Oil and Gas Stock." We cheerfully accommodated her, and HOPE SHE MAKES a million.

A WORKING MAN from Colorado came into the office a few days ago and after buying a parcel of stock told us this story. "About a year ago I bought 6000 shares of Colorado-Crude stock at 11c, costing me $660. In three weeks I sold out at 24 1/2, receiving $1470, and thought I was very smart to take a profit of $810. But I was a fool. Not long ago 6000 shares of Colorado-Crude, sold for $29,700."
