THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Wrapped in that feeling of comfort and plenty that follows a full stomach, over three hundred citizens cheered to the echo the quips and quibbles, facts and fancies regaled by the speakers at the banquet held Monday evening in the White Pelican hotel. The majority, if not all, left this luxurious hostelry with the feeling that all that remained was to place a finger on the dotted line and the proposed collection of $20,000 would be accomplished. But the cold, gray dawn of awakening must be reckoned with and the solicitors and solicited must face the fact that a decided change in the conduct of the Chamber of Commerce must ensue or the end of the next twelve months will see the organization where it is today, in debt and nothing to show for it.

The Herald realizes that among classes it stand on the Chamber of Commerce is not popular. Opposition of a newspaper to such an organization is, to their minds, unthinkable. They, in their short-sighted vain-glorious opinion of their own importance, cannot differentiate between our opposition to their methods and a Chamber of Commerce. Heart and soul The Herald is for a constructive Chamber of Commerce, one that has for its purpose the development, expansion and unification of Klamath Falls and Klamath county, one that is run for the whole community and not for a few; one that is not used as an instrument for the carrying out of theories; one where there are no hidden transactions or surreptitious suppression of facts that belong to the full membership.

We want to see a Chamber of Commerce that will not hide the fact from anyone that contract has been entered into involving the expenditure of thousands of dollars; that a heavy debt has been piled up that must be liquidated from funds that the members are to go towards a bigger and better program. We want to see a Chamber of Commerce that will build on fact and not on theory. Under the present secretary, not one single constructive act can be pointed to. Time and money have been wasted on non-essentials, such as the naming of a city flower, a house survey, a thought survey and like nonsense.

What was done for the reduction of freight rates, for reduced passenger rates, better train service, for the Strahorn railroad, for the Modoc Northern, the Natron cut-off, to induce the Western Pacific to come in. Crater Lake and its development? "Where has a single dollar been added to the payrolls of the county, or a single farmer placed on a ranch?"

We are told that these are material things, entirely beneath the serious consideration of a modern Chamber of Commerce. That if we have a civic center, parks, play grounds, paving, a city flower, endless surveys, all the rest will follow. That we will have a contented community and this will attract the manufacturer, the railroads, the tourists and the rancher. This may all be true, but we can't see it. Give us the railroads, the factories, the highways, developed tourist attraction, and then you will see the others follow. But that is not the program for the future. We must have the frills and fancies first, and wait for the other. This is what you are asked to contribute your money for, and if you can make this kind of an idealistic dream fit in with your ideas of a Chamber of Commerce, you will contribute; if you can't, then you will see that a change of program is effected and some practical results secured.

Plan For Rodeo At Bly July 2, 3 and 4; Bad Horses Ridden

Try-outs, for the Bly Rodeo were held Sunday afternoon. The association asked all to bring their "best buckers" and the material furnished speaks well for the success of the coming round-up.

Among the horses ridden were: "Rainbow" and "Square Deal," ridden by Luke Chester; "Black Diamond," ridden by Selby Lawner;

"Headache," ridden by Roland Jackson; "Brownie," ridden by Roy Wilson, and "Whirl-Wind," "Kaiser Bill," and the "Wood-river Black," ridden by Lester Hickson. All the boys put up good rides, but special mention should be given to Lester Hickson for his splendid ride on the Wood-river Black. This horse can buck as hard as some of the "out-laws" now belonging to the association.

Immediately after the bucking, there was an important meeting of the big rodeo association held for the purpose of closing last year's business, electing new officers and making plans for the rodeo to be given July 2, 3 and 4.

The following officers were elected: President, James Givan; Vice president, Water Campbell; Directors, Ern Givan, James Bell and Lawrence Griffin; Secretary, Joanna Givan; Stenographer, Inez Givan; Treasurer, Marvin Cross.

Arrangements for the rodeo were discussed at length and according to the plans outlined the rodeo will be one of the biggest affairs ever given in this section of the country.

OTTOMAN-RAJNUS

WEDDING AT MALIN

MALIN, April 20.—The marriage of James Ottoman to Marie Rajnus on Saturday, came as a surprise to their many friends in and around Malin. The bride and bridegroom are both very well known here, as they have resided here for twelve years.

The bridegroom recently completed a course in creamery and dairying. He is now employed by the Hawkins Dairy of Klamath Falls. The newlyweds will make their home on Conger avenue in Klamath Falls.

THE STAR THEATRE

Tonight the Jolly Dick Lonsdale Co. offers "Ole's Mistake," a real comedy scream, with musical numbers interpolated.

A cast of exceptional worth supports Enid Bennett in "Her Husband's Friend," which is to be the picture attraction at the Star Theatre tonight only.

The story was adapted to the screen from Marjorie Benton Cooke's famous novel, "The Incubus." Miss Bennett's role is that of a young wife who, when she becomes a widow, is unaware that her husband's best friend had promised to care for her. Neither have met and while the young widow believes that the money she receives regularly comes from her husband's estate, the friend soon begins to squirm under the burden imposed on him. They meet in queer circumstances and presto! Cupid gets busy. How they travel the road of love makes a highly entertaining story.
