CUB'S WORRY WAS NEEDLESS

D. A. Kenyon, boss of the O. K. Smithy, was around betimes this morning and said he wanted to show the Herald scribe "something wonderful." He was very mysterious about it all, but finally persuaded the cub to entrust his person to the tender mercies of a Ford car and start forth on the mission of observation.

Dave swung down Sixth street, where all the big bumps are, and hit a swift clip.

"Breakers ahead," yelled the cub. "Slow down," and he grabbed the bottom of the seat with both hands and braced for bumps. Anyone who has driven over the Sixth street paying, dodging the chaams, knows just how he felt.

The darn fool neither slowed nor swerved and, miraculously enough, nothing happened. Dave held a straight course amid the crawling big boats that were seeking the smooth going; stopped not for the crossings and made no halt until he passed the Ewauna factory. Then he slowed up, grinned and turned all hands out to look at the rear springs.

There'll be no technical description of springs that the Ford was slung upon, but they deliver the goods. Dave said they are manufactured by the Trans-Lever Spring company, of Detroit, Michigan, a new concern with a new idea in shock absorption. The O. K. Blacksmith shop, 439 Sixth street, has just taken the agency for this territory. So sure is Mr. Kenyon that they will satisfy that he will put them on any Ford car—they fit no other—for ten days' trial and remove them without cost if the owner is not satisfied.

"Did I show you something," inquired the agent, after a faster clip back in which he hit the biggest bumps he could find.

The scribe admitted that the demonstration would have satisfied the oldest inhabitant of Missouri.

Peppers-Cotton Co. Opens Log Camps

MACDOEL, Cal., April 27.—The Peppers-Cotton Lumber company started logging for the 1921 cut yesterday.

About 150 men are employed in these operations under Woods Superintendent Thomas Feehan. They will cut and transfer to the sawmill at the rate of about 150,000 feet per day.

The first trainload of lumber to be shipped over the company's new railroad has arrived here. This new line, which will be eighteen miles in length when completed, has already reached the sawmill, eight miles west of this place.

THE STAR

Yesterday a pessimist handed me a hard times, down-at-the-mouth story and I told him to go see Jolly Dick Lonsdale's company; and last night he did, and I did, and I wished that he hadn't or I hadn't, because he sat in front of me and he's big and I'm not.

You should have heard that man laugh! But then, when Ole gets going—well, he's really funny and everybody gets into a good mood—right off. But the mood isn't everything. You're really getting clever entertainment.

Winsome Inelda Montague unconsciously and without effort, makes herself very worth while as leading lady.

Mr. Ed. Russell and Miss Mira Mo-kinney (it's hard to conceal the latter's good looks under grease paint) play the character parts in a well balanced and creditable manner.

And then there's Mr. Al Borde—leading man. He's an exceedingly welcome addition to the Lonsdale company, both historically and ocularly.

Altogether, the show went over big, with lots of pep and heaps of laughs. Remember that when you have Black Butterflies and want to mope (other times you don't have to be reminded, you know it) there's Paramount pictures and good vaudeville at The Star.
