KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1921

FIGHTING WAXES WARM THROUT SILESIAN AREA

OPPELIN, Silesia, May 6.—Two hundred Silesian soldiers, commanded by Colonel Bond, of the British army, evacuated Gross Strehlitz, 20 miles southeast of here, last night, while the town was under heavy artillery fire from Polish insurgents.

Colonel Bond urged the allied command to send reinforcements. French officials here reported they were unable to furnish more soldiers, being short of men in the plebiscite zone.

The Poles are reported to be in possession of the entire eastern section of Silesia as far north as Rosenberg. Fighting is still going on at Rybnik in southern Silesia.

Organization is being contemplated of 5,000 Upper Silesian Germans as civilian police to reinforce the entire troops.

One French soldier was killed and two wounded and several Italians wounded in the fighting at Gross Strehlitz. The Poles after entering the city agreed to permit the entente and local troops to remain in their barracks. The interallied representative is expected to arrive today to negotiate with the insurgents. The insurgents are reported to be forcibly recruiting males, including the Germans.

WARSAW, May 6.—Unconfirmed reports received here say that Adalbert Korfanty, former Polish plebiscite commander in Upper Silesia, who has proclaimed himself leader of the Polish insurgents, has been arrested by the inter-allied plebiscite commission, together with his entire staff.

TWO PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO BURGLARY CHARGES
Arthur Starrs and Fred Kemke entered pleas of not guilty in the circuit court late yesterday to the burglary charge, which followed the holdup of the O. M. Young rooming house on Oak street several months ago. Starrs also pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. He is alleged to have used a gun in hold-up operations.

Independence Plea Presented Board By the Filipinos
MANILA, P. I., May 6.—Major General Leonard Wood and Cameron Forbes, former governor of the Philippines, named by President Harding as a special mission to investigate conditions in the Philippines settled down to work immediately upon their arrival. They will hold hearings for four hours each day.

One of the first matters brought before the commission was the petition of Filipinos for independent government.

Sleuths Outwit Chinese Gamblers
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 6.—The Chinatown squad of the San Francisco police engaged in a battle of guile with Chinese recently—stole a chapter from Bret Harte's "Heathen Chinese," whose principal characteristics were "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain"—and emerged victorious.

The police had information that Chinese, fearing to gamble in their homes because of the squad's activities, had shifted to the inside of closed limousines parked along the curb. Efforts to trap them were blocked by lookouts.

Two police detectives disguised themselves as mourners in a Chinese funeral procession. Scattering "devil papers" in their paths, they mourned until they drew alongside of a luxurious limousine. Eight Chinese were found gambling behind drawn curtains. They were arrested.

Plan New Bridge Across Williamson
R. C. Spink left this afternoon for Chiloquin with two bridge carpenters, to make estimates and plans for the new bridge across the Williamson river, on the west side of Chiloquin. By building this bridge and building a connecting highway, the present detour will be straightened and direct entrance into the town gained over a road with a high, dry surface and a much better grade than the old road, according to Mr. Spink.

His interest in the matter is the development of the new West Chiloquin townsite, that is being placed on the market by Abraham Charlie. He is the sales agent for the owner.

A logging crew is getting out timber for the bridge piers and stringers, which will be sawed at the government mill. Other bridge material will be gotten out as soon as the mill starts, which will be within 15 days it is expected.

GENERAL FOCH

RESIGNATION OF POLICEMAN ASKED

The resignation of James Hilton was demanded by Mayor Wiley last evening, on the ground that Hilton had failed to co-operate with the mayor or Chief of Police Wilson, had failed to report to the police chief and had sought to undermine the administration in various political ways.

Hilton delivered his star and keys to Chief Wilson this afternoon. The situation that culminated in the demand for the patrolman's resignation is an outgrowth of the differences between the mayor and council over the conduct of the police force. Hilton is said to have espoused the council's side of the controversy and refused to recognize the authority of Chief Wilson, the mayor's appointee as head of the department, whose appointment is being consistently resisted by three members of the council whenever opportunity arises.

Mayor Wiley said today that he felt that the city's welfare was being impeded in the matter of police protection by the dissemination in the department, where politics should have no part. He felt that Hilton's course had been antagonistic and his removal was necessary in the interests of harmony and effectiveness.

Hilton maintained that he had not sought to harm the administration or injure its efficiency.

Blames Producers For Fluctuations In Livestock Prices

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Fluctuations in the livestock market are largely due to the unscientific marketing by the producers, and the real trouble at the base of the question is not so much the packers problem as the producers' problem, Thomas E. Wilson, president of the institute of American meat packers, told the house committee on agriculture in opposing the Norris-McLaughlin bill to control the packing industry.

COMEDY HIT COMING WITH CHAUTAUQUA

"It Pays to Advertise" the comedy success which is to be presented at Chautauqua on the fourth night by the Keighley New York Players, is absolutely clean and wholesome. This fact combined with the rich Americanism of its humor, the rapid-fire idioms contained in the dialogue and the many clever situations effected, marked its New York production as the most successful comedy drama in years.

The story is told with a contagious verve and vigor and the dialogue is written with a real feeling for that particular type of humor that has been recognized as purely American since the days of Ben Franklin.

The New York Sun says, "Before the company has been before you two minutes the play will reach out after you and tap you genially on the back, and you will be aware of a warm, comfortable feeling that will cause you to settle back contentedly, with complete trust that it is going to keep you jovial and interested to the whole evening. It makes fun of advertising but is one of the best ads the advertising man can have."

The central character is soaked in the gospel of advertising. He claims that the reason we eat hen's eggs instead of ducks' eggs is because the hen advertises her product.

The refreshingly clean tone and genial humanity of "It Pays to Advertise" will mark it as one of the big features of the entire program.

Local publicity, junior Chautauqua and ticket committees have been organized, with E. R. Danner, Mrs. Laurence K. Phelps and E. M. Chilcote as chairmen, respectively. They will add to their working forces by other appointments within the next few days.

Officers of the main organization are W. S. Slough, president; Capt. O. C. Applegate, vice president; Bert C. Thomas, secretary, and E. M. Chilcote, treasurer. The officers compose the committee on grounds.

The Chautauqua opens May 24 and closes May 29.

WEATHER REPORT
OREGON—Tonight and Saturday, fair; cooler tonight in east portion; light to heavy frost in east portion in early morning.

CASING NEARLY DOWN; RESUME DRILLING SOON

Thirty-one feet more of casing remain to be driven in the Klamath Oil company's well, and it is expected the water flow will be shut out. Apparently the hole is fairly clear for the remaining 31 feet. The reamer was being used this morning, but it was reported by those who had been out to the well that there was slight obstruction to be overcome and the casing is expected to be down tomorrow to the depth of 1465 feet. Here it strikes a tough clay formation that will give a firm foundation for the foot of the casing and prevent the water from leaking in around the bottom.

The 1465 foot depth is not the bottom of the hole, which is down about 1590 feet, but it is past all the water levels and the clay formation makes an ideal setting for the bottom of the casing.

The next step is to cement in the top of the hole to keep the casing from lifting if a heavy flow of gas and oil is struck.

The cap for the well will be set and all will be in readiness to check the escaping oil should the drill strike the body that it is hoped lies only a few feet further from the bottom of the hole.

All told, this means about a week's work before the drilling is resumed. After the drill starts it will be but a short time, it is hoped, until the real oil body is struck.

The reamer in the past few days has come to the surface with a coating of oil and asphalt upon it, it is said, and the gas escapes in volumes whenever the tools are lifted.

Around the First State and Savings bank there is an atmosphere of nervous tension, masked with smiles. For nearly a year and a half Captain Siemens and his associates have been engaged in putting down the well, meeting and overcoming numerous obstacles and temporary setbacks. They believe they have a profitable oil well, probably a gusher, "coming up" and with the end of operations in sight, pardonable anxiety for the hastening of the showdown is evident.

Hits Sand Pile on Bicycle; Goes Over Bank; Ankle Broken

Clyde Poole, aged 12 years, son of Mrs. Gladys Poole of Mills addition, has his ankle fractured last evening when his bicycle, deflected from its course by a pile of sand, plunged over the 17 foot embankment on Pine street in the rear of the Elks temple and landed wheel and rider in the tennis court below.

The bicycle landed on top of the rider, who was badly shaken up. He was rescued by passers by. Medical examination revealed bad bruises and the fractured ankle.

The boy coasted down the Pine street hill. His bicycle had a poor brake. It attained a high speed by the time it reached Pine street and when it struck the sand pile the rider quickly lost control.

Business Women's Meeting Tonight

The Business Women's club of Klamath Falls will hold its regular meeting tonight at the chamber of commerce rooms. Reports of committee appointed last week to secure club rooms will be heard. Communications from the state federation of business women clubs will be discussed, and possibly a delegation will be named to attend the Portland conference next month.

Appointments recently made to complete representation of various professions on the local council are: Florence Bradley, of the Bluebird; Mrs. J. R. Hershberger, of the restaurant employees; Mrs. C. E. Huffman, from Hector's store; Velma Meredith, from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph office, and Mrs. Lula Hutchins, from the post office.

All business women of the city are urged to attend tonight's meeting, prepared to actively share in the work that the organization aims to accomplish.

Charles Lenz, a Fort Klamath rancher, is in town for a few days.

Weather Probabilities

The barometric pressure, as recorded by the Cyclo-Stormograph at Underwood's Pharmacy, has remained practically unchanged for the past 24 hours, although there has been a slight rise since 7 o'clock this morning. Indications favor a continuance of present weather conditions for at least twelve hours.

Forecast for next 24 hours: Generally fair, with brisk winds which will diminish.
