

PEOPLE MUST TAKE INTEREST

A large and interested audience yesterday afternoon heard Dr. E. C. Perlisho at the Chautauqua, deal with the subject, "The Problems of Today," and approved the views of the speaker.

In the beginning of his address Dr. Perlisho asked the audience why it was that the general run of the public pay such little attention to things about which they are totally ignorant; should not the legislative bodies such as Congress, reflect the public sentiment of the people, and that until the time comes when careful study gives the people a clear viewpoint of the objectives of laws, there can be no really intelligent reflection from the public. Which proposition is the best one to follow, allow the legislative bodies to enact and pass laws, then criticize, or to participate in the initial program, study the problem and assist the law makers by giving intelligent advice upon these points. Dr. Perlisho was devoting his time as a lecturer to fully arouse the people to their position and to get them to deal with the everyday problems.

That conditions were alarming at the time when President Harding took over the reins of government, the calling of an extra session of the 67th Congress to deal with problems absolutely vital to the people, namely, taxation, to which no reference was made by the speaker; the tariff, President Harding giving immediate attention by securing the passage of an emergency tariff; the railroads and the labor problems, also the transportation, costs and such; food production and distribution, and the fifth and most vital of all, the proper recognition of our ex-service men, were measures that every person was concerned in.

Upon all these matters, the lecturer dwelt with an accuracy of statistics, and among the subjects that Dr. Perlisho touched upon, bearing upon this individual community was the statement that buried in America and Europe were 119,000 of the pick and flower of American manhood, and at home were 150,000 cripples, from the great World war. The latter were not asking for "charity," but did ask for the right to receive vocational training so as to be self supporting. In discussing that point, Dr. Perlisho referred to the splendid proposition that the state of Oregon is preparing to give the ex-service men in the matter of the tule lands.

Dr. Perlisho received many compliments from the audience, especially the ex-service men, who were vitally interested in the Oregon Bonus law.

The success of many a salesman's proposition depends on his disposition.

Two old-time prospectors recently reported at the county recorder's office in Denver and staked a gold claim in the heart of the city. They say they struck a rich vein in the ground beneath the City Hall, the Union Station and other centers of the business district.
