One of the most delightful presentations of the season was given last night at the Sacred Heart Academy when the audience enjoyed an evening with the American composers as presented by the younger pupils of Sister Angelica. The music room was prettily decorated with seasonable blossoms and ferns and a patriotic appearance was given by the draping of American flags. The Star Spangled Banner was beautifully rendered by the opening number by a large chorus with violin accompaniments by Walter Hannon, 1st violin; Anita Lawrence, 2nd violin; David Totten, 3rd violin, and Opal Cardwell, piano. In the rendition of the numbers which followed each pupil played exceptionally well for their ages, showing good technique and finish and also a musical understanding. After the program, which is published below, Father J. V. Malloy addressed the audience with special advice to the parents on the value of hours of practice for the music students who hope to become the future American composers:

Accidents Late in the Day. Dr. E. Guth of Berlin proves by statistics in the Zentralblatt fuer Gewerbehygiene, that accidents occur more frequently in the last working hours, being also of a more serious nature. Considering this increase in accidents, and the decrease in work done during the last working hours, he concludes that not only workmen, but also employers have interest in reducing the number of working hours.

A Series of Human Interest Talks on Insurance

"FULLY INSURED".

The excuse often given for not taking out insurance is this, "I am fully insured."

And yet, when protection is badly needed—when insurance could stave off business disaster or make profitable expansion possible, thousands of men find that they are not "fully insured."

When the merchant finds the store on fire with a small amount of fire insurance—it's too late to get "fully insured."

When the doctor says "too bad you didn't apply for life insurance sooner"—it's too late to get full protection for your family.

With our large line of policies I am able to make proper recommendation for your case.

SOME STORAGE BATTERY FACTS: You might as well say that you can buy an automobile for $200 as to say that you can buy a battery for $30. One signifies just as much as the other. Voltage counts for nothing when it comes to the capacity of a battery. The ampre hour capacity is what counts. The larger the battery the greater the ampre hour capacity and necessarily the greater the cost. We could build you a six volt battery for $2 that you could wear for a watch charm, it wouldn't run your car but it would be six volts just the same. Investigate LUTHY it will pay.
