PHONE METER TO ELIMINATE TOO TALKATIVE

Those who "listen in" on party lines or who hold long and frivolous conversations should beware of the telechro-ne, alias one minute.

The telechro-ne is something brand new, and if Charles Hall and Frank W. Keeler have their way, there will be a factory built in Oregon to manufacture telechronometers, although the Seattle chamber of commerce wants the infant industry in that city. The American Telephone Meter company was incorporated Saturday when papers were filed at Olympia. Monday the papers were filed at Salem so that the company can do business in Oregon.

Garrison Babcock of Chicago, inventor of the apparatus, is president, and the directors are W. N. Winter, president of the Puget Sound Telephone company, and president of the Security National bank; Frank W. Keeler of Keeler Bros., bond dealers of Portland and Denver, and Charles Hall, state senator and president of the First National bank of Klamath Falls, president of the Coos & Curry Telephone company and president of the Oregon state chamber of commerce.

Talk-Pests to Be Tamed
The telechro-nometer is a little apparatus like the gas meter which registers the number of minutes that a person talks on a telephone. The basic idea is that the consumer pays for exactly what he gets, the same as metered water, gas or electricity. Since October a score of the instruments have been in operation at Everett, Wash., where they have been tested and worked out. Some $600 of the meters will be installed in Everett within four months. Public service commissions in Washington and California are much interested in the device.

According to Senator Hall, with the telechro-nometer 50 per cent of the telephone users will be benefited, while the remaining 50 per cent who are great users of the phone will have to pay much more than they do now. The average person uses a telephone infrequently, but has to pay as much as some telephone pests. On a telechro-ne basis, a telephone user will pay per minute. A flat rate of, say, 75 cents a month for the phone, and then, possibly, 1 cent a minute when the phone is in use.

Independent Companies Solicited
The new corporation plans trying to sell the telechro-nometers to the independent telephone companies of the country, which represent about 4,000,000 of the 12,000,000 phones in America. As Messrs Hall and Keeler are the controlling factors in the corporation they are insisting that the factory for building the meters be established in this state.

When a receiver is taken down and central answers, the meter registers every 15 seconds. It will accurately record, according to Senator Hall, the time user by the telephone. The rate per telechro-ne will have to be established by the public commission, and with increased business of a telephone company, the rate may have to be changed from month to month, with this benefit to the patron—that increased volume of business will mean lower rates and better service, for conversations on the telephone will be snappy except for spendthrifts.

Why We Should Buy Made-in-Klamath Falls Products

THE prosperity of a city is dependent largely upon its industries. If employment is available, the labor problem and many others correlated, solve themselves.

The people of Klamath owe Klamath their loyal and steadfast support. To support Klamath means to support its industries, which in turn is a support of its citizens.

In the interest of prosperity and a greater Klamath, it is the duty of every citizen to give preference to our home factories and products—not on the ground of sentiment, but as a pure business proposition.

The net result of general support in this line will be continued prosperity for Klamath.
