Business Women Hold Successful Meeting

The banquet given by the Business Women's club last evening was a great success. The program was most interesting and greatly enjoyed by the large crowd who attended.

Miss Clara Calkins, the president, gave a talk on "Women's Sphere," which was interesting as well as instructive. Miss Lauretta Jennings read a letter from the president of the Marshfield club which showed the wonderful work that organization has done and helped to give the Klamath Falls club a clearer idea of work which might be done here.

The following characters were represented, Miss Verda Cozad making the introductory speech: An Old Fashioned Girl, Marjorie Deizell; Stenographer, Loretta Jennings; Suffragette, Mary Pflueger; Working and Box Factory Girl, Grace Farrand; Modern Business Woman, Madge Dixon.

Miss Grace Farrand made a very favorable impression when she executed an Irish jig.

The Melodee quartette entertained with two beautiful selections.

Several impromptu speeches were delivered by various members.

The evening closed with a speech by Mrs. Charles Wood Eberlein, on Responsibility, which was one of the best numbers on the programme.

The next meeting will be a regular business session to be held Friday, June 17, and it is hoped that all who attended the banquet will also attend the meeting and bring some one else.

At the Theaters

THE STAR

If you think that "Toujours de l'Audace," which means "always audacious" is a good motto when applied to crime, you have another guess coming, as Wallace Reid proves in his admirable Paramount photoplay "Always Audacious," which shows at the Star Theatre again tonight.

Talk about thrills—I haven't got through thrilling yet. This dramatic story of a crook who, because he is the prototype of a society man of wealth, shanghai's him and assumes his station in life, is exceptionally well adapted for the screen.

To tell the story of "Always Audacious" and to reveal the amazing climax, would be doing film fans an injustice. They must see the picture to enjoy its beauty. Margaret Loomis heads a great supporting company. The picture was directed by James Cruze with signal success. The story was written by Ben Ames Williams and adapted by Tom Geraghty.

LIBERTY

She built air castles in a dingy scullery, yet Connie McGill saw them come true. For she was different, and though she was made a fool by crooks, her presence of mind saved the situation at the right moment. See how her lost slipper became the

THE MONDALE

Last night at the Mondale Theatre, Seymour and Dupree presented a very clever sketch for the large audience present, a playlet that had many amusing as well as musical parts in it. The team presented a Chinese skit in which a Chinese house-boy shows his mistress how to play many musical instruments. This sketch has been presented in Europe. The couple playing it have spent 14 years in foreign travel and Seymour is somewhat of a linguist, speaking 7 different tongues.

Tonight Douglas Fairbanks will be seen in "Flirting With Fate," and added will be two reels of comedies besides the vaudeville.
