DEMPSEY SOCKS IT—CARP MAKES MUSIC

JACK DEMPSEY (TOP) AND GEORGES CARPENTIER (BOTTOM) WHANGING THE LEATH- ER. JACK OFTEN KNOCKS THE BAG LOOSE FROM ITS MOOR- INGS WHILE GEORGES' FAVOR- ITES PASTIME IS MAKING A MUS- ICAL TATTOO.

BY MAX HALTHASAR
ATLANTIC CITY, June 10.—Just four weeks more and Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier will strip for the title bout at Jersey city.

Yet it is still impossible to get a real line on either of them owing to their unusual methods of work.

A barbed wire fence surrounds the Frenchman in mystery four days in a week. Dempsey is going along at an easy pace.

It's hard to "peg" them as fighters.

That Carpentier is in the better physical condition there is no denying. Four days after his arrival he appeared fit to make his trial championship fight after a fortnight more of work.

How good he is with the gloves is another question.

A little work with his sparring partners was figured sufficient to fit him in the matter of judging distance and getting his punch keyed up to the proper pitch.

Easy work for the first two weeks and then intensive training for the remaining period was the supposed order.

But there are several rifts in the Frenchman's lute now.

It is the mental strain under which he and his camp mates have that something untoward may happen to the idol of France before the battle.

The first indication of this feeling was the barricade of barbed wire.

The excuse was given that Georges cannot stand visitors.

But what the real reason is may not be disclosed until the challenger throws off his flossy dressing gown and steps to the center of the ring to face the black muzzled Dempsey.

The feeling of tenseness in the Carpentier camp has been equalled only by its confidence.

There is no concern on that score.

From Carpentier down to the low-liest rubber the feeling is deep and sincere that Dempsey will be shorn of his crown—if not by a knock-out, then on points.

Dempsey will never catch Georges. The hired hands say, "and our man will be so smart and so fast that we feel sure that he will find the American with his hardestst punch under which no living mortal can stand up."

This much can be said of Carpentier: He is fit today—speed, unusual strength for a man of his pounds, good wind and an abundance of confidence.

And he won't grow stale, Descamps will see that he doesn't.

As to Dempsey—he has been taking things easy.

Lack of suitable sparring partners is one reason. None of them can give him a real workout.

The big fellows are too slow and lumbering. The smaller ones are too light to benefit him much.

True, he shows great strength with the big men. He handles them like they were children. But they are far from being Carpentiers.

In his boxing Dempsey is using a, let hand, shooting it into the stomach and hooking it to the chin with the same movement.

His fault is that he "slings" his fist into his opponent instead of punching with it straight.

Every time he lets his fist go in this fashion he leaves himself open to a straight right to the chin. And according to those who know the Frenchman's style best, he is master of just such a short blow.

So comparing the two ring rivals today Carpentier is in better shape than the champion. But little more improvement can be expected of him.

Dempsey, on the contrary, has ample time to come along. Plenty of work will bring him up to the highest notch of physical perfection.

NINE INNINGS OF FAST BALL FOR SUNDAY

Nine full innings are scheduled for the fans Sunday afternoon at Modoc Park when the baseball teams of the Copco and Ewauna meet to decide which shall remain in the "cellar" with a goose egg percentage, the winner to have a credit of .333 per cent.

The Copco team says that it will be "shocking" the way they take the mill team into camp, in fact, the settlement of the game, so far as they are concerned, is all over, the game is safely tucked in their vest pocket now. And the team waves that kind of a "red flag" right in the faces of the mill workers—to their own satisfaction.

But a stray reporter from the Herald overheard a conversation regarding the Sunday game and wanting to bring glory unto himself, played the part of a Sherlock Holmes Jr., and this was the conversation passed between two Ewauna players:

"Allen is on the slab for the Copcos Sunday and while he is there with a lot of stuff, still he is not a super

Athlete Pushes Way to Fame

August Deuch had much trouble getting into Notre Dame College, in 1919, because of crowded classes. He was insistent and finally was admitted. Now he's athletic hero at the college. He recently broke the world's 440-yard low hurdle mark. The Junior class elected him class president.

man, not by a long shot. Now listen, tell him 'to put 'em over in Klamath county somewhere within reach of your bat'—and then smile a little. Everytime he puts one over, ask him if he forgot his specs, and soon you will see him nearly twist the hide off that ball. Keep at him; well, you will get his goat, I know!"

"Are you sure that it will work on Allen? I hear that he is steady as clock work," said the second party.

"Will it work? I say it will and when the fans all stretch in the 7th inning, and begin to wake up and root a bit, that boy will be our meat. But listen to this—if he does not take the 'rise,' why just begin to pick out some of those straight balls he slams over and plant it it somewhere about one mile this side of Crater Lake. That will get him, as he is proud of his record—no homers off his delivery this season."

That much of the deep laid plot the reporter heard but the balance was lost as the managers of the "home brew" league came along and took their erring husbands back to the week's washing that was being sadly neglected. The only way to find out if the "plot" worked is to be at Modoc Park Sunday at 2 p. m.

Hilton Makes Good Showing With Oaks

Earl Hilton, local twirler, who signed up this spring with the Oakland club in the Coast league, is back from Vancouver and playing regularly with the Oaks. Hilton showed up well in the game with Vernon Thursday, although he went in in the fifth inning after all the damage was done. Vernon won, 9 to 2, but gleaned but one tally off Hilton. A dispatch on the game to a San Francisco paper says:

Young Hilton finished the game and did fairly well, all things considered, but he went to work too late, for the spoils were in long before his arrival.
