

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

A good many young men will hang this summer—on front gates.

Some people consider it wrong to marry for money, yet all ministers do.

There never was a war in which each side couldn't prove the other the aggressor.

What a glorious world this would be if the ice-man would only deliver opportunity at the door.

A dull minister in the pulpit is a sore trial, but the soprano in the choir is apt to be a soarer.

When you hear a woman say that she is on the sunny side of 40 it means that she is trying to keep her age shady.

The individual who tells the truth with deliberate carefulness isn't believed half as often as the fellow who can lie gracefully.

A silent man is always worth listening to.

The less advice a man hands out the more listeners he will have.

There are some widows who will not flirt—but they are usually deaf and dumb.

If half the average man's prayers were answered it would add to his troubles.

The Polite Bride
At a wedding recently, when the clergyman asked the bride, "Wilt thou have the man to be thy wedded husband?" she, with a modesty which lent her beauty an additional grace, replied, "If you please."— Temple Topics.

And, such is fate, when a bride is as nice as that, she invariably hooks up with a man who, when it comes his time to answer the clergyman's query, takes a quid of scrap tobacco out of his face, throws it in the corner of the church and says: "Hell, yes."

L. L. Gaghagan, J. P., says that he believes that a lot of Klamath Falls citizens are in favor of beating our swords into oil shares.

A Chicago man who was suing for divorce testified that while he was driving an auto with his wife and another man in the back seat he heard the man kiss her. The agents for that car should use this testimony as a selling argument.

And I'm surely going to go."

"A newspaper columnist," says one of the tribe," should be at once poet, philosopher, humorist and sage."
To which we fain would add, "And either a diplomat or a darned good scrapper."

A sign in a Main street window announced "Pants Week." We frankly admit that ours are. They are a little thin even for hot weather.

Curious reader asks a New York paper for a definition of the unwritten law. That's an easy one. The unwritten law is that which keeps one person from asking another for the two-bits the one lent the other.

Yes, Jasper, the artist is the only man who can draw a stein of beer these days.

A surgeon has performed an operation to give a babe, born without ears, a pair of them. If it was only a girl instead of a boy, its mother could have done its hair up in "ear buns" and saved the expense of an operation.

ROBINSON, I WISH YOU'D LOOK IN THE DICTIONARY AND SEE WHAT IS THE EXACT DEFINITION OF THE WORD "CUSPIDOR".

HERE IT IS, MR. TRUB. IT SAYS: "CUSPIDOR—A RECEPTACLE FOR..."

READ IT TO YOURSELF AND SEE IF YOU CAN REMEMBER IT!!!

The sum and substance of the Bergdoll question seems to be that everybody has been caught and punished except Grover, himself.

A Fable: Once upon a time there was a conductor of a would-be-funny column who did not try to write something funny about the Einstein Theory.
