WARREN BROS. WILL HOLD CITY TO ITS BARGAIN

The common council met last night and after the transaction of current business, such as introduction of permits and applications, took up the question of paving.

The paving of High street from Sixth to Eighth, Sixth from Pine to High and Seventh street from Pine to Washington by the Warren Construction company brought up some opposition from property owners. A. J. Lyle leading in the opposition.

Two weeks ago the Warren construction company was petitioned to abrogate their contract for this paving.

Last night, John Shewry, local manager and a representative from the Portland office, A. M. Shannon, field agent, appeared before council and stated that they would hold the property owners and city to the contract and that was final. He said the bonds were sold and the company was ready to do the work. Owing to the vigorous protest, the council rejected all bids except the portion on Washington from First to Ewauna, a companion unit to the one protested, which was accepted.

The council passed the ordinance to improve Eleventh from Main to Klamath avenue including the intersections, the cost estimated at $6,345.65, pavement of either concrete, bitulithic, willite or asphaltic concrete. No protest was raised on the passage of the ordinance.

Ordinances which passed the second reading last evening were:

Improvement of High street from Third to the westerly line of Cedar. High to Pine streets including the intersection; Washington in an easterly line to Third street then to the easterly line of Fifth, including the Fourth and Fifth streets intersections; South Riverside from the west end of Main street to the city limits and west on Main from end of pavement at Conger avenue to westerly line of South Riverside. Including intersections; Jefferson street from Third to Fifth, and Fifth street from Jefferson to Sixth. Including intersections; High street from Third to Sixth and Fourth street from Pine to Jefferson including intersections. Determination of these ordinances will come up Monday, June 20, for final reading and passage.

A permit to operate a rooming house at 313 Grant avenue, was granted to Mrs. Pearson; a permit to erect a sign in front of the Hawkins dairy was granted and the Fourth of July committee, a permit to use a portion of the water front for the construction of a "battleship" for the celebration.

Councilmen Bogardus, Vollmer, West and Fire Chief Ambrose were named a committee to confer with the fireworks dealers in regard to the sale of fireworks.

Certain amendments to the ordinances referring to licenses were postponed until next meeting.

Boy Scouts Off For Lava Beds Tomorrow

Preliminary announcement is made that the troop will leave in the afternoon in automobiles and that the beds will be thoroughly explored and the historical points described by Capt. O. C. Applegate. No definite details were given out this afternoon.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLES WOLF HELD TODAY

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, at the Whitlock chapel, for Charles M. Wolf, lumber camp employee who died Sunday at the Warren Hunt hospital. B. R. Wolf, of Yuba City, Cal., brother of the decedent, came here and arranged for the funeral.

Mrs. Tell is a niece of Mrs. Davenport's and expects to remain here for the summer.

Mrs. Francis Mulkey of Eugene, arrived here last night on her way to Bly to spend the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Dixon.

Miss Lucile Marshall arrived last night from Medford for a visit with Mrs. J. E. Hoaking. Miss Marshall plans on spending about three weeks here with friends she made while teaching in the local schools before her removal to Medford.

Willful Trio Speed City Toward Lawsuit

council. There was no honorable way open to the city but to accept the bid for the bonds, as it did, a few months after, on the Washington street improvement, and proceed with the improvement.

Any novice in the realm of business is well aware of the fact that an offer of one party and a valid acceptance on the part of the other party constitute, in law, a contract binding on both alike in the absence of fraud. True, the consummation of this particular agreement hinged upon the sale of the bonds. Had the council not received a valid bid for the bonds or a bid had been received for less than par—in which latter event the council could not have accepted because of the charter prohibition—then there would have been no opportunity to consummate the contract.

The council had carried the proceedings looking to the making of this improvement—upon petition of the property owners, and without remonstrance or objection—to a point where it had involved the city in a contract, which was repudiated last evening by the negative votes of Bogardus, McCollum and Vollmer to the discredit of the city. The Warren Construction company do business on business principles—at least that is their reputation—and in all likelihood will sue to recover whatever damages they may consider they have suffered because of the repudiation by Bogardus, McCollum and Vollmer, assuming to represent the city because they have a majority vote in the council.

In the event of a recovery, which is highly probable, the payment of the judgment whatever it may be falls—not upon the property owners invoking the repudiation—but upon the city as a whole.

The Herald holds no brief for the Warren Construction company, but is deeply and vitally interested in the present future standing of this city.

Illinois Man Dies At Son's Home Here

Greenville M. Wiard, 74 years old, retired jeweler, died last night at the home of his son, A. J. Wiard, 305 Pine street. He was also the father of Mrs. Paul Bamford of Denver, Colo., and Ross Willard, of Chicago.

The decedent was a native of Illinois. For several years he had been a frequent visitor here, it being his custom to divide each year into visits with his children.

The funeral will be held from the Whitlock chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Arthur Rice officiating.
