At the Theaters

THE STAR

We desire to call to your attention the forthcoming display tonight at the Star theatre, of William DeMille's superb Paramount picture, "Conrad in Quest of His Youth," starring the ever popular Thomas Meighan. We believe this to be one of the most important screen presentations we have offered our clientele this season.

The story of "Conrad in Quest of His Youth," written by Leonard Merrick, is most beautiful and appealing, and the artistry of the production cannot be excelled. The theme has to do with a man of middle age who believes himself to be old and who goes in quest of his vanished youth, only to discover after numerous disappointments that one is young only when one loves and is loved.

When we tell you that this new De Mille picture is as delightful as it is artistic in investiture, portrayal and photography, we are not exaggerating. Mr. Meighan's support is unusually clever, the leading woman being charming Margaret Loomis who was seen in "Everywoman," "The Sins of St. Anthony" and other Paramount successes. Such players as Kathryn Williams, Sylvia Ashton, Mabel Van Buren, May Kello, Bertram Johns, and Charles Ogilvie complete the cast. We think you will heartily enjoy this picture.

THE LIBERTY

A torrent of water roaring through the tunnels of a gold mine hundreds of feet below the surface.

The spectacle of a man fighting to save a girl from the flood.

That is just one of the breath-animating thrills of "Colorado," the Universal photodrama which comes to the Liberty Theatre on Friday with Frank Mayo in the starring role and beautiful Gloria Hope playing opposite as the heroine in this film version of the famous stage play of the same name by Augustus Thomas.

"Colorado" carries the spectator over burning desert sands to a desolate ranch where Mayo, as Frank Austin, finds an oasis of love and, incidentally, a gold mine.

How he saves the mine from the same man who are keeping him from the girl he loves is another high light of drama which Reeves Eason, the director, has flashed to the screen with striking realism.

Closely following the release of "Honor Bound" and "Tiger True," "Colorado" is said by those who have seen it, to be faster in action and even more romantic than those two recent plays in which the vigorous Mayo scored so emphatically.

THE MONDALE

"Ewing and Ewing," in a blackface singing, talking and dancing act, and Bob Kershaw, the "human mocking bird," two clever acts of vaudeville, top the bill at the Mondale tonight.

Western pictures have an established place in the hearts of movie fans, young and old. The sage critic of the drama, too, has come to concede the superior possibilities of the screen for the immense scenic effects so vital to a true story of the crude life of mountain and desert. With each Triangle "western" comes a new standard of production, and in "Ashes of Hope," the newest drama featuring Belle Bennett, a high mark of excellence is set.

To the boy or man who loves a good scrap, or the mother whose moist eyes respond to the dance-hall girl's instinctive desire to bring a child to the man she loves, "Ashes of Hope" is a play satisfying in every sense of the word.

Life has its pathos and heart-aches as well as its victories even for care-free Gonda, whose faith in love and hope of children are shattered by the man she loves.

The play will be shown at the Mondale theatre tonight.

A thing well begun is better than a thing overdone.
