TABLES TURNED; WHAT DEMPSEY, INSIDE THE ROPES, SEES ON OUTSIDE

BY ROY GROVE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 20.—Jack Dempsey doesn't do all the work in his training by a long shot. Just outside the ropes sits a conglomerate crowd—mixed faces and mixed emotions.

Every move that the champion makes is reflected in those ring-side maps.

From little Elmer to Aunt Emma, they train with Jack.

They duck a punch—they sock one over flush on the jaw—they crouch—they registered pain and they flare with joy.

And Jack loves them all.

He likes the hero worship of the little Elmers because he is still a boy at heart himself.

He likes even the fat, middle-aged man who has run out from town to look him over, and who leans against a post, thumbs in his vest, and feet crossed and gives the fans a "treat" of "I-told-you-so" stuff.

He likes the curious looking little man with the big woman—his wife—who seems to be anxious to learn the latest in blows, possibly for use on her husband.

He likes the tough-looking egg—the inevitable followers of training camp dust, who remind him that he is in the grim business of fighting.

But he loves the Aunt Emmas best. They remind of his mother.

The Aunt Emmas sit at the ring-side and "oh" and "ah" and exclaim "mercy me" every time glove meets glove and wish that they had a son with as perfect a body as the champion.

Just the other day when Dempsey was entering the boxing exhibition arena a motherly old woman ran up and grasped his hand. "You're going to win, Jack," she said. "I wish I had a boy like you—"

Dempsey turned to Kearns and said—"Give her a pass, Doc. She reminds me of my mother."

BOXERS SIGNED FOR BOUTS ON JULY 4 AND 5

One of the big scenes in this picture shows a lion escaping from his cage on a vaudeville stage and leaping into a box in which the heroine is seated. Mr. Tourneur desired to secure four or five men with iron nerve to occupy the box with Hope Hampton, who plays the heroine, when this scene was made. He finally succeeded in securing several ex-soldiers to take the job.

They went through with their task perfectly. So did the lion. He catapulted himself squarely over their heads towards the rear of the box, where Miss Hampton and, just behind her, a piece of raw meat awaited him. The ex-soldiers fared better than the pretty actress. She was clawed severely about the arms before the director shouted, "Cut."

THE LIBERTY

William Farnum, the popular William Fox star, is coming to the Liberty theatre tomorrow in one of the most stirring roles of his career. It is that of Francois Villon, the famous vagabond in Justin Huntly McCarthy's book and play "If I Were King"—a role made famous on the stage by E. H. Sothern.

Mr. Farnum has given to the screen many of the most important pictures shown in the last few years. His dual role in "A Tale of Two Cities," Charles Dickens' famous story, is still being shown throughout the United States and Great Britain and on the continent. It is indeed a classic in motion picture art. Another among Farnum's innumerable big pictures is "Les Misérables," which, like "A Tale of Two Cities," will be shown and reshown for years. His "Riders of the Purple Sage" and his "Rainbow Trail" drew packed houses wherever shown.

Manager H. W. Poole of the Liberty puts "If I Were King" at the top of the list of all Farnum pictures.

Some men are not satisfied when they kill two birds with one stone unless they get the stone back.

NOTICE

A special meeting of the women's Auxiliary of the American Legion will be called Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow hall to elect delegates to attend the state convention at Eugene. Every member is urged to attend. By order of the President.

WEED OUTPLAYS
LOCAL TOSSERS;
WINS BY 8 TO 1

One of the largest crowds of the season gathered yesterday afternoon at Modoc Park to witness the game between Weed and Klamath Falls, and when the end of nine innings came, the score stood 8 to 1 in favor of the visitors.

All around team work and hits when runners were on bases brought the victory to the visitors, while the locals were unable to hit when a bingle would have brought in runs. Some costly errors were made by the locals at critical times, and the Weed players took advantage of them.

Falk started the game for the locals, and Weed found him. At the end of the third inning Foster replaced him, and pitched a good, steady game. Anthony handled the slab work for the Weed team, and held the locals at his mercy during the entire game.

No Fear, They Won't Bite

How would you like to face all these lions? A party of British game hunters did. In Africa. Not all at once, of course! The heads are in a London taxidermist's shop being stuffed.

HOME TEAMS TO PLAY ON FOURTH

The terms wanted by outside teams for the games here at the big Fourth of July celebration were so high that the committee selected to secure them decided to abandon the far-off teams and make arrangements for teams which are within Klamath county instead, to conform to the "home celebration" plan, and accordingly closed with the Fort Klamath and Dorris teams for matches.

The schedule made was that Klamath Falls will play the Fort Klamath team at Fort Klamath on July 2; Dorris will come here on July 4, and on July 5 the Fort Klamath team will play the return match with the locals at Modoc Park. The date for July 3 will be filled in with some team between now and that date.

Rickard May Referee
Big Fight; Dempsey
Picks His Seconds

ATLANTIC CITY, June 20.—Jack Dempsey will not invade Jersey City for his battle with Carpenter for the world's championship until the day before the contest, according to plans announced by Manager Jack Kearns today.

Kearns will have charge of the champion's corner. His seconds will be Jack Renault, Larry Williams, Joe Benjamin and Mike Trant.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Failure to agree upon a referee for the Dempsey-Carpenter bout thus far, today caused Tex Rickard, promoter of the match, to announce that he might officiate himself.

Home Runs Can't Help Connie

Home runs haven't been doing Connie Mack much good. His Athletics are second to the New York Yankees in home runs. Yet the Mack-men are in the cellar, while New York is fighting for first place. All of which proves that home runs don't always win ball games.

LOCAL BANTAM WORKING OUT

Not many of the admirers of the boxing game in this city are aware that within its limits is a young and ambitious boxer named Jack Burns, once a resident of the staid and steady old city of Boston, who has aspirations to mount the fistic ladder in the bantamweight class.

Young Burns is here and has been in daily training without any attempt to show off to the public. He states that he prefers to train unnoticed and do his roadwork in places where he will not be seen.

Burns states that he has been in over fifty matches since he started back in Boston nearly five years ago. In February this year he was matched with "Baby" Bush at Stockton, California, and at the close of the fourth round broke his hand. The match was at once stopped, according to the boxing rules in force there, and the decision given to his opponent. Burns says that he has fought eastern men such as Kid Snyder at Marvel; Kid Lee at Clinton, and Kid Loper at Springfield (Mass.), during his career as a boxer.

Burns has taken up quarters in the basement of the Arcade hotel, and is doing preliminary work there, boxing daily with his sparring partner, Nick Dorris. He takes his work-outs daily at 6 o'clock, in the morning, and says that he will be in good shape for the match that he is scheduled for in the semi-finals, July 4th.

KLAMATH LOSES ALL AROUND THE DIAMOND

The Klamath Copco team was not able to handle the "juice experts" of the Yreka Copco team yesterday at Yreka, and came home last, leaving the victory with Yreka, the score being 16 to 2. Jordan and Frazer were the Yreka battery, while Allen, Klawn, Norman and Werz handled the Klamath Falls battery duties.

With a tie score up to the ninth inning, and after two men were out, a costly error by the Ewauna Box Factory team allowed Bonanza to get in one run, and win what was said to be one of the best amateur games of the season. Raley and Jones were the Bonanza battery, while Christy and Gerges officiated for the Ewauna team. The game was played at Bonanza.
