MANY EXPECTED TO TOSS THEIR HATS INTO RING

Olcott Expected to Seek Election as Governor, with Baker, Kelly, Patterson, Kay as Candidates

HALEM, Or., June 21.—(Special)—Who will be the republican aspirants for the nomination for governor in the primaries of next year? Who is going to run for the republican congressional nomination in the three Oregon districts? Who is going to be a candidate for the republican nomination for state treasurer? These are some of the questions that are ripe for the asking in Oregon politics.

Olcott Silent
Governor Olcott has not told anyone he will be a candidate in 1922—at least he hasn't said so where it would reach the public. A year ago it was frequently said that Olcott would not be a candidate. No one says it now, and it may safely be said that he will be in the race. There are three reasons for this. One is that the legislature this year increased the salary, so there is at least more than bread and butter in it. Another reason is the human desire to hold office by election of the people as well as by inheritance. The third is the reasonably safe political policy adopted by the governor whether that is sufficient to elect him governor would have to be determined at the polls. No one is getting around singing Olcott's praise, so on the other hand, little criticism of his administration is heard. No one has yet come forward with any definite information whether Mayor George L. Baker of Portland (Continued to Page 5)

STATE MAY GET REPRESENTATIVE

Herald Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, June 21.—Oregon may gain one congressman in the new attempt to increase the house of representatives from its present number of 435 to 483 members. A meeting of the committee on the census has been called for next Wednesday by Chairman Siegel to consider the reappointment of congressional representation under the 14th census. An effort made in the latter part of the last congress to increase the membership by 48 was overwhelmingly defeated and the minority members of the committee who fought for a reapportionment, based on the present number, 435, won a complete victory. This bill died in the senate when congress came to an end March 4 by constitutional limitation.

Views Now Changed
Chairman Siegel, who comes from New York, claims that the new congress is for an additional number of congressmen and believes that at this time he can win his fight. He claims to be certain of a majority in the committee, which will vote for an increase to 483 first, last and all the time. Representative Barber, California, who led the successful minority fight in the last congress, is equally confident that he and his associates are as strong as ever and that they will be able to hold the membership to the present total of 435.

It will probably be a closer fight than it was in the last congress and there may be a compromise which will enable the states which will lose representatives under the plan to limit the membership to the present figure to retain their present representation. These states are Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Vermont, all of which lose one member each, and Missouri, which will lose two, making a total of 11 states which would lose a total of 12 members.

Secretary Fall Will Visit Oregon During Summer; Leaves 15th

Herald Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, June 21.—Senator McNary, Congressman Sinnott and McArthur called on Secretary Fall of the interior department to take up a number of Oregon matters with him. Secretary Fall said he would visit Oregon in the near future, probably leaving Washington July 15, and would visit Crater Lake and all of the principal irrigation projects in Oregon.

He declared he did not want any entertainment while on the trip of inspection and that he was going entirely for business. For that reason his itinerary will probably not be announced at all and his movements will be prepared by the engineers of the reclamation division. Secretary Fall said that he could not get to Alaska this year, as he had promised to go there with the president, who cannot go on account of the failure of congress to get through in time.

H. Dunbar at Sixth and Main streets last night. ## Log Burling Contest Listed Among Novel Sports for Fourth Assurance is made by Jim Ryan, 433 Main street, that the biggest and best "log burling" ever witnessed by anyone in this section will be staged on July 4 by a number of clever men who are artists in this line of woods sport. Mr. Ryan stated that anyone desiring to enter should list his name with Ryan at the Loggers and Lumbermen headquarters in Klamath Falls. If five entries are secured, three prizes will be given and if only three, only two prizes will be offered. The present prizes are $25 for first and $15 for second place. Among some of the noted "burlers" who are urged to enter are Leon Robertson, "Bill" Baker, Frank Woods and Ed Brant. All these men have made reputations and have many admirers. The deepest water in Lake Ewauna has been chosen for the testing place.

Legion Will Drape Colors in Tribute to Late Commander

All American Legion post and department colors and charters will be draped in black for a period of 30 days, honoring the memory of the late national commander, F. W. Galbraith, Jr., according to instructions received by Roy Fouch, adjutant of Klamath post. It is also directed that at the next post meeting a period of silence shall be observed. The meeting of the local post takes place tonight. Four delegates to the state convention of the Legion, to be held at Eugene, July 1 and 2, will be elected at tonight's meeting. Many problems will arise at the Eugene convention and local legionnaires feel it necessary to have strong representatives on the ground. Hence tonight's meeting is important and all members of the post are urged to attend.

WILFUL THREE STAND PAT ON PAVING ACTION

The paving of High street again was the bone of contention in the meeting of the city council last night, and for a while there was a stormy session. Councilman West referred to a conversation held late yesterday afternoon with W. A. Shannon, the Portland representative of the Warren Construction company, relative to the probable action of the company, should the bid of his company for the bonds not be accepted by the council.

Mr. Shannon emphatically stated, said Mr. West, that Warren Brothers were ready to compel fulfillment of a contract which their legal department had found flawless and binding, but that before taking legal action necessary to enforce good faith, they preferred to allow the council and people a chance to save the extra expense involved in enforcing the contract. Councilman West stated that the city attorney, W. M. Duncan, had investigated the legality of the contract, and held it binding upon the city.

A. J. Lyle interposed an objection, stating that he had also held a conversation with Mr. Shannon yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Shannon had told him "the company was through with the matter." Councilman West asked what Dr. Lyle meant by "was through," and Dr. Lyle stated that he construed it to mean they waived the contract and had no intention to continue action in the matter.

Timekeeper Buckley of the Warren Construction company stated that he was a party to the conversation (Continued to Page 4)

LEADERSHIP IN QUEEN CONTEST HAS CHANGED

Since the last reading of the ballots in the Goddess of Liberty contest, Saturday, there have been many startling changes in the lineup.

Miss McClain jumps into the lead by a narrow margin owing to the deluge of votes that came to her last night. From fourth place in the last count, today Miss McClain has reached first. Leading Miss Biehn by a narrow margin. Mrs. Conway is very close and her "strength" is latent and will gather force all at once when her admirers rush to place her in the top row. Miss Esther Calkins has passed the 1000 mark and her friends say that they will give her splendid support.

A new entry was listed today, a "Miss" Mable Sparks and from four different sources came 140 votes. In the city directory no record is found of "Miss Sparks" but admiring friends have entered the name.

Manager Bert McDonald announces that on June 29, in order to allow everyone to see the hourly progress of the race, all ballot boxes will be closed and collected and the voting therefor done in a booth at Sixth and Main streets. A big blackboard will be used to show the vote and as fast as a candidate receives a block of votes, they will be written immediately upon the board. The contest closes officially on June 30. June 30 is the day set for the open booth voting.

To vote for your choice on June 30, a charming lady will sell you your votes and after counting them in the presence of yourself and wit-

Klamath Co. Club Workers Hold the Honors at O. A. C.

Klamath county boy and girl club workers are making the big hit of the convention of Oregon boys and girls at the two weeks' summer course at Corvallis, according to word received by parents of some of the youngsters.

In the first place they have the largest county delegation at the school, excepting Multnomah county, and there's a question as to Multnomah's lead. Klamath has 29 boys and girls in its delegation and Multnomah claims 30, but a question has been raised regarding the qualifications of some of the Multnomah club workers. Klamath took first place on "stunt night," and are the only delegation with real organization. The club and county yells hit the crowd in the right place, and Klamath is easily the honor squad on the whole assembly.

OIL WELL FETE NEXT SUNDAY

The directors of the Crater Lake Oil and Gas company have plans definitely in shape for the big celebration that will attend the "spudding in" of Well No. 1, half a mile north of Merrill next Sunday.

First on the program comes "eats," and there will be an abundance. Two sheep are to be barbecued to serve as the center of a feast that will take place at noon, or shortly afterward in the Merrill grove.

The hour set for the program at the well, including the starting of the hole through which it is hoped within the next few months will pour barrels of liquid treasure, is 3 o'clock.

Every man, or woman, in Klamath county who owns an automobile is urged to lay all else aside next Sunday and join in making the celebration the biggest ever held in Klamath county. Auto owners are urged to avoid empty seats in their cars. Bring the whole family. If you have none, bring some one else's family. This is a personal assurance from every one connected with the Crater Oil and Gas company: You will be treated right.

Opportune Arrival of Twins Prevents Family Shipwreck

CHICAGO, June 21.—An hour before the divorce suit of Mrs. Edward C. Pettitt was to be called, she became the mother of twins. When the event was announced in court the suit was dismissed and the family became reunited.

ENGLISH SOVEREIGNS WILL OPEN BELFAST PARLIAMENT

LONDON, June 21.—King George and Queen Mary were given a great ovation at the depot today when they left for Belfast to open the Ulster parliament. Great crowds cheered them and sang the British national anthem.

Restaurant Man Sees Betterment in Business World

H. H. Hart, the California restaurant man, is in the city on business. It is five weeks since he has been here, but he says that in that time there has been a decided improvement in conditions on the outside and a man is indeed a pessimist who cannot look into the near future and feel hopeful. "One of the best indications of improvement," said Mr. Hart today, "is shown in the offering of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. It had been paying seven per cent on the money it borrowed. The last securities it offered called for only 6 1/2 per cent, yet they were instantly subscribed. When the Northern Pacific and the Northwestern offered $230,000,000 in bonds they were ten per cent oversubscribed in eight days. All of the government bonds are stronger today than they have ever been and the same is true of all standard securities. The bond market is the barometer and when you see it in a healthy condition you may be sure that the rest of the business world is improving and that it will not be long before it, too, will revive under the same stimulant of confidence." Mr. Hart expects to return to Sacramento in a few days.

WEATHER REPORT

The Herald Thrives On "Service"

When we say that The Evening Herald goes into 99 of every 100 homes in Klamath county, and is carefully read by every member of each subscribing family, that's a conservative statement.

Our subscription lists are open to inspection by anybody who doubts that The Herald's circulation covers Klamath county like a blanket.

Why does everybody in Klamath county read The Herald? Because The Herald gives "service" in the fullest meaning of that comprehensive word.

The Associated Press covers the big national and world news for The Herald.

By special arrangement with the Portland Telegram, The Herald is able to give daily big stories of happenings in Washington and elsewhere that affect all Northwest industry.

Through affiliation with the Newspaper Enterprise Association The Herald commands the services of a staff of the best and highest paid writers and artists engaged in newspaper work in America today.

Are you a boxing or baseball fan? If so, you read The Herald's sport page. Clean sport is an asset to any community, paying big dividends in better morals and better health. The Herald will cheerfully bear the cost if by its actions it can promote the development of clean sport in Klamath Falls.

The only place that you get the full news of local baseball clubs' doings is in The Herald.

From the big championship battle at Jersey City July 2, to the Anderson-Biehn curtain raiser at Dreamland pavilion July 4, The Herald is covering every corner and all angles of the boxing game.

But first of all, The Herald prides itself on its local news service. The Herald strives, primarily, to print the home news and to uncover and publish the facts in all local questions for the information and guidance of its readers.

The big thing in local news right now is oil development. In a series of articles, written so the layman may read and understand, W. C. Lehman, local geologist, will tell why he believes that the Klamath basin overlies a sea of petroleum.

This is The Herald's sort of service, and the sort of service that The Herald seeks constantly to give.

If you read it in The Herald, IT'S TRUE!

It costs money to give the service The Herald is giving, but the regular price of the paper is unchanged—65 cents a month, $6 a year by carrier or by mail outside the county, or $5 a year by mail within the county.

However, until July 1, following an annual custom, a special price is in effect—$5 a year by carrier or mail outside the county, $4 a year by mail within the county, all subscriptions payable for one year in advance.

The Herald would not, if it felt the need, resort to side-show methods to pad its subscription lists. The Herald is published in the interests of its readers, and any surplus cash in its treasury will be spent to improve its service to its readers.

That policy has made The Herald the paper that it is today. That policy will be pursued consistently as long as The Herald is under its present management.
