C-A-R-P-E-N-T-I-E-R! THAT'S FRENCH FOR PEP.

Out Manhaspet way, where the French challenger is training for the battle with Champ Dempsey.

they're spelling pep the French way these days. That's C a r p e n t i e r! The challenger is brim-

JACK COUNTS ON LEFT

BY MAX BALTHAZAR

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 27.—The one big improvement in Jack Dempsey, aside from the manner in which he uses his left hand, is in concentration. Evidently figuring that it will never do to be out of position at any time while fighting the Frenchman, he has drilled his legs and arms so well that now, no matter in what angle he may find himself, he is prepared to throw in a punch.

He is constantly on his toes, the flatfootedness that marked his earlier fighting having entirely disappeared. Even in his body feinting he remains on his toes and his puzzling shifts and awayings from left to right and right to left find his heels well off the canvass. The improved left hand, which has caused such general admiration and comment, is working with wonderful speed and precision. On all of his big sparring partners, including Martin Burke, the shiftest of the lot, he uses it with good effect.

Hooking it with all of his force to the stomach, he brings it up almost immediately to the jaw, using this double one-handed punch. The hook to the stomach almost turns his sparring partners inside out. "If he socks that double left into Carpenter just once the referee will have to do some counting," remarked Philadelphia Jack O'Brien. "I never saw anything like it. Many boxers are capable of working that fast double left, but they are unable to throw their entire force into both punches as Dempsey does."

LIGHT BETTING ON BIG FIGHT; ODDS 3 TO 1

NEW YORK, June 27.—Wagering on the Dempsey-Carpentier bout for the world's heavyweight championship at Jersey City, July 2, is extremely light despite interest on two continents that promises to eclipse that evidenced in any previous title battle. Both men have numerous admirers who, as yet, have failed to back their opinions with much money. Stimulated wagering is expected on the eve of the bout with a probable inflow of currency from France.

According to figures at which some money has been wagered in Wall street, Jack Dempsey seems likely to go into the ring on odds on favorite at 3 to 1. Although in past bouts for the title the champion, almost invariably has been the favorite, not since the Sullivan-Corbett battle has the title holder been so strongly favored in a bout of major worth. Sullivan was a 4 to 1 choice over "Gentleman Jim." Willard was a 2 to 1 favorite over Jack Dempsey when the challenger won at Toledo. Jim Jeffries entered the ring favored at 2 1/2 to 1 to beat Jack Johnson at Reno. Johnson, three weeks before he met Jess Willard at Havana, was a 3 to 1 favorite but these figures shifted as the day of the bout approached and the negro climbed into the ring with the odds of only 6 to 5 in his favor. Jim Corbett was approximately a 2 to 1 shot over Bob Fitzsimmons when they met at Carson City.

The total amount of money wagered on the coming battle to date is estimated by a New York sporting man not to exceed $75,000. A large part of this amount has been placed in so-called "freak" bets. Odds of 9 to 5 have been quoted that Dempsey will win by a knockout. Persons who back Carpentier to drop Dempsey for the count demand odds of 20 to 1. Odds of 10 to 1 have been asked by persons who would wager that Carpentier will not answer the bell for the third round. Paris, almost hysterical in its enthusiasm for the French war hero, nevertheless is dubious when money is mentioned. Word received here states that Dempsey rules as 8 to 5 favorite on the boulevards, with little money placed. Betting men believe that the lack of wagering is due largely to the fact that Carpentier's supporters desire unreasonable odds. Also, they declare that the international aspect of our contest, while making for the unusual interest which will draw the greatest "gate" in the rings history, is largely sentimental and not conducive to heavy wagering for that reason.

Twin Entrants in Athletic Contest Puzzle the Judges

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Twin brothers, Elmer and Lauren Henry, who look and act and run alike, recently represented their military unit, the Fourteenth Balloon Company in a military track meet here and so confused the judges that, it was said, the latter, in order to play fair, gave them first and second place alternately in the six events they won. Lauren Henry was credited with winning the 100-yard run. Elmer took the 220 yard run, Lauren the 220 yard hurdles, Elmer the javelin throw, Lauren the 880-yard run and Elmer the 440 yard run. The boys were born August 7, 1897 at Chico, Cal. They are one of the few pairs of "identical" twins in the nation, according to records here.

EWANA, COPCO TEAMS WINNERS; SNAPPY GAMES

All hail the Ewanas and Copcos—salute the winners of the city league games yesterday! They both won two of what are said to be the best games that have been played on the local diamond this year, and both teams deserve due credit owing to the statements made before the contests that they would carry off the coveted honors.

The doughty Plumbos hit the dust before the husky log polishers to the tune of 4 to 1, and the league leaders were unable to keep the Copcos from a victory, 4 to 3, try as they would. The cellar teams had decided since their last efforts of several weeks ago that there was no use remaining down in that cool place, and the only way to get into the limelight and public eye was to "step out"—and step they did. Sharkey Hutchins had the Jewels at his mercy, and his curves went true, so true that 10 of the mighty swatters of the Jewels swung vainly at the ball three times and then heard the umpire say, "Outside," while Foster made only five of the Copcos victims of like decisions. Bears was tried out by the Ewanas and five Plumbos fell victims to that strike-out problem, three of the Ewanas doing the same for Cress.

The lineups were changed by all teams, and worked out fine, the teams now having nearly equal strength in both fielding and batting strength. The game from now on will be nip and tuck, say the captains of the respective teams. Only a fair-sized crowd greeted the teams yesterday, and after the reports came out what good ball was played, there were many regrets expressed that the contests were not attended by the "Wish I had gone

The games were umpired by Dr. Paul Noel and "Blackie" McDonald, and the following summary shows that the good work of the pitching staff was good, the fielding likewise, and the errors proportionately small.

Carpentier in Society

Carpentier attended a society garden party at Roslyn, L. I., given for the Free Milk for Italy Fund. The lady with him is Mrs. Frank C. Benson, the hostess.

JOSH WISE ON THE BIG FIGHT

BY JACK RAPER

A word from Josh Wise:

A prizefighter climbs the ladder of fame round by round.

According to the dispatches from Manhaspet Carpentier spends a great deal of time on the front porch of his training camp cottage. Don't laugh at the idea, boys. That's the way Harding won.

Dempsey says also doesn't count so much. Maybe it doesn't, but still we believe Dempsey can lick Johnny Kilbane.

Carpentier has gained half a pound since he began training. At that rate he'll be as heavy as Dempsey by July, 1934, and as heavy as Willard by April, 1935.

Carpentier won't permit anybody except Descamps and Journee to watch him in his most important training stunts. Jess Willard was the same way. At any rate, nobody ever saw him training at Toledo.

"Walter Monahan, who helped Willard prepare for the Dempsey fight," says a dispatch, "has offered his services to Carpentier." We don't know just how he helped Willard. Maybe he rocked Jess' chair.

All the folks who have watched Dempsey work with his sparring partners notice that he is using his left hand more than he ever did before. It may be that he is saving his right for his literary work.

Jack's chest measurements is said to be much larger than it was two years ago. Which may or may not be true, but we'll wager it was

BLUE APPEARS FAST WORKER

The daily workouts by Blue and Burns attracted a number of followers of the fistie sport to the Dreamland pavilion every afternoon last week, and they enjoyed the sparring bouts very much.

The experience and ring generalship displayed by Blue, also the fact that he holds back his "wallops" when boxing Burns, has started conjectures as to just what Blue has in store for his opponent on July 4. Sammy Gordon is no slouch, and this fact is one that Blue is not discounting in the least. Blue realizes that Gordon is an opponent worthy of attention, and makes no boasts of "what he is going to do to that man Gordon." Quite to the contrary, he knows that Gordon has speed and courage, and this, backed by both confidence and experience, equal to his own. Knowing all this, Blue works out, except for wallowing, just as if Gordon was opposing him instead of Burns.

Since Burns first started working out last week, the marked improvement that he shows has been commented on by observers, and all seem pleased that the little boxer has come out of the kinks which at first handicapped him. Blue has coached him on ring tactics and the delivery of blows so that Burns will not injure his right hand again, as he did earlier this week. Both men say they will be fit for the July 4th contests.

THE BENEFICIARY

(From the Boston Globe.) Mrs. Goodale—"I am soliciting for the poor. What do you do with your cast-off clothing?" Mr. Longsufferer—"I hang them up carefully and put on my pajamas. Then I resume them in the morning."

larger two years ago than it was the day after he fought Brennan.

Is He a New Willard?

"In two months time I'll be ready to step into the ring with Dempsey or Carpentier." That's the claim of "Bud" Wetherhols of McCutcheonville, C. soldier-farmer-boss. He is 25, weighs 191 pounds and is six feet two inches tall. He looks like Jess Willard. Is he not?
