

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

A Toast

Here's to the man in a motor car, Who sets the juice on high, Who wrinkles his nose at the price of clothes
And makes the dust mount high.

Why expect everything in the future? Why not enjoy a part of the present?

Ye city editor says one reason why one should respect his enemies is because of all the free publicity which is received.

The quickest way to get through a crowd is to stay away from it.

The fellow who discovered that Egypt had jazz bands and home brew 500 years previous to the Christian era cannot be credited with affording much consolation to the Christian era.

Now Don't Snort

If women would confine their educational efforts to their own children the world would be better.

Charley Hall says a man can fool some people about his ability, but he can't fool the women.

"I give it up, Mr. Bones," said the interlocutor. "What is the difference between a young man, an old man and a worm?"
"There ain't no difference, the chicken gets 'em all."

Kind Words Never Die
A collyumbist sat, in grim dismay:
The world seemed blue as indigo—Just then Somebody said, "I read your stuff each day And like it!"—then the world was bright again!

Sigs

He wonders what the deuce is the matter with his clothes when people look at him.
She wonders what's wrong with her clothes when people don't look at her.

SOME CURIOUS BIRDS AND BEASTS WHICH I HAVE MET UP WITH

By Our own Jack Burroughs.
Many of my readers have inquired:
"How do you find all them things out about them birds and beasts?" In the present article I shall try to enlighten those curious souls. In the first place in order to be a success as a naturalist, one should wear O'Holligan's rubber heels. (See Brodie's What Naturalists Wear, p.
7633). That O'Holligan's heels are admirably adapted to naturalists' needs is shown by the fact that a strip cut from one of them stretches like an elastic band. In the accompanying illustration the reader will observe that one may approach very closely to the quarry without fear of detection, which as will readily be seen, is extremely advantageous to us naturalists. I daresay that, without a pair of O'Holligan's heels, a naturalists' avocation would be the most hazardous of occupations. The next article in this series will deal with the Swedish Concertina Hound, one of nature's most curious inventions.

C. R. Delap says there are a lot of times when a fellow could "get by" with a Ford car if the blamed thing didn't have the name stamped on the front of it.

Hank Wilson wonders what has become of the old fashioned man that used to carry quill toothpicks in his vest pocket.

BUSINESS HOUSES ARE SHOWING THEIR COLORS
Many business houses branched out today with tastefully decorated windows, symbolical of the coming Fourth of July celebration. Many compliments were passed on these windows, as they are the first to follow the suggestions of the committees at work on the coming celebration.

A Four-Gallon Invitation

This "four-gallon" sombrero has been sent to President Harding as an invitation to the annual Frontier Day cowboy contests at Cheyenne.
The girl is "Miss Wyoming," human trade mark of the state. The man is Governor Robert D. Carey. The invitation is engraved on a silver band around the hat.

BONANZA NEWS

Cards were sent out last week bearing the following inscription: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Brightman request the honor of your presence at the golden wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wilkinson, Tuesday evening, June 21, 1921, at their home in Bonanza.

Many friends and relatives of the couple called to pay their respects.
Music, games and dancing were enjoyed by both old and young, after which refreshments were served.

Bonanza scored another victory in the game with Dairy last Sunday.
The score was 7 to 5.

MINT CROP HAS GREAT PROMISE

Spring mint planting is over on the Pacific Coast Mint company's land on the Caledonia marsh, with 150 acres of new mint in the ground, said James Watkins, Jr., manager of the company, yesterday.

Some of the mint is well up, and much of it is through the ground.
Cultivating to eradicate weeds is under way, and Mr. Watkins expects a fine, clean crop this season.

There is a volunteer rye crop on the ranch this fall that will pay the cost of the year's operations, says Mr. Watkins. The rye stands thick, reaching a height of seven feet in places. It is heading out and beginning to fill. The heads are drooping heavily, and indications are for a 30 or 35 bushel yield on each acre.

Many visitors are coming to the ranch now, interested in the new industry, and the healthy appearance of the mint and wonderful stand of volunteer rye draws general praise for the productivity of the reclaimed marsh land.

If the mint yields 50 pounds to the acre a 7,500 pound crop will be harvested this fall, along about September. The boiler and condensers for the new still are on the ground, and the distilling plant will be erected to handle this season's crop.

Governor

President Harding has nominated Scott C. Bone, Washington and Seattle newspaperman, to be governor of the territory of Alaska.
