EUGENE HAS BIG WELCOME READY FOR THE LEGION

Veterans! Welcome! This will be the call sounded by the Lane County Post No. 3 of Eugene, Oregon, to the visiting delegates to the third annual state convention of the American Legion, department of Oregon, and to the delegates attending the first state convention of the women's auxiliary, which meets at the armory in Eugene on July 1st and 2nd.

One hundred and one posts of the American Legion, represented by 350 representatives, and 150 representatives of the women's auxiliary will be on hand at Eugene. It is expected that over 800 visitors will be in attendance from other counties than Lane county, and many of the legion posts will attend in large bodies.

Motoring will be the most popular route to the convention, although a reduced fare of one and one-half fare will be in effect in all points in Oregon. A delegation from Lester C. Rees Post of Newberg will go to Eugene in motorboats.

The city attorney of Eugene will give the welcoming address, followed by John W. Inzer, national chaplain of the American Legion, who has come from Chattanooga, Tennessee, and Rev. William S. Gilbert, chaplain of the Oregon department American Legion, and Ben W. Olcott, governor of Oregon.

Important to the individual members will be the two national speakers, John W. Inzer, chaplain of the American Legion, who is pronounced by the eastern press one of the ablest speakers of today. He, with Teddy Roosevelt, now assistant secretary of the navy, toured the eastern states early in 1919 from the lakes to the gulf states, organizing state departments of the legion. Chaplain Inzer is speaking before legion conventions all over the western and southern part of the country. Alvin M. Owsley, assistant director of the Legion Americanism commission, will deliver the "key note" speech of Americanism, and outline to the legionnaires the duties of the members of the Americanism commission and its future work.

Mr. Owsley has been speaking before legion conventions in the mid-west, and this will be his first visit to the coast.

It is believed the convention will give a new expression on the Japanese question, which is of vital importance to the Pacific coast states. Many posts of the legion have drafted resolutions for presentation to the convention with reference to aliens and immigration.

On the immigration problem as a whole and question of better schools, Americanization, improvement of state and nation, the convention will hear from Alvin M. Owsley, sent by the national headquarters of the American Legion from Indianapolis, Indiana. Mr. Owsley is assistant national director of the Americanism commission.

Other questions to be acted upon by the convention will embrace increased activity toward the assistance of the disabled, legion membership, revision of state constitution, election of state officers and a state body, selection of 1922 meeting place; these are a few of the many questions that will come up at the convention.

The Portland delegation will seek to find the sentiment of the delegates on bringing the national convention of the American Legion to Portland in 1925, which would bring over 200,000 legionnaires to Portland.
