Blue Wants Another Chance at Gordon In Local Arena

One of the popular announcements before the start of the boxing card yesterday was made by Referee Watters when he introduced Babe Blue, one of the principals of Monday's ten round go.

Referee Watters stated that Blue challenged Sammy Gordon for another ten round go, within three weeks time, in the local arena. He added that Blue wanted to even up scores and was desirous of having this battling boy from Portland as his opponent because the local boxing devotees knew what kind of timber Gordon was made of and that they could be assured of a run again for their money. This announcement made a hit with the crowd as the colored fighter has won a place in the opinion of the people here not only as a boxer but as a well behaved and courteous young man who out of the ring forgets the ring slang and talk common to professional pugilists.

This announcement created a lot of favorable comment and there were many expressions made in the hope that the battling boys be again matched in this city.

Locals Even Score With Ft. Klamath

It was a different story on the local grounds at Modoc Park yesterday afternoon when the Ft. Klamath baseball team met their Waterloo before the determined attack of the Klamath Falls team and when the ninth inning ended, the scorer over in the north end of the field was out of chalk—writing "victory, 12 to 6" after the locals' name.

Two home runs were connected with, one by Walker of the Ft. Klamath team and Ted Montgomery the local "Babe Ruth." Bears and Callaghan operated the batteries for Klamath Falls while the old reliables, Siemens and Cfuck, of the Fort team did the battery stunt for their team. Bears issued two passes to first, while Siemens passed four locals. Four Ft. Klamath players fanned the ozone while three Klamath Falls did likewise. The game was played before a small crowd.

HUFF PUTS FOX OUT WITH STIFF RIGHT UPPERCUT

The boxing tournament yesterday was not up to the standard set Monday and there was no loud approval offered as there was the day after Babe Blue and Sammy Gordon had stirred the sporting instinct of every follower of the game.

When the first bout between Kid North and Kid Covert was called, North outweighed his younger opponent by many pounds—plus experience. But the lighter lad steeped up and handed out several sweet packages before the first round was over bringing the claret to North's nasal appendage. In the second round, North rushed and then it was all over as Covert had too much to contend with—a boxer in front of him and a yard of long hair constantly hanging down in front of his eyes. Referee Gillan called North a winner in the middle of the round.

The semi-windup was scheduled to go six rounds between Eddie Miller of Los Angeles and Kid Herrera, a nephew of the famous Aurelia Herrera. For four rounds, the two tried to land a ten apt but round after round showed Herrera up to better advantage and Referee Watters made a wise decision in calling Herrera a victor in that round as Miller was out of the game, with too much altitude and Herrera running him ragged.

The main drawing card was the ten round bout between Joo Fox of San Francisco and Billy Huff of Chillicothe, both welterweights. The bout ended in the fifth round when Huff saw an opening and shot a right to the jaw that dropped his opponent for the count but there was no count, as Fox's seconds threw up the sponge on the count of five.

This bout started off with a snap, Fox landing the first blow and following that the two mixed it lively throughout the round. At the beginning of the second, it was noticed that although Fox was doing the leading, and forcing the fighting, Huff was wily enough to stay out of range of Fox's jabs and swings. At the close of this round, the spectators realized that the high altitude had taken Fox's wind and as he started in the third round with a rush which kept Huff on the defensive. It was clearly seen that Fox was making his supreme effort to secure a "kayo" for his wind was fast going.

Round four was all Huff's as he was evasive and after 45 seconds of defensive work rushed Fox off his feet with a deluge of straight arm punches and uppercuts. At the close of this round, Fox was all but out. The end came after 30 seconds after the fifth round opened with a futile swing by Fox allowed his left jaw wide open and Huff with an uppercut sent Fox down for good. Fox was game to the end and even in the fourth round was in no condition to battle longer but he had stated earlier in the day that he would try to please the fans as long as he could swing an arm—and he lived up to his word.

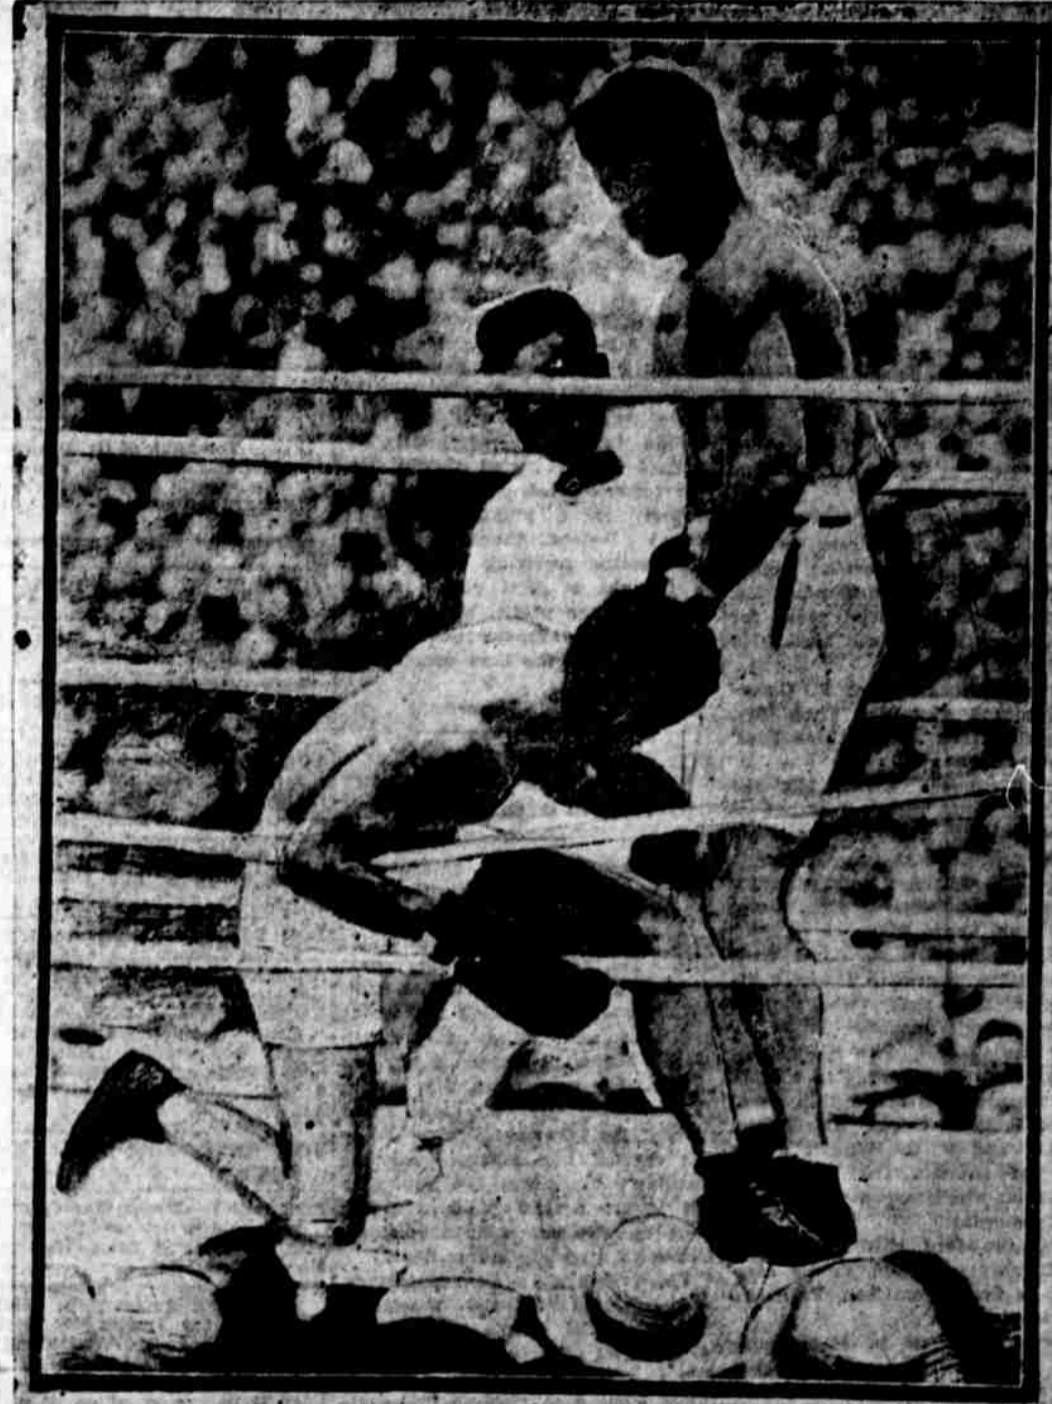

Huff was in the pink of condition for his bout and never was in distress at any time, even bantered with friends in the audience during the bout. Fox stated that he made a mistake in not coming here as soon as he was matched with Huff to become acclimated before trying to box 4000 feet above the San Francisco level. But he gave due credit to his opponent for his victory, without rancor.

This event closed the tournament and the fans of this city saw two days of boxing free from every taint or suspicion—the boxers had to either give a real exhibition or draw no pay. All realized this fact and put up a clean program—showing that the Fourth of July committee kept faith with the people and the council which granted them the boxing commission. The game can be played here and kept clean with the right kind of a commission who will stand for no crookedness.
