

Society

Social affairs were subordinated during the past week to the activities incident to the Fourth of July. Many took advantage of the national holiday and sped out into the woods, to one of the resorts or fishing streams or to Bly and Fort Klamath. Those who decided to remain in the city and be a part of the effort to make things merry for the visitor and home folk, entered actively into the spirit of the celebration and enjoyed themselves fully as much as those seeking recreation on the outside.

Many of the ladies exchanged the pleasures of the card and tea tables for the joy of participating in the parade on the Fourth and the preparation of floats that in beauty of design and artistic treatment surpassed anything of the kind heretofore seen here. A precedent has been set that might well be followed on future occasions where the spirit of civic pride calls for the best there is in us. There were three floats that attracted particular attention and these were the handiwork of ladies—Mrs. Charles S. Moore, Mrs. John E. Enders and Mrs. Blanch Hilton, the latter being assisted in the work by the ladies of the LaVogue store.

Mrs. Moore is receiving congratulations and praise for the beautiful and effective float she created with home-grown and wild flowers. It is not generally conceded that Klamath-grown flowers are plentiful enough for extensive decorative purposes, but Mrs. Moore demonstrated, on the Fourth, that it is possible to have flowers in profusion with a little time and care. Her car was covered, even to the wheels, with red and white roses, grown at her home on Canal street, and with wild larkspurs, which supplied the blue to the color scheme. Mrs. C. S. Moore, Mrs. R. H. Dunbar, Mrs. L. G. Van Bellen and Mrs. Charles Moore rode in the float. "The Pink Rose," a gorgeous creation, driven by Mrs. John Enders, accompanied by Mrs. Golden Lincoln, Mrs. Charles Martin, Mrs. Leslie Terwilliger and with little Jean Hauger acting the part of a fluffy little flower girl, drew much applause from the crowds along the line of march. The body of the "Pink Rose" was made with numerous ruffles of crepe paper. Paper and cut roses were used to complete the effect. Little Miss Hauger scattered the flowers from her basket along the street.

The LaVogue float, an orange creation representing the widely famous California poppy, was driven by Mrs. Blanch Hilton, accompanied by Mrs. Minnie Henry, Mrs. Goldie Houston, Miss Viola Liebert and Mary Ann Watters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Watters, as flower girl.

From top to bottom the LaVogue car had been covered with a bright yellow, and it was over this background of color that the poppies were fastened. The tastily-gowned ladies who rode as passengers added a great deal to the attractiveness of the float.

The Bridge club was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. John E. Enders, at her mother's home on Pine street. The following ladies formed several tables at bridge: Mesdames E. M. Bubb, Leslie Terwilliger, Charles Martin, Byron Hardenbrook, Hardin Carter, Roger DeWeese, Fred Dunbar, Charles Moore, T. B. Watters, Golden Lincoln, H. D. Lloyd Stewart, Igie, and Miss Barbara Goeller.

Mrs. L. J. Ransom of Portland, who is here visiting her brother, J. J. Parker, has been the inspiration of several pleasant social events. Mrs. R. E. Smith entertained in her honor Tuesday, at a dinner at the White Pelican hotel. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Parker, Mrs. Margaret Pitts, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith and Mrs. Ransom.

The Happy Hour Needle Work club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Richardson at her home on South Riverside street.

Mrs. Herman Foster was the inspiration Tuesday afternoon for a charming miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Elizabeth Grigaby. Miss Grigaby was assisted by Miss Fern Hanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. McKee of San Francisco were hosts, Tuesday, at a dinner party at the White Pelican hotel for a number of friends. Those invited were Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Gammon, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle, P. O. Crawford, John Partridge, Messrs. Parker, Halelson and Halelson of San Francisco.

Mrs. Herman Foster, a recent bride, was the inspiration for a charming afternoon tea and shower given in her honor by Miss Elizabeth Grigaby and Miss Fern Hanks, at the home of Mrs. Ida Grimes on Tuesday. Many useful and beautiful gifts were given Mrs. Foster by her friends. Those invited were: Misses Geraldine Watt, Ellen McVeigh, Cornelia Robertson, Jean Perry, Grace Hoagland, Ruth Linsey and Mrs. Estelle Carrier.

Mrs. J. P. Bowman, assisted by Mrs. A. A. Atkinson, entertained at her home at Dorris Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Leota Fall, Miss Melba Larsen and Mrs. C. H. Clayton, who departed Thursday morning for Pacific Grove, Cal., to spend the summer. The evening was delightfully spent with various forms of entertainment including dancing, after which delicious refreshments were served. The guests were Mrs. Margaret Kerwin, Misses Lyda Rhodes, Wanda Wilson, Margaret Laird, Daisee Bowman, Leota Fall, Melba Larsen and Mrs. Sylvia Clayton; Messrs. William Skaggs, Walter Sinclair, Howard Dayton, Harry Master, Clifford Seville, John F. Wise, Chas. V. Rugh and J. P. Bowman.

A pot-luck supper was a feature of Friday evening, which the following townspeople enjoyed on the shores of Upper Klamath lake. Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hedlund, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Richter, Lucile Hedlund, Junior Richter and the Mesdames Allison and Erickson of Grants Pass, Ore., were present.

Small Blaze Creates Much Excitement

The fire department was called out at 10 o'clock last night to the York Cafe, opposite the postoffice on Main street, to extinguish a fire which broke out between the flooring, causing a small amount of damage. Defective electric wiring is said to have caused the blaze.

The fire department arrived promptly on the scene and quickly settled the blaze, but there was much excitement and many funny scenes prior to their arrival. Several guests of the house became excited and cast their belongings from windows to the sidewalk and many attired in pajamas and old-fashioned "nighties" paraded barefoot in the streets until after the excitement died down. Then scattered clothes and belongings were collected and taken back to the rooms.

Midsummer Dreams

I love the green clad summer with its dew-shot, misty morn. When the glancing sunbeams shimmer on the green blades of the corn—

When the throbbing notes of song birds steal upon the languid air, And the fragrance of the roses seem to greet one everywhere.

I ever love the noonday with its glowing, sultry heat. When the birds have ceased their singing and have sought the shade's retreat—

When the world at large is tranquil and all Nature peaceful seems, And the lonesome mind takes refuge in the castle of its dreams.

The summer time brings memories of my boyhood days long past. Those dreams that never seem to come with winter's chilling blast—

The woods and fields—the swimming hole—though boyhood joys depart, Return in dreams and always find a warm spot in my heart.

Nels Rounsvell says their age is about the only thing women attempt to conceal these days.

About all the writer knows about a Ford is a lot of naughty stories.
