DOUBLE HEADER TOMORROW P. M.

The final preparations have been made for the double header tomorrow at Modoc park between the Jewels and Copco and Plumbob and Ewauna teams.

The weather man has prophesied that old Sol will send down his warm glance to enliven the actions of the players so that no creaking of "rusted joints" will be heard nor will there be anything tolerated except speed and lots of it.

The players say the contests tomorrow, will make a decided change in the league standing for this season: Both the Copco and Plumbob teams have an opportunity to tie with the leader, the Jewel team, for first place.

Should the Jewels lose to the Copcos, then both teams would have four wins and three losses, tying for first place with the edge slightly for the Copco team who have crept from the cellar position to the leadership within the past two months—and the Copcos have gradually strengthened their team and still have an opportunity to draw on material.

Should the Plumbob team lose to the Ewaunas, then two teams are tied for the cellar position with the odds more in favor of the plumbobs who have altered their lineup to suit the situation while the Ewauna team holds to the principle outlined at the beginning of the season.

Should the Copco team lose, the Plumbobs will move into second place and should the Jewel team lose, then these two latter named teams will be tied for first place.

The players of the respective teams are aware of this possible change in the league position and all are on edge to accomplish or defeat the purpose of the other teams. All week the fans have staid up this possibility and a number of wagers of cigars and dinners have been laid on the outcome of the games tomorrow.

With this interesting situation confronting the players and the determination that all express in regard to winning, the fans will see a pair of scrappy games from start to finish. The games are set for 1 o'clock and 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon.

Another Calls on "Doc." Arens for Aid

Advertisers in the columns of the Herald may be assured of the fact that this paper is widely read and even the brief items receive close attention by the public.

As evidence, should anyone care to inquire, ask Lew Arens whether he has had calls for "dental operations" since his performance the other day with a Swede named Olafson. Yesterday afternoon, a man appeared at his garage again and asked for "Doc Arens" stating that he wanted some "tooth repairs" and had heard that Arens was a skilled practitioner both from Olafson and the newspapers.

While the original story was given publicity from a humorous standpoint, the point is that even the slightest items are widely read.

Arranging for Fight, August 13

After lying dormant for almost a week, news comes that Promoter Robertson has turned the matter of securing boxers for the tournament here August 13, over to "Bob" Martin and the latter gentleman has been busy with the wires since then trying to find good material for the events.

Both Babe Blue and Sammy Gordon for the main event have been discarded as both men are to meet at Medford on August 4.

Martin stated that yesterday he was to have had wires from some of the leading boxers of Portland in regard to their appearance here but all answers were not in last night. Martin is seeking to secure the best talent possible, boxers who will put up a contest worthy of the price and on a par with the Fourth of July main event.

HANDBALL COURT HAS BITULITHIC SURFACE.

Handball enthusiasts will be pleased to learn that the court at Eighth and High streets has been resurfaced and will be ready for play by the first of the week.

The court was in use up to the end of last week when the surface became too rough for accurate play and a decision was made by the players to have a new surface laid. The surfacing was done by the Warren Construction company. This court is open to anyone desiring to try his or her skill with the ball from Monday on.

LEPER PATIENTS BREAK PAROLE

HONOLULU, T. H., June 29.—(By Mail)—Some of the patients released on parole from the leprosy investigation station and hospital at Kailih, Honolulu, have failed to report at regular intervals, as they are required to do by the terms of their parole, and the board of health of the territory has issued an ultimatum that if this continues they will be brought back to the station and their permits to live at home cancelled.

FORESTERS WILL VISIT WESTERN GRAZING LANDS

PORTLAND, July 23.—E. N. Kavanagh, in charge of Grazing in the Forest Service offices here, and Grazing Inspector C. E. Rachford, from Washington, D. C., left here on July 16, for six weeks inspection of the National Forest grazing ranges in Washington and Oregon. Their trip will take them through the cattle and sheep country of eastern Oregon and Washington, and has for its purpose gathering data on the ground regarding the actual value of the forage resources of National Forest ranges.

Mr. Rachford is making a general trip throughout the national forests of the West on a two-year study of this question of range valuation and now comes to the Pacific Northwest on a preliminary trip. The results of this whole study of range valuation of the Forest ranges has been promised to Congress by the Forester, Col. Greeley, and Mr. Kavanagh's office will be responsible for this work as far as the Oregon and Washington Forests are concerned.

Messrs. Rachford and Kavanagh will go first to the Rainier Forest, then through the Yakima Indian Reservation into the Wenatchee Forest, on to the Methow and Okanogan Valleys, to Spokane. From Spokane they will go to Pullman, Wash., to confer with men at the Washington State Agricultural College, then to Pendleton, and to the Oregon State Experiment Station at Union. From Union they will proceed to the Whitman National Forest at Baker, then south to the John Day country on the Malheur Forest, then to the Ochoco, and Dechutes Forests, probably going as far south as Lakeview. Throughout the trip will confer with representatives of the agricultural colleges of both states, with owners and agents of private range lands and representative stockmen in both states, the aim being to inspect typical ranges and to secure the advice and suggestions of interested parties. The final object, Mr. Kavanagh says, is to find the best method of determining the proper value in terms of the grazing fees of the forage resources of the national forests within the two states.

Canada Differs From U. S. Local Visitor Discovers

Dr. Fred Westerfeld has returned from the Tri-State Dental association meeting held in Vancouver, B. C., which began July 2, and ended July 16.

Dr. Westerfeld stated that living in Canada on an average was much higher than in the states and it seemed as if the prices on commodities there were the same as they were twelve months ago. American money was at a premium, ranging from 13 per cent on paper money to 15 per cent on metal currency.

Although Canada is supposed to be "wet," a permit was necessary to obtain liquor. The outsider was compelled to take 20 quarts at a time while citizens could secure two quarts.

"But you see no intoxicated men wandering around on the streets," said Dr. Westerfeld. "This is not due so much to non-indulgence but when the police capture an intoxicated man wandering around, he is haled into jail and the police judge imposes a fine of $100. This fine stands, no 'first offense' excuse being accepted."

Americans are greeted with the statements, "So you are from God's country, wish I were back there" from Americans who went over there to engage in business. Most all of them would be pleased to get back under the United States flag if they could arrange it, as they find that business and friends are scarce under any flag than Uncle Sam's. One American stated that "After all, there is only one real place to live and that is the States. When I get back there for keeps, I'll do more than respect the flag, I'll support it at all times in a firm way. I've learned what it means since I left."
