

CHINA IN NEED OF MORE R.R.'S. SAYS PRESIDENT

PEKING, June 29.—(By Mail)—President Hsu Shih-chang, discussing railways in his book recently issued, "China After the War," recites that China has 24 railway lines with a total mileage of about 7000, whereas the United States, with an area about the same as China, and with only one fourth of the population, has 266,000 miles of railway, or 60 times as much. "Many of our lines," he continues, "were at first built with foreign capital. The diversity of foreign interests has made it impossible to lay out our lines according to some comprehensive plan for the whole country. Such being the case part of the capital seems to have been invested in unimportant routes while many more important regions are without modern means of communication."

"Since the first construction of railways in China, 40 years ago, no less than $400,000,000 has been expended; yet trunk lines are found only north of the Yangtze river and east of Honan province, leaving the great plains to the south and west practically untraversed. This not only hinders the proper industrial development of the country, but it also sows the seeds of future international complications. Therefore in the interests of all concerned arrangements should be modified so as to preclude undesirable possibilities."

"In ancient China well constructed courier roads used to radiate from the metropolis to the provincial capitals and from these to other cities of the country. There were more than 60,000 miles of roads, but nowadays few of them are fit for traveling."

"The United States alone has more than 2,000,000 miles of highways. "Sometime ago the ministry of interior promulgated a set of regulations for construction of highways. The program was an ambitious one. Although it is not easy to carry it out, a good beginning will have been made if the old courier roads are reconstructed so that there will be 10,000 miles of good modern roads radiating from the national capital and another 50,000 miles radiating from the provincial capitals."

The mileage of rivers navigable by Chinese junks is over 20,000, and waterways navigable by steamers and steed launches, another 4000 or 5000.

"As to telegraph lines, we have at present not more than 40,000 miles, whereas in the United States there are 1,620,000 miles. The proportion is therefore as 1 to 40."

Maine's Perfect Baby

Christine Lyons, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyons of Portland, Me., has been adjudged the most perfect baby in Maine at a baby show in Portland.

"Such then is the industrial backwardness of China. In order to remedy the situation we need to establish a stable government, revise the taxation system, encourage technical skill and get together a larger amount of capital. Above all the people should be taught to have knowledge of international conditions, social, political and above all economical."

SHE COULD NOT ENJOY EATING

PORTLAND WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE SOON RECOVERED HER APPETITE.

"I believe I would be showing a spirit of ingratitude not to tell suffering humanity what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. Ida Johnson, of 489 E. Lincoln St., Portland, Ore. "Nearly all my life I have been extremely nervous, and seemed to grow worse all the time in spite of everything I could do. I would have severe nervous spells lasting for several days at a time when I couldn't do any work at all for I was so trembly and shaky I could hardly raise a glass of water to my mouth without spilling it. My sleep was so restless and broken I felt as tired out mornings as when I retired the night before. My appetite was so poor I couldn't enjoy a thing to eat, seemed to get no nourishment from my food, and I was certainly in frightful condition."

"I finally decided to see if Tanlac wouldn't help me some, and before I had actually finished the first bottle I had a good appetite and was enjoying everything I ate. I kept taking the medicine and gaining in strength until I have scarcely any trouble with my nerves now and sleep like a child every night. I just feel like an entirely different person, and can do all my housework with perfect ease. Tanlac is certainly a grand, good medicine."—adv.
