STANFIELD IN LETTER TALKS OF BONUS BILL

Herald Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, July 28.—Senator Stanfield is writing personally to all ex-soldiers who have been fighting for the immediate passage of the bonus bill explaining the situation and urging that the administration be given opportunity to work out its plans. In these letters Senator Stanfield says:

"That I am in favor of adjusted compensation for our soldier boys is well known.

In Favor of Bill
"The principle of adjusted compensation is sound and just, and I hope at no distant date it will be enacted into law. I shall do all I can to bring this about.

"The secretary of the treasury on April 25, 1921, made a statement to the chairman of the ways and means committee of the house and on July 3 in reply to an inquiry wrote a letter to Senator Frelinghausen in which he very forcibly brought to the attention of congress the condition of the federal treasury and the probable consequences to the country and the treasury if the obligations contemplated in the bill under consideration were added at this time.

"On the 12th instant, the president in person, delivered a strong, convincing, courageous and statesmanlike message to the senate, reciting the present outstanding federal obligations, the widespread industrial depression prevailing and the extent to which provision is being made for the disabled and dependent.

"In consideration of this he requested the senate to defer action upon the pending bill by recommending it to the committee on finance and in doing so added: 'If the suggested recommitment of this measure bore the merest suggestion of neglect or hint of national ingratitude I would not urge it.'

"In view of these presentations, the low price of farm products everywhere, idle labor in large numbers, the highest taxes in our history, huge obligations, public and private, that must be paid or refunded and also having in mind that our own beloved state of Oregon has made some provision for our soldier boys along a similar line, after very serious thought and consideration I yielded my desire to hasten the passage of this bill and deferred by judgment to the president's request.

"The administration is entitled to a fair chance to work out the great problems before it and upon which it has made remarkable progress since inauguration.

"In this I feel sure that every loyal ex-soldier will cheerfully concur, thus again placing the welfare of his country first in his affections and patiently await the time when the federal treasury will be in a safe and sound condition, the industrial agricultural and commercial interests reorganized, and the country as a whole readjusted to after-war conditions.

"I am inclosing senate document No. 48, containing the president's message, the statements of the secretary of the treasury hereinbefore referred to, a copy of senate bill 508, and the report of the committee on finance."
