

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

The "Pic" in Picnic (Being just a part of the experience we suffered a few days ago)
A picnic, boys,
Is sure swell
For those who care
To work likell.
("O, isn't this a grand day for the picnic?")
But, as for us,
We do not itch
To be dray
For food and sich ("Are you sure you've got the cheese and pickles, dear?")
They load us down
With tons of freight
And then they chirp:
"Gee, ain't this great!"
("O, don't you wish we could do this every day, hum?")
It seems just like
Each onery cusa
Goes pic-nickin'
To pick on us ("Dearies, will you get another bucket of water, please?")
On working dad
They seem to dote,
And so, of course,
We're made the goat.
("You take care of the kids, love, while I take a little swim.")
And so, for us,
We'd rather chance
Our lunch at home,
Without the ants, ("It seems funny, dear—the mosquitoes don't seem to bother ME.") And where we'll get our reg'lar pay
If we are forced To work all day?
("Daddy, when we gointa have another picnic?")

Dentist (looking into his anteroom, where a number of patients were waiting:) "Who has been waiting the longest?"
Tailor (who had called to present a bill:) "I have doctor, I delivered the clothes to you three years ago."
Sign in Store Window
"Corsets, guaranteed to fit the waist and bust."

He May Need 'em
Here is an unique and probably appropriate new item taken from a New Hampshire daily:
The church presented Dr. Spooner with a splendid car. He asks the prayers of all Christian people.

The Kiss
A kiss is a peculiar proposition.
Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it, and the old man has to buy it.
The baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl, faith; to a married woman, hope; to an old maid, charity.

A Scotchman got so dry over here he had to pin the stamps on his letters.

"How many people work in your office?"
"Oh, about half of them."

The girl next door said last night one should never put off today what one can leave off tomorrow.

In Manchester, N. H., as late as 1846, it was contrary to law to smoke in the street on the Sabbath.

Electric cables which send up signals into the air are suggested as a means of guiding airmen during foggy weather.

CARUSO LEAVES $6,000,000
NAPLES, Aug. 4.—Enrico Caruso, the celebrated tenor who died here yesterday, is reported to have left a fortune estimated at $6,000,000.

New Top Coat

The adoption and adaptation of a sport idea into the dresser fashion realm is shown in this latest Joseph importation. It is a "top coat" of gray suede with a monkey-fur collar.
Its smart lines, loose box coat effect with the perforated seams, and belt make it one of the chic fall novelties.
A large gray velvet continental hat is shown.

TAMPER FILLS SILOS FULLER

CORVALLIS, Aug. 4.—An automatic tamper used in filling silos has proved successful at the Oregon Agricultural college. The tamper is the first one used in the state. It is said to increase the capacity of silos packed in the ordinary way 50 per cent. Not only does it pack uniformly, but it increases the keeping qualities through closer packing.
The automatic tamper is made by the Cushman manufacturing company.
It works as a small steam roller which runs around on top of the ensilage as it is fed into the silo. The operator handles the tamper and the feeder at the same time, therefore cost of operation is not increased.
The capacity of the silos at O. A.
C. was swelled 33 1-3 per cent over the previous record of close tacking, according to J. C. Pollock, dairy herdsman at the college.
Oats and vetch, and barley and vetch, to the amount of 275 tons have been put into the college silos this year. All of them have been packed by the automatic tamper.
More ensilage of corn and sunflowers will be handled in September.

Make that idle dollar work! Put it in the bank.

"Load me well and keep me clean, And I'll fire a shot to Calais Green"

—Inscription on an old cannon at Dover, England

After every shot old cannons had to be cleaned.
The chemical and physical action of the priming fouled the barrel and marked it with tiny "pits."
Modern rifles also suffer from the effects of the priming. For years manufacturers have studied to reduce the effects of the priming on the barrel. And now a new, wonderful priming has been developed in the U. S. laboratories.

rifle to a remarkable degree.
The rifle is easier to clean.
It is more accurate, because a barrel worn or pitted by ordinary priming loses in accuracy. The slightest effect in the barrel is multiplied by the distance the bullet travels.

Be good to your rifle.
