No Boxing Bouts Here on Labor Day

No Labor Day bouts will be held here on September 5 this year as the promotion of the Labor Day contests has been given up by "Bob" Robertson. This announcement was made yesterday when asked by a reporter if there were any new developments.

Robertson's answer was somewhat abrupt for he stated, "You know what the old nigger bootlegger said to the judge in court when haled up for selling booze: "Jedge, thair ain't no money in that game these days, no sir-e-e. Jedge. Thair is an awful demand but competition is simply fierce, yes sir-e-so I guess I'll just give it up before the sherriff gets me."

"Bob" says that conditions for the present are such that a bout here on Labor Day would not materialize nor pay promotion expenses.

Gone Forever Is Caruso

The Giver of All Good and Perfect Gifts also taketh away. No more will the opera-goer look upon the heroic figure, clad in knightly armor and plighting a love in the wonderful Caruso tenor cantabile.

Yet the Almighty has not removed that VOICE. It has been preserved for us—yes, for our children's grandchildren it will LIVE—in the Victrola Records.

Let us be grateful that the art of this greatest of twentieth century Tenors has been preserved for all time; and that the same Enrico Caruso can be heard in the Shepherd Store or at our homes—the same clear, notable tenor—even tho' he himself has gone from us forever.
