OVER THOUSAND APPLICATIONS

(Herald Salem Bureau.)
 Vernon E. Ross of Portland, who was with the medical department of the spruce division, is the ex-service man whose application under the state bonus and loan act will be the first considered by the aid commission. In a drawing September 6, Governor Olcott pulled out the first application by a random choice from a stack of them on the desk of the commission secretary, and it was Ross' application. The first thirteen were drawn in this manner. All others will be considered in the order of their filing. More than 1000 have been received.

The airplane forest patrol in Oregon has been discontinued. Several airplanes will be reserved at the Eugene station, however, to use if the weather again becomes favorable to fliers.

Fire losses in Oregon outside of Portland for the month of July aggregated $318,859, according to A. C. Barber, state insurance commissioner. The total number of fires was fifty-nine.

A total of $21,648.71 was declared escheated to the state on July 1, according to a report of the secretary of state. This money is on deposit in ninety-one of the state's 237 banks and will be turned over to the common school fund in the office of the state treasurer as soon as demand is made by the attorney general. The money represents unclaimed commercial and savings deposits in the banks, the commercial deposits having lain unclaimed for seven years and the savings deposits twelve years, the time limit allowed by law.

Although the deer may have been killed by another person, any person found in possession of an untagged deer is liable to the penalty of the law, according to an opinion of the attorney general.

Justice Charles A. Johns of the Oregon supreme court, who has been appointed by President Harding as associate justice of the supreme court for the Philippine Islands, will sail for Manila from San Francisco on the steamship Hoosier State October 12. He will leave Oregon October 5.

Oregon leads among nine Western states in the increase in the number of motor vehicle licenses, says Secretary of State Koser. The pine states are Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

A truck belonging to the state penitentiary was among those stopped recently by T. A. Raffety, chief state traffic inspector, and compelled to throw off part of its load and to comply with the state law relative to overloading. Trucks belonging to Marion county and the city of Portland also have been stopped recently.

C. M. Sims, of Heppener, has been appointed state bank examiner, to succeed O. B. Robertson, of Condon, resigned. The appointment was made by Frank C. Bramwell, state superintendent of banks.

SLAYER OF AUTO SALESMEN HAD NO HELP, HE DECLARES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Harvey W. Church, confessed slayer of Bernard Daugherty and Carl Ausmus, automobile salesman today, in district attorney's office, faced his mother for the first time since his arrest. He reiterated that he committed the murder without any assistance.

N. Y. HOUSING SITUATION IS NEARING CRISIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The housing situation in New York, which has been a chronic and economic illness with special complications since 1917, is expected to reach its annual crisis October 1.

That is the date on which thousands are in the habit of packing up the furniture and moving.

If many folk are compelled to move this year, authorities fear that lots of them will be like the person who didn't know where he was going but was on his way. Prospects were similarly cheerless last year until the legislature enacted laws that enabled thousands of renters to stick with the old apartment in spite of landlords and high rentals.

These laws, which have resulted in much additional work for attorneys and magistrates, provided the landlords could not recover their property by dispossessing tenants except for one of four reasons. One of these was that the person holding on to his apartment was objectionable. That always was a recognized excuse for ejection and not infrequently tenants seemed unable to break themselves of the habit of being objectionable every time an outsider offered their landlord more rent than they were willing to pay. But under the new laws it is up to the judge, not the landlord, to decide whether a tenant is objectionable.

The only other recognized reasons for ejecting tenants are for the landlord to want the property for immediate occupancy by himself or family, to demolish the building to make way for a new structure, or to turn over the apartment to a person who owns it under the co-operative system. If the tenant refuses to pay a rent increase, he isn't dispossessed, he goes to court and the judge declines what the price shall be. Great numbers of leases expire on September 30, and landlords have sent out sacks of notices to vacate. In some instances, they already have signed contracts with other tenants effective October 1, but this year the contracts do not guarantee delivery of the property on that day. For the tenants, protected by new legislation, are not expected to give up without a struggle. Many of them are sure to take the matter to court or to the Mayor's committee on Rent Profitteering. This committee has heard 45,000 wrangles over homes and has arbitrated 13,000 landlord-tenant squabbles. Still the warnings it has sent out of the impending crisis bear a cheerful, optimistic tone.

Almost everybody here seems interested in the housing situation for nearly all New York is divided into three classes—landlords, tenants and those who sleep in the parks.

Many in the great army of rent-payers believe they see better housing conditions in the near future because of the spurt that construction work has taken since the recent passage of an ordinance exempting dwellings and tenements planned this year from taxation over a 1-year period.

Since February 25, when the ordinance passed, plans for 12,389 one and two-family dwelling houses and 737 apartment house or tenement structures have been filed by prospective builders in the greater city. In the same period last year the plans filed embraced 5,164 dwelling projects and 75 tenement house plans were recorded.

In 1920 not a single dwelling was added in Manhattan. For three years prior to the tax exemption ordinance not a tenement had been erected in Queensborough.

There are many who believe that all new construction will not help matters much. It will take many times this number of houses to comfortably shelter the overcrowded millions in New York, they believe. And the city continues to grow every day.

OREGONIANS PAY INCOME TAXES

PORTLAND, Sept. 15.—Federal personal income tax returns filed in Oregon in 1919 reached a total of 49,663, which was .93 per cent of the entire number filed in the United States. The total net income reported by these returns was $166,240,606, while the tax paid on them was $8,232,437, which was .65 per cent of the total personal income tax paid in the entire country.

In the nation at large 5.03 per cent of the people filed personal income tax returns, while in Oregon, 6.34 per cent filed them.

The average net income per return:

Year	No. of Returns	Net Income	Total Tax
1918	2,800	$ 24,962,572	$ 337,051
1917	35,071	$4,746,023	3,298,630
1916	34,592	11,601,050	6,049,937
1919	49,663	166,240,606	8,232,437

turn for the United States was $3,724.95, and in Oregon it was $3,347.37. The personal income tax per capita for the United States amounted to $11.98, and in Oregon it was $10.51. The average amount of the personal income tax per return in the United States was $238.08, in Oregon it was $165.77.

Oregon's position in the order of magnitude as to all the states and territories in the Union, in the per cent of population filing returns was 17th, and 29th in the average net income per return. Its position as to per capita income tax was 13th and 20th in the average amount of tax per return.

The number of personal income tax returns filed for the years 1916, 1917, 1918, and 1919 in Oregon, as well as the amounts of net income and tax are shown in the following table:

Year	No. of Returns	Net Income	Total Tax
1918	2,800	$ 24,962,572	$ 337,051
1917	35,071	$4,746,023	3,298,630
1916	34,592	11,601,050	6,049,937
1919	49,663	166,240,606	8,232,437

Temperament Not Confined to Actors

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 15.—The reason why water from a new reservoir is always distasteful at first is because micro-organisms in the water are "showing off" their temperaments, City Biologist Carl Wilson declared here recently in a public address.

Micro-organisms, he explained, are the diminutive animal and plant forms that exist in water and give it life. When they find themselves in a new reservoir, they fret and get moody and temperamental in their new surroundings. The water tastes well when the organisms feel at home, according to Wilson.
